A N 4224.0.10.

ANTIDOTE

AGAINST

ARIANISM:

BEING

A Short Exposition of that Part of the Athanasian Creed which relates to the TRINITY.

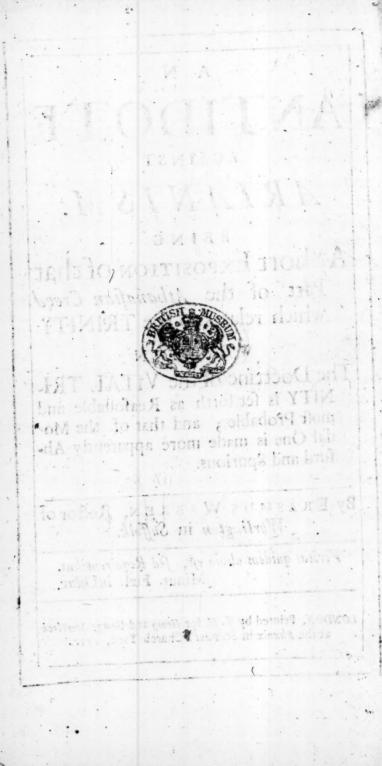

WHEREIN

The Doctrine of the VITAL TRI-NITY is fet forth as Reasonable and most Probable; and that of the Modal One is made more apparently Abfurd and Spurious.

By ERASMUS WARREN, Rector of Worlington in Suffolk.

Veritas quidem obvia est, sed Requirentibus. Minut. Fæl. in Octav.

LONDON, Printed by J. H. for Henry and George Mortlock at the Phonix in St. Paul's Church-Yard, 1712.

THE

PREFACE.

A Sthe Great GOD, Three in One, is the Highest Being in all the World; so they that undertake to explicate it, should do it (so far as may be) agreeably to it self. But if instead of that they write unsutably, and in a way so disparaging as rather to Libel the DEITY than duly Characterize it; surely their Brooms (disgracefull to the ALMIGHIY) ought to be discovered and consuted; and the Glorious GODHEAD more worthily exhibited.

When therefore I had seriously considered the Adorable TRINITY, and what the Best Writers have deliver'd concerning it; and found their Notions of it so very incongruous to its infinite Excellency: as I thought it my Duty to find out (if I could) a nobler and clearer way of explaining it; so accordingly for a while I made it my chief Study.

1 2

And thus it appears that it was no slight Motive which inclined and induced me to the High Undertaking. For it was no less than to vindicate GOD Himself from unspeakable Wrongs done Him, by intolerable accounts given of His MAJESTY; highly reproachfull both to Himself, and true Religion. Which as they came into the Church at first thro' Ignorance, Unwariness, and Inconsideration; so there they have been maintain'd and unhappily propagated ever fince by Custom and Inadvertency.

And truly where vain Doctrines and wild Opinions have been openly introduc'd, generally received, and fo long continued as to get good footing; we need not wonder that Men foould be tenacious of them, and willing to retain them. For when Opinion grows too strong for Reason, and so far gets the ascendent of it, as to baffle and overcome it; it can easily beat it down: and when it has done, not only keep it under, but also inflave it to capricious Whimfies. Especially where specious Phansies have gain'd upon those in reputation for Learning, and have been countenanc'd, cares'd, and all along kindly entertain d by such. Which indeed is the true, tho deplorable Case to this very day, even as to the Doctrine of the HOLT TRINITY. For have not the Learned, the most Learned of all presented us with strange, and unaccountable, as well as unallowable De-Scripfcriptions of it? Such as to the intelligent that throly scan them, will be found to consist neither with solid Reason, nor sound and good Sense; and not only to be short of truth, but contrary to it. So that to a great deal written of the Blessed TRIAD even by Learned Pens, I may too sitly apply (a) Hermias his Expression. All is but darkness of Ignorance, and black mistake, and infinite error, and imperfect thought, and incomprehensible soolishness. For I must call black, black, especi-olly in so weighty a case as this.

It was an high Charge, tho a most improper ane, that Festus gave St. Paul at Cæsarea; Thou art beside thy self, much Learning doth make thee mad. And tho' I do not apply it to our noted Writers upon the Sacred TRIAD; yet I'm sit to impute their Mistakes concerning it unto Learning. Not to true substantial Learning (the noblest Civil Accomplishment in the World;) but to that insipid, stally sort of it which shourisht amongst the Men of the Schools; and contributed too much to corrupting Religion. For they having an exorbitant esteem and admiration for the Peripatetick Principles, and overvaluing that light sort of Knowledge; they drew down Metaphysicks, and the airy Notions of that empty

Phi-

⁽¹⁾ Σκότ Θ αγνοίας, άπαντα, ε άπατη μέλαι α, άπατ εΘ πλάνη, ε άτελης φαντασία, ε άκατάλη πτος άγνοια. În Irrif. Gentil. Philos.

Philosophy into their Theological Systems too freely. And by this means in part their Divinity was debased. So debased as to influence Religion, and at such a Rate, as to sink it too much; even so low in several Points as te make it very flat and degenerate.

Have we not evident Proofs of it? For notorious it is, that the main Article of Faith, a TRINITY in UNITY: and a chief Duty of Holy Practice, the Sacrament of the LORD's Supper: were thus most wretchedly depraved. Not only tinctur'd, but grievously tainted, (in a speculative sense) with gross Absurdities. The First in reference to its Docarine; the Second as to vain and wild Opinions touching the Matter, or Elements of the Ordinance. And concerning Both, such things have been taught, and vehemently as well as openly urged; as are no more to be liev'd than the very Alcoran.

Which things when I often deeply and maturely consider d, I was still more and more overwhelm'd with amazement, and so much instant d with just indignation; that I could not rest till I had sinisht what is here contain d.

It is grounded upon a Piece of valuable Antiquity, the Athanasian Creed; which expresses the HOLY TRINITY in the most proper Terms; that ever any thing did in so narrow a compass. The whether it was composed by that great Author or no, I shall not determine, because because in Modesty I cannot do it; our incomparable Church declaring her self diffident in that matter. For in the Title of it she stiles it, the Confession of our Christian Faith, commonly called the Creed of St. Athanalius. And by owning it is commonly fo call'd, she shews her self doubtfull whether it were really His. But be it that Saints or not, it speaks most appositly of the TRINITY. I mean, as it pronounces it to be Three PER ONS in One ESSENCE. To which add but the words following, The FATHER is made of none, neither created, nor begotten; The SON is of the FATHER alone, not made, nor created, but begotten; The HOLY GHOST is of the FATHER, and of the SON, neither made, nor created, nor begotten, but proceeding: And then perhaps these four short but pithy Periods in this Creed; will make out the GODHE AD's Personal Triplicity in Essential Unity, as well and fully as all Writers upon that Sacred Subject have done, in all their best Books, and most elaborate Treatifes of it. And was not be a sagacious Writer that in way of Anticipation could præepitomize, or abridge so very many Volumes, in so very few Sentences, and so short ones ?

But because to explain the HOLY TRIAD competently, by that Hypothesis which this Symbol has been presumed to go upon, or by any other yet extant, is impossible, and so another must be found out if we would more

A 4

clearly

clearly understand it, as 'tis fit we should: why may not the AJCAL Due be it? Let anp therefore please to thew how, or by what way, the CRIVITOP confissing of Three Diflint PERSDAS, in One Divine ES SERCE, can be better raised than by THAT. The Request is made to the Pions and Learned with all possible Earnestness, and as humble Deference. And how extremely joyfull and thankfull should I be, to see it well answer'd? But till that is done. I shall be ready to insift upon this Demand. What is there in the most Glorious TRINITY. which the CATCAL Scheme does not more fully contain, and will not more fairly explicate; than any other yet recommended ?

It is too well known how lasting and various Controversies have been about the Blessed TRIAD; and withal how very unhappy. For instead of Satisfaction resulting from advance in farther knowledge of it by high Disputes 3 the common Issue of them was usually unkind, or uncharitable Feuds. And if ever Scholastick Strifes, ar Concertations touching it cease, and be brought to a wished Period; in likelihood it must be by a clearer insight into the Nature of its Constitution. To help towards which, I have publish this Tract as having hope thereby of rendring it still more easy to be understood.

6 JU 62

coon theore

As to what is here deliver'd, I have made it as familiat as the lofty Subject could well bear; thinking the more would better understand it, to GOD's Honour, and their own advantage: the Ends that I all along have aimed at, and to which that labour'd plainness of Style can be no hindrance, which I here use.

And now I make it my most humble and importunate Petition to The ALMIGHTY; that whatever I have written of this kind, may prosper no farther than it is Orthodox. And if any thing in it is opposite to Truth, or has the least tendency that way; may it be immediately and eternally blasted.

But after that Petition to the Great GOD, let me add this Request to eminently Good and Learned Men. In case my Essay upon the HOLY TRINITY comes into their Hands; let them not slight it because it is mine: nor suffer the meanness of the Writer to render what's written the more contemptible. That adorable GOD and SAVIOUR of ours, who appointed poor Fisher-men to reveal his most high and heavenly Truths; why should He not inable the least of his Ministers to elucidate and clear up this important Article, so much mistaken, and so long obscur'd?

Nor let the Work be despis'd as vain and needless. It is as necessary as it is to maintain GOD's essential Honour; or the Honour of his Glorious Being and Nature. For by the Hypothesis I am against, His transcendent Glories are strangely disgrac'd, tho' not destroy'd; as being shrunk up into Shadows, if not shrivell'd to Nothing. Nor is this the worft. For the bold Notionists that treat GOD so rudely, proceed farther, and are still more injurious to His MAJESTY. They attaque His PERSONS. as well as His Glories: and the they are boundless LIFES in his Blessed ESSENCE: they unhappily abuse those adorable Hypostases by intolerable Disparagements. For suppose Men of wit and learning should think and far, declare and affirm, print and publish, and with all their Might maintain; that the DIVINE PERSONS are chips, or straws; or trifles, or shadows: would they not thus, insufferably disparage and avile Them? And pray, what do they do less, who averr them to be Bodes of Subiffence? Put Straws, and Modes into the Balance, or bring them to the Touch stone of a found Judgment; and they'll be found of equal Weight and Worth: or if either exceed in levity, or baseness; it must be Modes. But then can be bevain in his Attempt, who defends GOD's Honour in this highest Point, and against so bainous an Affront?

Especially if we consider what pernicious Consequence the Doctrine of Modes here, may be of. For suppose, we were upon the great work of converting Infidels, and that good success had fitted many for Baptism. Then should some of those be so acute and penetrative (which many Unbelievers are) as to enter into deep dispute

£

e

5

r

y ø

0

f

f

t ls

d

15 k

d

6

P

dispute about FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, in whose Names Baptism must be administred; and should drive things fo far, as to find at last that They are trivial Modes: what may we presume would then be the Issue? Why, in all likelihood, they would contemn us Christians for our Religion; and then scorn our Religion upon GOD's account. And withal bow would they ridicule us for, and upbraid us with our Devotions too? For by finding them directed to Modes, they would soon perceive the Objects of our Worship to be inferior to, and much worse than those of theirs; from which we would divert and draw them as unlawfull. For while we call and count them. rank Idolaters for adoring Images, tho' perhaps Golden Substances: what will they reckon us, when they understand we address to Modes, which to their Idols are but meer Shadows; and much sorrier things for Christians to prostrate to, and invocate by solemn Supplications? Especially when they seek to proselyte Heathens, and bring them over to their own Religion, because it is more sublime and pure. And then Heathens have this advantage of us. They may alledge, that they do not worship the bare Images, but the true GOD by and thro them, whom they represent. But the very Modes which Christians adore are the very Divine PERSONS themselves; and consequently their Worship must terminate in the same : and they have no plea or apology to make for them-themselves. So that let Ethnicks into a clear knowledge of the Modal Persons in the TRIAD; and doubtless they would despise, deride, and desy those highest Objects of our Adoration; and us as silly Worshippers of them, and more gross Idolaters than themselves. And truly I cannot forbear to say, that the Doctrine of wise Heathens touching the TRINITY, far surmounts ours; as to what School Doctors make its PERSONS to be, in their Mountebank Divinity.

As the SON of Sirach Solemnly tells us, there is a Word that is cloathed about with Death, Ecclus. 23. 12. And is not that Word too much of this kind, whereby the mention'd Writers express the FATHER, SON, and HOLYGHOST? For 'tis such in short. as finks down their superlative Excellencies so low in signification as to swallow them up in implicit Blasphemy; while they pronounce, and proclaim them, Dones. Strange to think! that the Glorious Three should be so degraded, as to be openly call'd by no fitter Name; and generally to be counted no better things. If therefore that Word carries not Death along with it, it must be owing to that tender Pity which dwells in those, who by it are denominated and disparag'd. For it surely contains such vast difrespect and irreverence to, and such vile debasement, and diminution of their infinite MATESTIES; that many who are thro'ly Good and Wise would rather chuse to die, die, than profess Them to be what that speaks Them. " And tho' I could heartily wish it had been otherwise, yet own I must, that as some ancient Fathers feem to lean that way; fo generally Modern Authors of greatest Learning and Worth, have unhappily flpt into the School-Mistakes; and have lessen'd themfelves by adhering too close to their clumsie Per-Swafion.

But this I must note in deserved Praise of our Peerless Church (the purest upon Earth and the more pure for that : I hat she never gave direct authoritative Countenance, to this vain and extravagant Doctrine of the TRINI-TY; either by Her Articles, Comilies, or Canons. In none of which the least mention, or intimation of it is to be found. Nor is it fit it should, the happy that it is not.

5

1

l

ifigural

For as GOD is the Highest, and most Glorious Being in the World, so our Ideas of Him should be sublime and sutable: and when we attempt to describe his Nature, as we should do it with profoundest Reverence, so likewise in the aptest Language. Tho neither so is it easy, nor indeed possible fully to set forth His MA-JESTY. For even best Elucation must here fall short, extremely short of due Expression. Were our Breath a Stream of purest Oratory, and could it flow in Torrents of Eloquence, digefted into finest elaborate Composures to set forth the Glories of the DEITY: instead of justly re-Rue presenting, they would only Eclipse and darken them. For so inestably transcendent are they, that for any of us to strive to illustrate them, would be but to cloud and obscure their Brightness. For in truth, it is not in the power of Words to do GOD Right. Such is His superlative Dignity, that in their highest sense, and most dilated signification, they are too low and scant to reach it. So that when we offer verbally to extell the ALMIGHTY, we do but depress Him; and while our stammering Tongues intend his Praise; in strictness they rather speak to His Prejudice.

Nay, even Things themselves are here as short and insufficient as Words. For make every Creature in the World a Letter, and then put the entire Creation together, yet still we should mant a better Alphabet whereby to speak His Greatness.

But then when his Nature's so Incomprehensible, that little can be said in terms adequate to it; who shall apologize for the Modal Hypothesis of the TRINITY; and the monstrous folly and temerity of it: which makes the insinitely Glorious PERSONS there, no better than three sorry Modes? Excuse this perfectly nothing can; but surely the best way to Extenuate it, must be to think and say, it was a Sitt of Ignozante. Which, son the suture, may the Father of Lights graciously dispell by a brighter Knowledge.

n

-

f

-

d

d

-

et

g

y

)

S

ie

d

11 0

2-

te

4

35

6-

172

9-

1-

M

3

4

ut

But then farely it is incumbent upon us too to do our best here, to dissipate this unbappy Ignorance; and to clear up and increase our deficient knowledge, as soon and as much as we are able. And when in this case we have done our utmost, if then the best representation we can make of the TRINITY, be not so exactly true, as to be every way answerable to its gloriour Self; yet were it so fairly drawn, as landably to come up to it in all decent measures. and made fo clear, as no just and considerable Exceptions could by the Judicious be brought against it : such a Description of it would be at once most usefult and necessary. For it would contribute much to GOD's Honour, to His Church's Credit, to the Ease of Good Christians, and to the Discouragement of Hereticks.

the tomport with his infinite Goodness, or consist with his infinite Wisdom, and so conduce to his Honour and Glory; to make the main Article of saving Faith to Christians, so puzling and intricate: as that none of them yet could ever throlly understand it themselves, or explain it competently unto others? Nay, which is far worse, and so dishonouring to GOD as not to be endured; were Christians required to believe the IRINITY according to the common Notion, or standing Model of it, in order to their suppossible, to a rank Contradiction, and to a notorious Lye, to obtain Salvation: even that three meer Modes are three DIVINE PER-SONS, and so every one of them GOD most truly.

2/y. It maintains the Church's Credit. For to believe and teach a VITAL TRIAD. highly agreeable to GOD's DIVINE Nature. and to humane Reason; is a noble and becoming work, and fit to be done by the most holy and venerable Community. But for the Body of Christians to recommend unintelligible things. and to impose them on its Members; and to induce People to Swallow them, to tell them they are profound Mysteries, when they are perfect Non-fense; what can be more infamous and dispanaging? They that act in such a Scene, mbile they would teach others to fee, do only proclaim their own Ignorance and Blindness.

3/y, It makes good Christians eafy. How many Books have been written, and bow many Disputes held about the TRINITY in UNITY? And what Heats have these rais'd, and what Persecutions too? To say nothing of those Dife quietments and Distractions of Mind, which good People have suffer'd in'relation to that Art ticle. But the Doctrine of a VITAL TRINI-TY, throws out the Troubles which that of the Modal one occasion'd by throwing off the Difficulties which it contained.

Laftly, It Discourages Hereticks. When the Doctrine of the Modal TRIAD was somecessary to be believ d. and yet impossible to be rationally understood; this gave countenance ft

t.

9,

e,

1-

1,

ly

s,

2-ey

a

d

e, ly

•

w

23

at

F

ch

*+

1-

be

6

25

272

e-

be

ce

to

vented extravagant figments, and urg'd them upon People as Orthodox Truths; and they refus'd to receive, because they could not understand them: they were ready to repell that answer with this suggestion: that they they did not understand the Doctrine of the TRINITY, yet they did believe it. But they that believe the VITAL TRIAD; can't be pinch'd with such an Allegation. A good advantage on its side, that it discourages the Heterodox more than the Modal one.

And when a fair Account, and plausible Description of it (tho not strictly genuine and nuthentick) would be thus serviceable to GOD and Men at once, we may reasonably conclude (that from the need we have of it, and from the Ends and Interests which would be favour'd and forwarded by it;) that it is somewhere to be had. And the Doctrine of it being supernatural, it must be found in the sacred Scripture. There therefore I have been,

and still am most humbly seeking for it.

and here I take leave to declare plainly, what I proposed to my felf in writing thus upon this glorious Subject. It was to work on Pens Dinos, by informing their Judgments: and by enlightning their Anderstandings with clearer knowledge of DD, to inflame their Affections towards Pim, as well as mine own. For the more fully we understand the TRINITY of PERSONS, in the the Unity of the Divine Essence; The more, without Question, we shall improve our Zeal in the Love and Service of the DEITY.

Indeed, ignoti nulla Cupido, is a Saying as true, as it is common; what we do not know, we cannot love. And consequently the less we know a thing, the less we must affect it the never so incomparable. Look to a choice Friend, and the more Worth we discover in him, the more Love we shall have for him, and the more we shall value and admire him. And is it not, and must it not be so as to GOD Himself? The more Excellencies we discern or perceive in his Being, the more fervent Love we shall have for His MAJESTY, and the more vehement and slaming Desires after Him. And when once we burn with such Fervours to Him, when shall we think that we can ever serve or obey Him enough?

But then GOD's Nature consisting of Three PERSONS and One Essence, there must be a wast and inconceivable Difference between PERSONS that are LIFES, and PERSONS that are MODES: no less in truth, than there is between thinnest Shadows, and infinitely perfect Divine Subsistences. And so the attradive power to Duty in the one, must be infinitely superior in force and prevalence to those in the other. And consequently the knowledge of the VITAL PERSONS must be infinitely preservable to that of the MODAL Ones; as being infinitely more influential and operative to the highest good and greatest Ends and Purposes. Especially to induce us to Love GOD with Ardency, and to Serve Him with indefatigable and zealous Perseverance in all religious Duties.

And truly who would not chuse to Love, and love to Serve three Living Hypostases, or LIFES Divine, containing all manner of infinite Persections, and warranted in Scripture; rather than three sictitious Modes, wild Inventions of the Phanssfull? And the much has been written in defence and maintenance of the supposed Modes; yet were it worth the while, more Volumes might be fill'd with the shamefull Absurdities, which attend that weak, and wild, and wretched Hypothesis.

In a word; some having doubted a TRINI-TT, and others having deny'd it, and others having thought strangely of, and entertain'd very uncouth Notions concerning it; the better to inform their Judgment's touching it, and to inslame their Affections, and raise their Devotions towards it: I have here endeavour'd to offer a more proper and clear; and would gladly say, a true and genuine Account, or Explication of the Same.

is

ly

a

o-

re

as

we

r.

es

th

nk

ee

e a

en VS

ere

ely

rate-

in of

ely

ive

10

And because my Hypothesis goes upon Lifes, I shall take a transient the general view of the Lifes; wherewith the Creatures in this World of ours, are respectively induit and actuated. And as I go along shall make such Observations, as in Reason and Philosophy may yield a good

a 2

good Basis, whereon to raise an agreeable Scheme of the most Glorious TRIAD.

- And first I note, that in fundry forts of Creatures there are several kinds of Life.

Thus for instance, even in Stones, (to say nothing of Metals, or other Fossils) there is Life. According to which they grow, and ripen, till they come to such perfection as to be usefull in their kinds.

There is Life also in Grass, and Weeds. whereby they spring and thrive; and yield re-Spective Seeds for Propagation; and so become common Food for Animals that are not carnivorous, and feed not upon Grain, Flies, &c.

There is Life in Herbs and Flowers likewife; by which they put forth and flourish. And as many of them are good for Food or Physick; so others entertain us with inimitable Colours, and finest Beauties; perfume the Air with pleasing Odours; and refresh us with delicious Fragrancies.

There is Life moreover in Plants. As in Timber Trees, Fruit-Trees, &c; which are of great and various Use and Benefit, in themselves, and in their products. But then the Life which invigorates all these foregoing things, is of the lowest Quality. For it lifts them up no higher than Accretion, or Growth; and to their proper and Specifick Frudificati. ons. And so at best it can be but Vegetative Life.

Next there is Life in Brutes, which comes nearer to our own. For by virtue of it they do not only wax till they come to a just Height and Magnitude; and move and generate their respective Kinds; but moreover they See, and Hear, and Feel, and Taste, and Smell; and so have as many Senses (and divers of them quicker ones) than our selves. And from many of them we receive much Benefit, in way of helpfull Service (as well as Sustenance) because their Life is Sensitive.

But then in the last place (to come home to our selves) in Mankind there is a Rational Life, which sets us much above the Brutal Rank. For by that Reason which our Life contains (besides the exercise of our Senses) we Think, and Understand, and Discourse, and Remember, &c. which no Creatures below us can do.

Nay, by virtue of the Rational Life we have the honour of being Persons; which only intelligent Life can advance us to, and adorn and innoble us with. And therefore a Person by the Learned is agreed to be Yourd meron vorgon, an Intellectual or Understanding Subsidence.

And which is more, this rational and intelligent Life qualifies us for the Divine one, as it capacitates us to receive the divine Virtues and influences of Heaven; and to hold communion with GOD. But then if rational Life be so exalting as to lift up our Beings into Per-

13

for xt

Cay

15 ri-

ds.

re-

me

rise;

as

So

rs, ith

NS

in

are

m-

the

ng

fts

:b;

ti.

ve

sons; from thence we may conclude, that the Three infinite Lifes in the DEIIY, must be Three infinite PERSONS, by reason of that infinite Reason or Understanding which they do possess. Yet at the same time this teaches us clearly why every Man is but one Person, tho be has three Lifes; even because but one of them is rational.

Should any object that every Man has a Soul, as well as a Life, and so he may better be a Person, than there can be any in the GODHEAD: I answer. GOD has a SOUL too, and has openly declar'd as much. Your appointed feasts my Soul hateth, Isai. 1. 14. Mine bledt in whom my Soul delighteth, Chap. 42. 1. My Beloved in whom my Soul is well pleased, S Mat. 12, 18. Now what is GOD's Soul but his Spirit, or Essence, which being actuated by every one of the Diwine LIFES, is as a particular Soul to each of them. And then why should not three Divine LIFES in GOD (which are above Rational ones) be three Divine PERSONS in his SOUL; as well as one Reasonable LIFE in Man's Soul, should make him one humane Person ?

And to GOD if we lift up our serious and amfull Iboughts; we shall find that in him is Life too, and that to utmost Persection. And therefore as in Scripture he is often said to be the LIVING GOD; so his Title in 1 Tim. 6.

16. is, O wir & Exwr adavagian; Who alone

be

be

at

ey

118

60'

of

er

be

L

ur

I.

at-

ny

ow

ce,

Di-

ich

Di-

io-

bis

E

ne

nd

is

nd

be

6.

2-

nę

lone hath Immortality. That is naturally Essentially, and in the most singular way, and superlative measure; or rather infinitely, and so unmeasurably. Which adorable Life of His were I to describe: at present I should most humbly do it thus. It is the Dighest and Moblest infinite Excellency, of Perfection, in DDD's Mature of Being; upon which as all his Intellective and Active Powers do beyond, so from it they seem to issue of proceed. To render this the more intelligible, I go on to observe,

Quality of the Lifes in any Beings, such are the Excellencies, or Perfections in their Natures. And then whence can those Powers and innate Perfections flow but from their respective Lifes? And consequently the lower or higher their several Lifes are, their Excellencies and Perfections will and must correspond to the same. And does it not plainly appear so to be from the sundry Lifes now instanced in?

Thus, Stones, and all Fossils; Grass, and all Weeds; Herbs, and all Flowers; Plants, and all Trees; having only Vegetative Life; Their highest Excellency is but to increase, or grow on to their appointed Pitch; and to yield their proper various Products.

Brutes indu'd with Sensitive Life, at their part in sutable Scenes. That is, they eat, and drink, and sleep, and breed, and do some few a 4 things things as they are taught: but in nothing can they rise above their Rank, and the low degree of Animal Life.

Tho' Men being impregnated with Rational Life, they excell as much in noble Faculties 3 and by using them wisely may exert and signalize themselves in truly great and worthy Atchievements. For they may rise high not only in Mechanick Arts, and the Liberal Sciences 3 but in the much more valuable Excellencies of Morality and Religion. Which will surely crown the eminent in them, not only with true Honour, but with heavenly Bliss, and immortal Glories.

But to carry on the Vital Account I am giving, in true measures and just or adequate proportions to its beight; I must add, That GOD baving a natural, necessary, and infinitely perfeet Life; that must naturally be attended with as Infinite Excellencies in his Nature: and fo it is. And therefore all who confess He is the ever-living GOD; own that in him there is infinite Goodness, and the like Mercy, Love, Holines, Juffice, Truth, Wisdom, Power, &c. But then from whence should thefe come but from his Life ? For as all the little Perfections in Creatures, rife from their respective Lifes, and answer to the Qualities, and Degrees of them; so why should not all infinite Excellensies in GOD Himself, flow from his Life too, it being infinitely Perfect? For when low and mean Lifes, can yield Perfections answerable to them?

ee

al

23

1-12

3

of ly

He.

r

0-

0-

D

rth

So

10

is 10, c. ut

;-

:5,

of 11-

00, ed

10

10

should not infinitely Perfect Divine Excellencies result from as infinitely Perfect and Divine Lifes? And then how easy would it be to form a Fair Idea of the Life of GOD? I mean, by conceiving it to be a sublimer Excellency than the rest of his Perfections, the Sourse, or Fountain of them all, and that which supports them every one, and continues them in an active State. For could the Life of GOD expire, they must instantly sink down into an eternally dead Quiescence; as being as unable to subsist in GOD without Life, as He would be unable to Sustain and Exercise them.

But Life in this World being every where, and in all Kinds of it so spritely and energetick, as to propagate it self by innate vigour which prompts it thereunto; why should we not suppose that Divine Life in the DEITY may do the same ? Here therefore I drop this Third Note as very probable. That the Divine, Infinite, and most Sovereign Life in the GOD-HEAD, is prolifick or propagative of it felf. And why should it not be so all things considered? Particularly when boly Scripture plainly authorizes us to think fo, and is ready to confirm and authenticate that thought ? For when the FATHER expresty declares, S. Joh. 5. 26. that as He hath Life in himself, so He hath given to the SON to have Life in himself; and when over and over He proclaims him to be be bis Son, and his Begotten Son, and the only Begotten of the FATHER, and his first Begotten: what does be less than assure us, that DIVINE LIFE in Himself is as Propagative in its own most Glorious way, as other Lifes are?

And when the same GOD the FATHER is pleas'd to inform us farther, that the HOLY GHOST proceedeth from Himfelf, St John 15. 26, and fignifies that He does the same from bis SON too, by calling Him the SPIRIT of his Son, Gal. 4. 6; and the SPIRIT of JESUS CHRIST, Phil, 1.19; and the SPI-AIT of CHRIST 1 S. Pet. 1.11: what withis his Procession from both, but a kind of divine Propagation found peculiarly in the GOD-HEAD again, and most gloriously agreeable to it? So that in I ruth the Vegetative, Sensitive, and Rational Lifes, according to their Several kinds, are not more naturally and really propagated and transmitted to Plants. Brutes, and Mon stban Divine Life is deriv'd from one Subfiftence to another in the ever Blef. fed DEITY which is above. Which here gives occasion to a

Fourth Note, or Observation. That all the PERSONS of the Glorious GODHEAD, must be Similar, and Equal. Far LIFE in the FATHER being DIVINE LIFE, and that LIFE being Infinite, and infinitely Perfect in Him; bow could He when he begat the SON transsuse any other LIFE into Him? Or how

be rlt

L.

er

is

Y

nn

me T

of

L

bis

ne.

0-

to

Geir

il-

13.

d ef.

es

ill

D.

in nd er-

be

Or

om

how could They, when They Breathed the HOLY GHOST, but impart that very LIFE to Him, as having no other to communicate ? And is not this exactly agreeable to GOD's own Procedure, and the regular measures which he has appointed to other Beings? For do we not fee ? as the three forts of Life continually propagate, so they propagate none but their own proper and respective Kinds of Life. The Vegetative, that is, propagates Life of its own Quality only; and the Sensitive and Rational do the same. And when all sorts of Life in this World do thus ; why may we not suppose even in Reason, and according to true Philosophy that the DIVINEST LIFE in GOD Himself does the Like, in way of lofty and transcendent analogy? But then as Vegetative, Sensitive, and Rational Lifes, are all alike, and equal according to their Kinds in their Respective Ranks, or Orders; so why should not the DIVINEST LIFES of all be the same ? especially when we are infallibly assur'd that That very LIFE does propagate it felf? And then all DIVINE LIFES being of the fame Nature and Kind; for that reason they must naturally be alike, and equal, so far as Propagation on their parts extends. Indeed the FATHER begetting the SON.

in Order and Relation He must be before him. Which I take to be the meaning of great Athanasius, where speaking of the most holy FATHER of CHRIST, he pronounces

Him

Him (a) above or beyond all generated Being: and so in order above the SON because he did beget him. But must not the water of the Stream be of the same nature with that in the Fountain from which it flows? GOD is said to be a fountain of Life, Psal. 36; and so he was to his Eternal SON when he begat bim: but then must not the Life in the FA-THER, and in the SON; in the Fountain, and in the Stream, be alike, and equal? Where did we ever find? or when did we hear that Father and Son were not alike, and equal in their Nature? And are we like to find them unlike and unequal here in the Instance I am upon? So far from that, that all good Orthodox Christians believe the contrary, and have long done fo, and openly profess'd as much. For ever fince the Nicene Creed was us'd, they have not only acknowledg'd bim to be the only begotten SON of the FATHER; but have own'd him to be (b) very GOD of very GOD. Where the Greek is somewhat more emphatical than the English. For our LORD is not faid to be and, from GOD, or dia, by GOD, as if GOD had made Him, or created Him; but He is ex Oas, out of GOD, as iffuing forth from Him in way of Generation: by virtue of which, he is properly said to be αληθινών εξ αληθινέ: True GOD of true

⁽⁴⁾ ארפונות אמטש: אינישדה ביומג.

Se

of 12

is

d

at 4-

n,

3

ar

e-

d

-

d

6.

ey

y

ve

y

12-

13

y

d

(-

1:

be

10

-

GOD. And before this, Justin Martyr in his Dialogue with Trypho the Jew, tells us, that GOD before other Creatures were brought forth, begat of Himself Δύναμίν τινα λογικήν, a certain rational Power, which was sometimes called GOD, and fometimes the LORD, Oc; whereby he meant the Eternal SON. Whose Generation, says (a) Irenæus, is inexpressible, and known to none: that is, the manner of it, for the thing it felf is Sufficiently manifest. And as by virtue of it the SON is a LIFE in the DEITY; fo He is truly said to live by the FATHER, S. Joh. 6. 57: and that in as high and deep a sense, as any whom He has made and redeem'd, shall live by Him; as he there gives us to understand. But then the SON being as true a Divine LIFE as the FATHER, He cannot but be like Him and equal to Him. Yet when the SON is faid to be equal to the FATHER, it is to be understood with prudent Caution; that He is as equal to him as he that is begotten can be equal to him that begat him. And when the HOLY GHOST is pronounced equal to the FATHER and the SON, the Word must be taken in a duly qualifi'd sense; that He who is emissive, or processive from them, is as equal as he can be to those by whom he is emitted, and from whom he does proceed. Tho' between the FATHER on the one side, and the SON and HOLY GHOST on the other; there is as much difference as can be between a Being Self-originated, and those that are Derivative from it. And then, certain it is, that in point of coordinative Parity they must differ.

⁽a) Li. 2. c. 48. Inenarrabilis itaq; generatio ejus cum fit, &c.

And in other cases also wife allowance must be made, the here I mention but Two. One is the Case of Supremacy. For the the SON is declar'd GOD BLESSED for ever over all. Rom. 9. 5: yet when some Believers gave that title, in the firetch of it, to our SAVIOUR while Origen lived; he consur'd and reprov'd them for it, telling them it was done, dia Tin πεοπέτειαν, rashly, or unadvisedly, The other cufe is Eternity. I am Alpha and Omega, fays CHRIST, Rev. 1. 8. Now admit the Words shew, the Coxternity of the SON with the FATHER, according to the English Annotations. Tet is there not? and must there not be Difference between their Eternities, when that of the FATHER is most Absolute ; and the SON's Dependent on His?

According to the Hypothesis I am upon, a Fifth Note or Observation here may very well be this. That the Generation of the Eternal SON, and the Breathing of the Eternal SPIRIT, are not solely Acts, or Effects of the Divine Will. It is a Question amongst Divines, whether the Second and Third PERSONS in the Sacred TRIAD, are from Necessity, or from GOD's Will. Now GOD, I mean

N

as lf-

me

of

uft

ne

N

11,

at

R

no

0-

1C-rit

N

fh

re

25,

3

a ll

al

al

of

i-

2-

e-

an

mean the FATHER, always existing Naturally, and Necessarily (which if He had not done, He could never have been :) it feems very agreeable, that the Generation of the and the Spiration of the HOLY GHOST, should be so far Necessary, as they are Natural. And the Scripture, I think, is not so filent as to Both Notions; but that it bints, if not determines which of them is most probable. For it plainly declares, as has been faid; that the FATHER, which is the first Life, begat the SON, which is but Divine Propagation. And that the HOLYGHOST which is the Third, proceeded from those two; another way of Divine Propagation. And then what remains but that the SON and SPIRIT rose in the DEITY in a Propagative way; and so naturally and necessarily? Not that this Rife tho' was at all against, or without the FATHER's Will. For so long as it was done in compliance with, and by the Energy of his Nature, it could never be contrary to his Will. Whatever therefore the Learned might fay as to this Problem, upon the old Hypothesis; in this new one there seems to be no room for such a Question; or for disputes about it. But when that LIFE, which is GOD the FATHER, was absolutely necessary; that the LIFE which is the SON, and that that which is the HOLY GHOST (both deriv'd from His) should be the same in their capacity, would be no way incongruous, but rather a Divine Honour, and Ma-

Majestick Dignity. I mean, that They should be as necessary by natural and eternal Generation and Procession; as He was naturally and eternally Self-existent. Agreeably to which Iremember, famous Bishop Bull discoursing of the SON's being born when the FATHER will'd he should ; makes (a) Velle illud Patris, eternum, that Will of GOD to have been eternal. And why the SON must have been eternal, tho' he had been born at the Will of GOD, Gregory Nyssen gives a proper and valid reason. GOD always willeth that which is good, and Power accompanying that Will, (b) therefore it is to be thought the SON has ever been with the FA-THER.

And here with regard to the Two last foregoing Observations, this Question may be put. Whether Christians Prayers should be so nicely regulated as to be directed primarily to the FATHER, thro' CHRIST, and by the HOLY SPIRIT? which some have observed, was not unusual in former Ages. To it I answer. The FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST are all Divine LIFES; and as they illiven and actuate the same infinite Essence, they are all Divine PERSONS. And then as such we are to pay holy Worship to them every one, They be-

(a) In Defenf. 5. 3. cap. 8.

⁽b) Ari aga δ ΤΙΟΣ μετά το ΠΑΤΡΟΣ von θησεται.

d be

ati-

and

g of

ER

Pa-

ave

ave

Vill

and

hat

ing

ght

· A-

ore-

put.

cely

A-

LY

not

The

are

and all

are

be-

ing

ing all truly GOD. Yet at the same time we are seriously to consider, that the FATHER being a Self-originated and Self-existent LIFE; and the SON and HOLYGHOST LIFES Derivative and Communicated: may feem reasonable and just upon that account, that our Adorations and boly Services should be directed primarily and principally to GOD the FATHER. And then we offering them duly up to HIM, through the Merits of CHRIST, who is our High-Priest, our only Mediator, and our great and powerfull Advocate; and by the aid of the HOLY GHOST, who in Prayer, and pious Duties is to inspire us, and by His gracious influence to help our Infirmities: we might so expect, that our sacred Performances would become more acceptable unto GOD, and to our selves the more beneficial. And this very thing, to serious Observers, will plainly appear to be frequently done by our Church in her excellent Liturgy.

But yet how plausible soever this Practice or procedure may seem: I do not see where it is openly and explicitly injoin d; or laid upon us as a Duty indispensable. The I cannot but say, that the very LORD's Prayer, if rightly consider d, in it's full Latitude, will give countenance to it. For touching it he hatbrequir'd, (a) when ye pray, fay, Our FATHER which art in Heaven. Oc. So that allowing it to be either a Form, or Rule of Prayer, we must pray by it. or according to it. If we pray by it as a Form, in its compleat length; we ascribe Dominion, Power and Glory to GOD the FATHER, in its concluding Words: (a) For thine is the Kingdom, and the Power, and the Glory, for ever. Amen. But then how is this done in, or thro' CHRIST? That will foon appear. For as CHRIST commands us to ask in his Name, in the 16th of S. John, fo at 23th verse of that Chapter, to tempt us to it he affures us, that whatever we ask the FA-THER in his Name, he will give it us. And when by his command we are to use this Form constantly, and in his Name; must me not as often as we use it, in, or thro' CHRIST, give Dominion, Power, and Glory to GOD?

⁽a) S. Luke 11. 4.

Or if we take this Prayer of our LORD, for a Rule, or Pattern of framing Prayers by; and in answer to it draw up Prayers of our own; if we compose them rightly according to it, we must still do the same thing in other words: That is, give Dominion, Power, and Glory unto GOD the FATHER, in and thro

CHRIST, for ever. Amen.

...

⁽a) S. Mat. 6. 13.

But then when the Doxologick Clause is quite left out by S. Luke, another Evangelist who records this Prayer; may not that somewhat weaken the Argument alledg'd for giving Glory to GOD the FATHER chiefly in or thro' CHRIST, when we Pray? For where as much is done to binder a thing (without plain contradiction, which in things divine is unallowable) as is done to promote it; it feems to be left in equilibrio, or to be of indifferent Nature, or Ufe. Tet the truth u, giving Glary to GOD the FATHER in Devotional Addresses to Heaven, was pretty much the Primitives Ufage.

lea-

er a

it,

rm,

ion.

the ory,

done

ap-

ask

o at

to it FA-

And

orm

ot as give

, for

and

3 if

me

rds:

Flory

thro

But

in

But then I must add, that the the LORD's, which is a perpetual Form, or Rule for Chri-Stian Prayer; gives glory to the FATHER in or thro' the SON ; and our excellent Church often does the same in her incomparable Liturgy, and conftant Practice : Tet bere in this Prager nothing is mention'd, or in the least hinted, as to doing the same by or thro' the HOLT GHOST. So that after all, the Devout in this Case being as free from Sacred Obligation as from civil Injunction; they are very much left to their own Discretion. The should right apprebension of the FATHER's Praeminence in Self-originated Excellency; induce any to dired their Devotions to him, primarily, by and thro the SON and HOLY SPIRIT (in other respects like Him and Equal to Him:) this inb 2 Read .

flead of being faulty, would be very approveable. He being really what he has still d Himself, Psal. 95. 3. The LORD the Great GOD, and the Great King above all GODS. As high and sutable a Title as any He has assum'd to Himself.

Lastly, I observe; That of all things in the valt Universe, infinitely perfect LIFE is most fit to raise the ever Blessed TRINITY. which confilts of Three Living PERSONS in One ESSENCE. To make thu the more intelligible, let us suppose the ESSENCE which is as the Bases of the Glorious TRIAD, to be an Infinite SPIRIT, as it has all along been thought. What then shall the Three distinct Infinite PERSONS of it be, if they are not LIFES? Either they must be Substances, or Accidents. To Suppose them Accidents, would be to make them much meaner than our selves. And if they be Substances, they must either be Material, or Spiritual ones. Material ones they can't be because GOD is a SPIRIT, S. Joh. 4. 24. And as be is Spiritual in his Effence. so in his PERSONS be must be the same; for one of them is the HOLY SPIRIT. And he Proceeding from the FATHER and the SON. he must needs be of the same Nature with them, as issuing directly and immediately from them. If the Three PERSONS be Spiritual ones, they in conjunction with the Essence will be four Spirits; and being all infinitely Perfect, as the Divine Divine Essence and Persons must be; they would inevitably be three, if not four GODS.

And so very far from a TRINITY of PER-SONS in an UNITY of ESSENCE.

1-

7-

at

S.

ef-

in

is

Y.

NS

inich

be een

net

not

or uld

es.

· be nes

oh.

ice,

for

be

N,

em,

em.

bey

Spi-

the

vine

But allow the Divine ESSENCE to be an infinite eternal SPIRIT, quicken'd and actuated by Three Distinct LIFES; the First naturally and from eternity springing up in it, and as naturally and eternally begetting the Second LIFE; and they two by a like propagative Power Breathing or sending forth a Third, in which the prolifick force or virtue of Divine LIFE was fully spent, and did finally terminate: and the Adorable TRINITY is most Perfectly and Gloriously constituted, and I think intelligibly enough. For as here is an infinite SPIRII which is the Essence, and so is the Root, or Head of the TRINITARIAN UNITY; and which being common to all the Three LIFES that are in it, is equivalent to a particular Essence to each of them: so those LIFES being in that Essence and vitally actuating it, and being infinitely Perfect, and fo most rational and intelligent, they adually become a Personal TRINITY in the aforesaid Effential UNITY. They who cannot understand this, I wish they could.

And why should not this vital Scheme of the Holy TRIAD pass as lawfull or probable (which I do not recommend as strictly genuine) when in the Scripture the PERSONS of it are

b 3 50

So plainly termed LIFES? and nothing in the whole World so highly, so nobly, so tran-Scendently Excellent as Life of all Sorts ? For instance.

How does the Vegetative Life fill and furnish the Bowels, and adorn and garnish the Surface of the Earth, with curious and delightfull Varieties of pleafing; as well as with necessary Stores of ulefull things ?

With what rich and wonderfull Plenty of rarely admirable, as well as ferviceable Animals, does the Sensitive Life flock the Seas and Rivers; and replenish all Countries and Kingdoms by Land?

And as to Mankind, to make them happier, they are bonour'd with a Rational, a much b gber Life. And as they do abound; fo by the help of that how many, and what mighty and magnificent things are attempted and effected; attained and injoyed by them ?

And to pass by Angels (who have a Life Superior to ours, and are capable of sublimer things than we) lastly let us lift up the Eyes of our Minds, and in solemn Contemplation took as high as we can : I mean, to GOD. the most infinitely good and perfect Being that ever was, or can exift. And let us well consider the Perfections of his Nature, the Iffies of bis Power, and the Works of his Providence, And let us well confider, bow unspeakable, how bow inconceivable, and bow amazing and a-Ronishing they are. Tet after all, consider as scriously what is the most peerless and unparallell d Excellency be bas, but his infinitely perfect LIFE? Are not his chief Perfections deriv'd from that? are they not fustain'd by that? are they not invigorated by that? Take LIFE from GOD, and (I speak it with bumblest reverence) He is, He can be GOD no more. But then that Sovereign, that Infinite, that infinitely Perfect LIFE, which supports the infinitely great and glorious GOD of Heaven and Earth; must surely be the fittest thing in the World, to constitute the Eternal TRINITY; and what else can do it better? or at all? Thus have I somewhat anticipated the Contents of this Exposition. But I matter not observing strictness of Method, so I fairly gain my Point. I mean, either by establishing a probable Hypothesis of the facred TRINITY: or else by giving check to wild and wrong Notions of it, which to it were and must be shamefully diminishing and disgracefull, if but slightly reflected on, and superficially consider'd. For, for Christians to injoy the Blessed Gospel almost 1700 Years; to be Baptiz'd into the Faith of a TRINITY, and to own and successively profess that they believed it as a prime and fundamental Article: and yet during all those Centuries, to have no No-

in

en-For furthe de-

45 of mi-

and ppi-

by ighted

Life mer

yes

D,

nsi-

nce,

hom

Notions of it even amongst the most Learned and Wise; but what was light, and vain, and empty; silly, impertinent, and nonsensical; to say no worse (if search'd to the Bottom:) is not this sad and dismal to consider?

Yet this was not the worst neither, for when People, and the most learned of all were in the dark as to this high Point; they did not only rest contentedly in it, but took an ill Course and effectual care to lock themselves fast up in the Error; and so to live and die in it. For they determined it to be a prosound Mystery, and then never attempted to unfold it, as concluding it to be inexplicable.

But for my own part I declare, that it will be very hard for me to think, that the Doctrine of the HOLY TRIAD, which the meanest affent to at their initiation into CHRIST; and are to adhere to, and to prosess ever after: should be deeply Mysterious, or so cloudy and obscure as not to be competently understood.

Some things I grant, of great importance may be delivered to us in Scripture not very clearly. But this may not imply or speak them Mysteries. But GOD having indu'd us with Reason and Understanding, and very quick and piercing Faculties; He may shade and darken some Passages in his Word, to try what care and pains we'll

in.

efe-

ot-

efe-

for all

bey

ook

200-ive

be

red

ca-

ill

ine

af-

nd

7:

dy

r-

44

ly.

es.

ed

ng

ef-

25

me il take, and how we'll use our parts and exercise our powers to find out the true and just meaning of them. And accordingly we are injoin'd, equivare ras yeapa's, S. John 5. 39.
Scarch the Scriptures. That is, search them diligently, search them narrowly, search them studiously and painfully; doing our utmost to trace and find out the Truth. But if here we'll be supine and sluggish, and neglect thro' sloth, to seek for the precious Truth we might find; no wonder if we fall into gross Error, and even for ages lie grovelling in it. This is my Body; and this is my Blood; with too many others, are sad and deplorable, as well as notorious Proofs and Instances of as much.

But to draw towards a conclusion of this Preface. The great and incurable fault of the Modal Hypothesis of the TRINITY u, that it makes the Three PERSONS in it to be the One Substance. Tho' indeed They can't possibly be otherwise, when they are but the Divine BSSENCE it self Three ways variously modisi'd, and related. And therefore not only the School Divines, but the very Fathers themselves, so far as they run upon this Notion, or go by this Rule or Measure; where they intend to assert, and strive to establish the TRINITY in Unity; do in reason but subvert, and utterly destroy, or finally exclude it.

For if the Three PERSONS be all Substance; then as Three truly and really Distinct PER-SONS

SONS (which They certainly are) they must be Three truly and really Distinct Substances. And which is more, they must also be Three infinitely Perfect intelligent Substances; because every PERSON in the GODHEAD can be no less than infinitely Perfect, and intelligent. And so the Three PERSONS being Three distinct and infinitely Perfect intelligent Substances; They must of Necessity be Three GODS, there is no avoiding it.

But now admit the Glorious THREE in the DEITY, to be bree VITALITIES; that is, Three Infinite Perfections, Powers, or Principles, which are LIFES; and so not Substances, tho Higher and Nobler than They; and that these LIFES actuate and illiven the Substance of the GODHEAD: and there will be the TRINITY of PERSONS. And then admit farther, that these Three do eternally spring up in, and rise out of the Substance of the GODHEAD; and there will be a TRINITY of PERSONS, in a UNITY of ESSENCE. And that so plain and obvious as with a little help to be made very intelligible, even to those of common Capacity.

I now end all with this Caution. I am very fensible, as having long observed it, that the Christian Fathers did commonly think and teach; that where GOD in Scripture is said of old to appear to Men. and converse with them; tho the Title JEHOVAH were assumed by him, and

be

es.

nuse

no nt.

dim-S,

the u.

inıb-

;

the pill

ben

lly

of

Sble,

ery the nd l of

m ; ine.

ind

and Divine Worship were given to him, and accepted: Yet they generally understood the Meffiah or SON of GOD to have been the Per-Son that fill appeared upon all occasions. Bishop Bull also notes this, and relates it to be the Opinion of the Ancients, that (a) GOD the FATHER hath been feen of none, norcan He be feen by affum'd appearances. Now the for the pions Ancients I have all due esteem; yet in this (b) Exposition, to their general Rule I make Exception in two Cafes, and I think upon just and good Grounds. The first is GOD's appearing to Moses, Exod. 34. when he had told him plainly (c) he could not fee his Face ; and gave him this reason why; for there shall no Man see my face and live. Which intimates, or rather argues it was GOD the FATHER who then appeared unto Moses. and therefore bad be feen bu face it would have been fatally over powering to bim. But when GOD the SON appeared and even in greatest State and Majesty, his face was seen by several Mortals without dying. As by Ezekiel at the River Chebar, Ezek. 1. 26. And by Daniel at the River Hiddekel, Dan. 10. 5. And by S. John the Divine Apocalyptift, Rev. 1. 13.

⁽a) DEUS PATER a nemine unquam, ne per affumptas quidem species visus eft aut videri potest, Defen. Sett. 4. cap. 3.

⁽b) See Artic. 5th.

⁽c) Exod. 33. 20.

And the the Sight of CHRIST's Face who is Bternal GOD was very dreadfull, and terribly affecting, yet it was killing to none, as the vision of the FATHER's face would have been. The other Case was, when GOD shewed Himself not to Moses only, but to Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, and the Jewish Elders, Exod. 24th. And as 'tis there said that they saw GOD, so in all likelihood it was GOD the FATHER's care being taken that they should not see his Face.

For there is no mention made of any thing of him being visible, but bis Feet. And therefore fars Offander, they faw His Feet only. And fo be might shew them but his Back-parts. as after that be did professedly to Moles, tho I cited that instance first. And accordingly Grotius calls what they together beheld, formam quandam valde lucidam, velut bominis tergum obverteutis. A centain lucid form, as if a Man turned his Back upon them. Junius makes the GOD they fam to be (a) Signs of his Presence. As the Glory of the LORD. the Devouring fire, and the Cloud mention'd in the two last verses of that Chapter. From which the English Annotations do not much very. (b) The feeing here meant, is when fomewhat is obvious to our Sence, whereby we

(b) In loc.

Sep 15

(b) See Act : 513.

⁽a) Signa præfentiæ Ejus.

rri-

the

een.

ab.

th.

Ri.

bis

ing

rely.

ts, bo

.

5

e

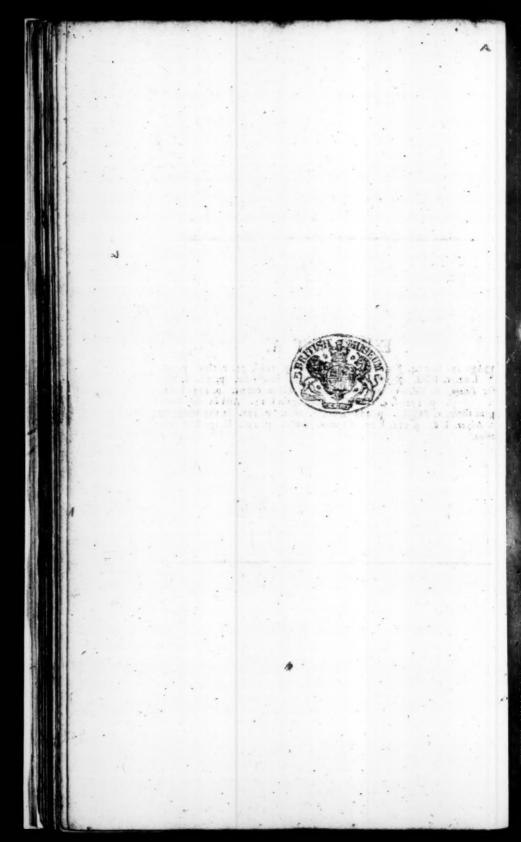

have cause to conceive that GOD is present in an especial and extraordinary manner. By all which it seems probable that GOD the FATHER here appeared, by reason his face was so conceased. And this may be a great reason why GOD the FATHER has not convers'd so frequently and familiarly with Men; because the sight of his glorious Face would have put an end to their Mortal Life. And who knows but great Moses upon Mount Nebo might be sweetly ravisht to Death by that? Who as the Rabbies tell us, Died at the Kisses of GOD's Mouth. O blessed and desirable Death!

AN

can be considered and sense of the sense of

ERRATA.

PAge 33. line 24. for do that, read be fo. p. 35. l. 24. r. then. p. 56. l. 24. r. Word. p. 57. l. 23. before, fays, infert, for. p. 72. l. 23. for Ifelem, r. Tfelem: and fo whereever Ifelem occurs. p. 153. l. 23. r. TVy. p. 182. l. 4. r. vaedh. And again l. 14. And in the Margent there, r. TYN]. p. 198. l. 20. r. calls. p. 199. in the Margent, r. Adyor. l. 6. p. 211. l. 22. for were, r. was. p. 252. l. 27. blot out when.

AN

ANTIDOTE

AGAINST

ARIANISM, &c.

ARTICLE I.

Hosoever will be saved:
before all things it is necessary that he hold he Catholick Faith

Which Faith, except every one do eep whole and undefiled: without loubt he shall perish everlastingly.

Exposition.

A S GOD was pleas'd to make our Nature High; so he design'd that in the End se should be glorious and happy. But then severy End must be attain'd by suitable B Means;

Means; so his Wisdom has furnisht us with admirable Instruments, exactly fitted to procure those Glories and Felicities, which he has prepared for, and promised to us: and amongst these a chief one is fatth.

This the Scripture plainly informs and affures us of. For as the Just shall live by Faith, Rom. 1. 17; so without Faith neither Spiritual, nor Eternal Life can be gained by us. For he that would acquire either must come to GOD, which no Unbeliever can do; for he that cometh to GOD must believe, Heb. 11.6. and to him we have access by faith, Rom. 5.2. And tho' now by the divine Favour we may in CHRIST obtain Salvation; yet it must be thro' the efficacy of Faith; for by Grace ye are faved thro' faith, Eph. 2. 8. Besides; all that would be saved must please GOD; but without Faith it is impossible to do that, as the SPIRIT tells us. How well therefore, how excellently well, doth this Creed begin with declaring the necessity of a true Faith; or of our firmly believing the Fundamentals of CHRIST's Religion, and all the Catholick Doctrines of it? So call'd, because they have been generally held, or univerfally profess'd by all Good Christians, at all times, and in all places.

And therefore, if all they to whom the Gofpel, teaching this Faith, is revealed, and of whom consequently it may be reasonably required, do not receive it, and consciona-

bly

ft

ty

al

to

C

m

Te

be 710

B

2

ne

th

qı

ſh

ſe

C

no

8

ar

h

th

d

(-

į-

S.

ie

or

0.

b.

11

et

8.

ıse

to ell

he

be

d,

or 15,

he

nd

ly a-

ly

bly adhere and conform to it; and befides complying with it, do not upon occasion strive to profess and maintain it in its Purity; but on the contrary carelessly neglect, difingenuously flight, or unworthily pervert and corrupt it: thefe shall certainly fink into Perdition at last. The infallible Word condemns them to no less Punishment. For unto them that are contentious (or to (b) those made up of Contention, as disputatious Hereticks, or Schismaticks are,) and do not obey the Truth (when they are acquainted with, and live under it) there shall be Indignation and Wrath, Rom. 2.8. And they all shall be damned who believed not the Truth. Theff. 2. 12. Slighting therefore, rejeeting, or opposing Divine Truths, need be very carefully avoided, the Crime will be of so dreadful Confe-

Not that all whose Unhappiness it is to be unacquainted with those precious Truths, shall for that be consign'd to endless Miseries. That would be to punish poor Creatures for one great Calamity they could not help, with another most intolerable: a Method which every good Man hates, and then how much more must GOD abhorr it? The Persons therefore so terribly threatned here, can't be those who never

⁽b) Tois if igsteiat.

ſ

n

n

ft

to 16

P

y es

0 fe

ad

m

A

th

ár

A

li

th

Ы

th

Bu

fo

CO

cla

60

01

heard of the Truths of Heaven; but such as know those inestimable Truths, and are well acquainted with them: yet at the same time they never mind, or little regard them; but rather basely despise, or boldly repulse them, tho' they are not only publickly recommended, but even frequently and earnestly inculcated. These, these are they who for their lewd Contempt shall fall under the Dint of everlasting Ruin. And no wonder such Unbelievers should be excluded Heaven, when our LORD upon Earth pronounc'd so positively concerning them; he that believeth not, is condemned already, S. Joh. 3. 18. And most justly, as refusing and rejecting that true Faith, which is so special a Condition, and so powerful an Instrument of Salvation. But as for forc'd involuntary Strangers to the Christian Do-Grine, they shall never perish for not embracing the Christian Faith; nor is Perdition threatn'd to them upon that account.

So we may gather from Rom. 3. 19. What things soever the Law saith, it saith to them that are under the Law. And the same Rule reaches to the Gospel. What soever things that says, it speaks to them that are under its Doctrine or Dispensation. In proportion to which measures, he that drew up this System or Summary of the Christian Faith (whether it were Athanasius or no) may be sup-

uch

are

me

m;

ulse

re-

ar-

ney.

un-

no

ud-

rth

m;

dy,

ing

fo

In-

in-

00-

m.

er-

ac-

bat

em

ule

ngs

der

on

his ith

be

p-

supposed to direct it chiefly to Professors of Christianity, and the actual Proselytes of our LORD JESUS. And fo whatever is menac'd by it, must be levell'd at, and terminate in such, Who are greatly concern'd, as true Professors of the Christian Faith, to flick to that Faith in all Points, and never to corrupt, or prevaricate from it in the least. Not that Faith alone, tho' never so perfect, can justify and save us neither. tho' Faith may do many and great things, yet ordinarily that alone does not justify. fay, ordinarily; for what it may do in an extraordinary case, is of another consideration. For instance, some may happen to die as foon as they are converted; and then being actually turned from Sin to GOD, they must be in a State of Salvation, tho' Death firiking in fo foon or fuddenly upon them, they could have no time for Good Works: and so Faith alone must justify and save such. And for this very good Reason, because they lived but an Instant after Conversion, and in that Moment Good Works were impracticable, for want of space wherein to do them; the Persons being hurried hence so hastily. But to affirm we are commonly and constantly fo justify'd, would be a great Fault; as flatly contradicting the HOLY GHOST, who declares it to be otherwise, S. Jam. 2. 24. by colorks a Man is justified, and not by faith only. And

And to clear up to satisfaction what he thus plainly and positively afferts; the Apostle takes more than usual pains. For disputing against the Antinomian Error, which he might then perceive was budding, or beginning to spring up amongst Christians; he alledges six Divine Arguments drawn up by Inspiration to consute it, and to evince that we are not Justify'd by Faith alone. We find them all in the 2d Chapter of his Epistle.

The First, to this Sense. That Faith which does not Prosit nor Save, cannot Justify: but Faith alone does neither. What doth it prosit, though a Man say be hath Faith and have no Works? can Faith save bim? verse 14.

The Second. That Faith which is dead cannot Justify: but Faith alone, or without Works, is dead; even as dead as that Charity, which relieves the Poor with good Words and Wishes only. If a Brother or Sister be naked, and destitute of daily Food; and one of you say unto them, depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled: notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful to the Body; what doth it prosit? Even so Faith without Works is dead, v. 15, 16, 17.

The Third. That Faith which can't evidence it self, is not like to justify us. But Faith alone is always inevident, as being demonstrable only by Works, A Man may say, thou

t

1 thou bast Faith, and I have Works; Shew me thy Faith without Works, and I will shew thee my Faith by my Works, v. 18.

The Fourth. That Faith which dwells in Devils, can't justify any Man. But bare Faith is compatible to Devils (and that in a prime Article of Religion, awful Belief of the DEITY.) Thou believest there is one GOD, thou doest well; the Devils also believe and tremble, v. 19.

10

oif-

ch

or

5; qu

ce Ve

oi-

th lu-

bat

eth

we

ad

out

ri-

rds

be one

ye

ive

the

uth

יוטו-

But

de-

fay,

The Fifth. That Faith which does not Justify others, can't Justify us. But naked Faith Justifies no others either Men or Women. For Men, the Patriarch most famous for Faith is made the Instance; for he was not Justify'd by Believing in GOD only, but by Offering up his Son. Was not Abraham Justify'd by Works, when he offered Haac upon the Altar ? v. 21. Which makes the thing so manifest, that not discerning it when 'tis so exemplify'd, would speak us careless Obfervers of a very weighty and important Truth. And therefore the Apostle prefac'd the Argument with this Question. Wilt thou know, O vain Man! that Faith without Works is dead? Infinuating, that he who apprehends not this plain and momentous Dodrine; must needs be an empty and inconsiderate Person in Heaven's account.

And then for the other Sex, he brings in Rabab, declaring Her not to be Justify'd by Believing neither; but by entertaining, and

B 4

di[·

bos dismissing the Spies so Charitably. Was not Rahab the Harlot Justify d by Chicks, when she had received the Messengers, and had sent them out another way ? v. 25.

The Last Argument. That Faith which is Impersed cannot Justify. For being desertive in its Measures, it must miss or come short of its End. But then Faith desicient in it self, is to be back'd and assisted by good Works. And so the End for which it was design'd will be effectually accomplish'd. By Works Faith is made Perset, v. 22.

From all which nervous argumentative Premisses, he rightly draws this sirm Conclusion. That folitary Faith, or Faith without Works is dead. Even as dead as an humane Body can be without a Soul. And so (as Solifidians may note) it can do no more towards Justification, than such a Body can do of the Functions of Life, when destitute of a Soul. As the Body without the spirit is Dead; so fatth without Chocks is dead also, v. 26.

As sure therefore as St. James's Doctrine thus divinely prov'd is true; so certainly must Justification by Faith only be a meer Figment. And we may greatly wonder that that Persuasion should ever prevail as it has done; when it plainly contradicts the Canon of Scripture (pronouncing as before) by Works a Man is Justify'd, and not by Faith only. Let Christians then be strong in Faith, as the Apostle advises; but withal careful to maintain good Works. Indeed our Church affirms, in her Eleventh Article, that our being Justify'd by Faith only, is a most wholsom Doctrine. Which fome laying hold of as an handle for Antinomianism, make too much use of that way. But by it she means only that we are not accounted Righteons before GOD, fozour own Works or Defervings: as that Article expresses it. And to make this appear, the there referrs us to the Homily of Justification, which treats of that mat-ter more largely. And in that Homily, intitl'd, A Sermon of the Salvation of Mankind &c; against these Words in the Margent, Faith alone, how it is to be understood: we find this Paragraph explicative of it in the Body of the Discourse. This Saying, that we be Justify'd by Faith only, freely, and without Works, is spoken for to take away ciently all Berit of cur Mozks, as being un-able to deserve our Justification at GOD's So that give her but leave to explaie her own Words (who best knows their meaning) and the's fo far from favouring the Antinomian extravagancy; that she only fights against the Romanists. For in just Honour to GOD's Free Grace, and duly to magnify our REDEEMER's Sufferings; in the matter of Justification the only excludes the Detit of good Works, not their Concomitancy. And why may they not so far share with ot n nt

ch ene nt

as By

uut ne

ds of a

is So,

ne ily ig-

nat nas Ca-

ith
th, aş

with Faith in Justifying us, as GOD requires them as a Condition to qualify us for acceptance in the blood of CHRIST? And let me add. What reason have we to shut Good Works out of Justification, when Faith it self (which some make the sole Instrument of it) is a Good Work? For it being an At. or Operation of the Mind, it can be no less than a Mental, or Spiritual Good Work. And how can Justification which is a Spiritual Work be done more properly than by a Spiritual Energy and Efficiency? And so they that allow not Good Works do belp to Justify, put a kind of fallacy upon themselves by holding we are Justify d by Faith alone; when that's a Good Work, and one of the chiefest we can do. And here again I have our Church on my side, as she affirms, there is one Good Work, in which be all Good Works, that is faith. Book of Hom. Serm. Of Good Works. Part 1ft.

travel Maria who know the Writing and why may here not to her plane

Yath Fall on the only excluded

Stire

ARTICLE II.

And the Catholick Faith is this: that we worship one GOD in TRI-NITY, and TRINITY in UNITY;

Neither confounding the PER-SONS: nor dividing the Substance.

EXPOSITION.

y

c

.

And then as to the Prime and Main Article of that Holy Faith, which found Christians are oblig'd to profess; (in short) it runs thus. They must believe, that the GOD they worship is a Being so peculiarly Glorious (as 'tis fit he should) as to be ever THREE without Confusion; and alway ONE without Division. And so as many as would conceive rightly of his MAJESTY, must think He consists of Three that are Distinct, in One that is a perfect Unit. This being the True and Genuine, it must be our settled Notion of Him. And therefore at present I must think and fay; that to call the Divine PERSONS Consubstantial, and Coessential, as if those very LIFES were real Substances, and the same with the Divine Effence; would be utterly destructive to a TRINITY in UNITY. For supposing them all to be Substance, what coul could They be but Spirit? And then three distinct PERSONS, being three distinct SPIRITS; what would they be less than three distinct GODS? For how can three distinct Spirits be but one at the same time? Yet in a proper and due Sense, the Sacred PERSONS may be both Consubstantial, and Coessential still. Consubstantial, as they are together in the Substance of the Infinite Spirit: and Coessential, as that Spirit is the Common Essence to them all, wherein They are united.

Should any interrogate, What, do you make the Glorious PERSONS nothing but meer LIFES then? I must answer, No. For they are not, they cannot be PERSONS as LIFES only; but as they are three infinite LIFES in that infinite Spirit, which is the Substance, or Essence of the GOD-HEAD. And as They are in that Substance, and united to it; fo as They are distinct PERSONS. They may be joined to that Essence in different ways suitable to their respective Diversities. Tho what those various Ways, or Modes of Union are, if we cannot discover upon Earth, we need not wonder at it. when we know not how our own Lifes are in our Souls, nor yet how our Souls are join'd to our Bodies.

r

be three Diffinct PERSONS, as variously joined to the Essence; yet they must not have three three Distingt Minds, Wills, and Memories. For they have but one Essence; and that being the common Root from which they all fpring, and the common Centre where they all meet, and the common Substance which they all actuate: Their Mental, Spontaneous, and Memorial Powers, &c. must all be common too. The Unity in Esfence that makes the Trinity of PERSONS One GOD; must needs make them One as much in the aforesaid Capacities. Here therefore the Schools hit right; voluntas essentia divina est una numero, quia una numero est essentia.

And that the Doctrine of the TRINITY was of old well known to the World of Spirits; the Oracle of Serapis near Alexandria, feems to attest. For as Suidas relates, when Thules the Egyptian Monarch confulted that Oracle, enquiring concerning the King, and GOD greater than he: it gave him this Anfwer, Πρώτα Θεός, μεθέπειθα Λόγ , η Πιευμα συν 'Aυτο'ς. There is first GOD, then the LOGOS, and with them the SPIRIT. What more agreeable to the Oracles Divine?

ARTICLE III.

For there is one PERSON of the FATHER, another of the HOLY GHOST.

EXPOSITION.

mondation. The Date in The

That in GOD there is a TRINITY is most clear and certain. For in Him there are three, as Scripture affures us, and call'd by those very Denominations which this Article gives them. So we find in St. Mat. 28, 19. where the Apostles were commanded to Baptize in the Name of the FATHER. and of the SON, and of the HOLY GHOST. And to this we have a parallel Text in 1 St. Job. 5. 7. There are Three that bear record in Heaven, the FATHER, the WORD, and the HOLY GHOST. Where the' the Second in the TRIAD be stil'd the WORD. that makes no difference in the cafe, nor gives any occasion or umbrage of just Exception. For by the same inspir'd Writer, in the first Chapter of his Gospel, the WORD is not only faid to be the SON of GOD more than once; but is declar'd to be the only Begotten of the FATHER, v. 14. and his only Begotten SON, v. 18. So that SON and WORD are but Terms Synonymous, and both mean the same thing. And

And tho' that Verse in St. John's is not found in some Copies; yet 'tis in the most ancient, and in the best, and in all that are printed but one. Indeed from its being wanting in feveral Copies, the Arians have concluded it supposititious; and where they found it in any, were ready to charge the Orthodox with Fraud and Forgery for inferting it. Whereas they had more cause to suspect, that the Text was expunged by the Arians. For fo very opposite is it to their rank Herefy, as effectually to subvert it, where the Words of it are receiv'd according to their Truth. But on the other fide, the Orthodox can sufficiently maintain the Catholick Doctrine of the TRINITY without them. I mean, from other Passages in the Sacred Writings, where Arguments to that purpofe occur plentifully, tho' I cite but few to avoid prolixity.

The first shall be that in Gen. 1. 26. GOD faid let us make Man in out Image, after out Likeness. Where a Name of the plural being join'd with a Verb of the fingular number, would be very ill Grammar; did not that Name imply more Persons than

Yet the Hebrews knew so little who they were; that they made US there to fignify GOD and his Angels; as if those Spirits had been GOD's Copartners in the Work of Creating ating Man. And they tell us, that the Seventy were so put to it here, that they were sain to render (c) let us make, by I will make; lest Ptolemy, who imploy'd them, out of their Translation should have pick'd a Plurality of GODS. Tho' how very naturally the Expression might intimate several PERSONS in the DEITY, is obvious to remark.

Which others of those Learned not apprehending, have run into this egregious Absurdity. They wildly phansy d that when GOD made Man, (d) he invited the Elements to help in doing it. A very wrong, as well as mean Thought. For as 'tis plain that GOD alone made Adam; so 'tis as manifest that he was made but of one Element, that is, Earth: For the LORD GOD formed Man of the Dust of the Ground, Gen. 2.7. And how then could the Elements contribute to his Composition? and much less assignments in his Formation.

And that the Christians of old inferr'd a TRINITY from the Sacred Text aforesaid; and also from that in Gen. 3. 22. Behold the Man is become as one of us: is clear from Tertullian, who thus descants upon

8

1

g

C

n

d

it

b

7 bi fin

ho

tal

fo

rit

Ser

Pr

⁽c) בעשה by moniou.

⁽d) P. Fag. Transla. przcip. Col.

re

ill

n, ď

4-

e-

to

e-

b-

n

e-

g,

n

1.

t,

7. te

n

a

d

r

n

b.

17

both. (e) If so be the number of the TRI-NITY offends thee, as if they were not knit together in a single UNITT; Iask how a single one alone Speaks plurally ; let us make Man in our Image, after our Likeness, when he ought to have said, let me make Man after my Image and Likeness; as being but one and fingle? And so in the words following; behold the Man is become as one of us; He but deceives or jests, should be speak like a Number when he is but One, and alone, and fingle : or did he speak to Angels, as the Jews interpret it, for neither do they acknowledge the SON? Or because He was FATHER, SON, and SPIRIT, did be therefore speak plurally to himself, to shew that he was more than one? Tea, because the SON, the Second PERSON, his WORD was united to Him; and the

⁽e) Si te numerus scandalizat TRINITATIS quasi non connexe in Unitate simplici, interrogo quomodo unicus & singularis pluraliter loquitur; saciamus hominem ad imaginem & similitudinem nostram; cum debuerit dixiste, faciam hominem ad imaginem & similitudinem meam, utpote unicus & singularis? Sed & in sequentibus; ecce Adam sacius est tanquam unus ex nobis; sallit aut ludit, ut cum unus, & sous, & singularis esser, numerose loqueretur: aut nunquid Angelis loquebatur ut Judsi interpretantur, quia nec ipsi Filium agnoscunt? an quia Ipse erat Pater, Filius, Spiritus, ideo pluralem se prastans, pluraliter sibi loquebatur? Imo quia jam adhærebat illi Filius Secunda Persona Sermo Ipsius; & Tercia, Spiritus in Sermone, ideo pluraliter pronunciavit, Faciamus; & Nostram, & Nobis. Conti

Third, the SPIRIT in the Word; therefore be spake plurally; Let us make, and our I-mage, and our Likeness, &c. And before him Ireneus declard that GOD spake the same Words, to the WORD and WISDOM, to the SON and the SPIRIT. Advers. Heres.

fi

P

to

th

B

at

th

cla

th

the

th

 B_1

ev

In

do

the

the

for

SO

tel

ter

in

it.

the Ca

MA

I. 4. cap. 37.

And that there is a Glorious TRINITY appears as evidently from fundry Texts in the New Testament; where those THREE are so distinguisht, as to be very fairly diverlify'd. In full proof of as much I need cite but that one in St. Job. 14. 16. (backing it with the mention of another) I will pray the FATHER, and he shall give you another Comforter, that be may abide with you for ever, even the SPIRIT of Truth. Where I denotes the SON speaking, as may be gather'd from the 13th verse. And he must be distinct from the FATHER, inafmuch as Father and Son must needs be two, and can't possibly be one in more than a Cause can be its own Effect. And then the Third here mention'd is the SPIRIT, who must be distinct from the FATHER, as Proceeding from Him, chap. 15. 26. and from the SON, as being fent by Him, says the same Text: for as no one can proceed from Himfelf, so no one can send himself neither. I add; that there is a TRINITY, in the GOD-HEAD we may learn from a Philosopher, as well as from birth from the Scripture. For as (a) Justin Martyr testifies of Plato, he assigns the Second Place to the WORD of GOD, and the Third to the SPIRIT said to have moved upon the Waters. Where he expressy owns GOD, the LOGOS or WORD, and the SPIRIT. But asthe Father notes there, Plato had this ύπο Μωσέως, from Moses.

Į.

e

e

1, ſ.

Y

in

E

i-

te

it

be

y-

r, es

m

at

nd

be n

d

m

m, ıg

10

an

re

as

But besides that this Article owns there are THREE in the GOD-HEAD, and gives them their proper Titles; it farther declares that they are PERSONS. For it pofitively afferts, that there is one PERSON of the FATHER, another of the SON: and another of the HOLY GHOST. Now How do they appear to be fo? I answer in a word, By their Personal, External Acts. And to evidence their Performance of fuch Actions. I need but touch upon those they are faid to do, in the Words now quoted. I will pray the FATHER, and He shall give you another Comforter, that He may abide with you for ever. I will pray the FATHER; the SON's Resolution, even that SON's, who tells us more than once in the same Chapter, I am in the FATHER, and the FATHER in Me; and charges his Proselytes to believe it. But to pray to GOD, or intercede with

⁽⁴⁾ Δευτέςαν χώραν τῷ παςα ΟΕΟΥ ΛΟΓΩ Γίδως:
the se τρίτην το λεχθέντι, έπερέςεδαι το υδατι ΠΝΕΥMATI. Strom. Lib. 5.

Him is an At of an High Nature; and who can do it but a Person? As the SON was to pray the FATHER, fo the FATHER was to hear and answer Him. But that's another great and glorious Work, and who can do it but a Person? The Gratuity the SON was to Pray for, and which the FATHER was to answer Him with, was no less than the SPIRIT of Truth. Who was to be a COM. FORTER, and as Such was to abide with Christians for ever. But who can comfort others, and numberless Numbers of them, and be with them as a perpetual Comforter; but a Person? I might instance in abundance of Glorious Acts proving the Divine THREE to be PERSONS: but for brevity's fake, let this one fair Specimen of that rich Plenty, fatisfy.

Yet this must be remarkt. That all the Glorious Three have not only exerted themselves respectively in such Acts, as prove them so many distinct PERSONS to our Judgments or Apprehensions: but moreover were pleased in wonderful Condescension to shew themselves once, more plainly, and familiarly; even in ways obvious to Mens very Senses. It was done upon the high and solemn Occasion of our Blessed LORD's publick Inauguration into his Prophetick Office. For then the FATHER spake by an audible voice from Heaven: Thou art my beloved SON, in thee I am well pleased. That beloved SON

P

C

n

b

V

F

pi ai

C

m

E

tl

in

P

in

es

SC

ed

th

SC

in

-

00 as ras

ner it

vas

Vas

the

M.

ith

0-

em,

er;

nce

ine

ty's

ich

the

em-

ove our ver

1 to faery

mn lick

For oice ON. NC was was ovenly Eaptis'd, in the River Fordan. And when he went up out of the Water, the HOLY GHOST descending in a Bootily Shape like a Dove, lighted visibly upon him. A plain Manifestation of their respective PERSONS even by sensible Acts. And how could Spiritual and Divine PERSONS be more evidently exhibited? And their Acts being not only many and various, but most wonderful, as might easily be made out; Persons, is not only a very fit, but the most proper Title for Them. The learned and ancient Writer therefore that call'd the DEITY, (f) a Tripersonal Unity, spake a most agreeable Truth, in terms authentick. Especially when by the FATHER's Begetting the SON, and by His, and the SON's Breathing the HOLY GHOST; They are Three PERSONS, as really distinct by internal or immanent Acts; as they are, or can be by extrinsick ones. Tho' that they are PER-SONS far different from ours, must be granted. For whereas three Persons of ours, are three separate perfect Men; the Three PER-SONS above are but one GOD. And accordingly it follows:

⁽f) Erasa Telgunosator.

ARTICLE IV.

But the GODHEAD of the FA-THER, of the SON, and of the HOLY GHOST, is all one: the Glory Equal, the Majesty Co-eternal.

EXPOSITION.

And no wonder it should be so; for the PERSONS being all in the same Essence, tho' they are Three, the GODHEAD can be but One. And the reason is, because in the Spiritual Substance or Essenge of GOD, there is no such Propagative Pomer; as its Vital Principle has, from which the PER-SONS Role. And therefore tho' the PER-SONALITIES were eternally multiply'd; yet still Essentially GOD remains but a Simple Unit. Whereas had the Essence been eternally Multiply'd together with the PER-SONS; the inevitable Consequence of that Multiplication must have been Tritheism, or Three GODS.

But then the Bleffed PERSONS having all but one Essence, and every one sharing alike in it, as they do thereby enliven it: how can they be otherwise than Coequal as to Essential Glory, and Coeternal in Essential MAJESTY? Nor will this Essential Equality

li tl

fi

i

tl

i

W

ri

e

d

1

p

tl

L

ti

F

f

0 fi

t

Ş

t lity of those Three, at all interfere with their Personal Subordination; there is no cause or occasion for it. For that results not from the Effence, but wholly and naturally from Personal Acts. So the SON is subordinate to the FATHER, not as being in the Effence, but as Begotten by him; and the HOLY GHOST is subordinate to Both. not because he is in the Essence, but as being from Both equally Breathed. For even where PERSONS are infinite, yet if one derives Subliftence from another there's fufficient Ground for Orderly Priority and Subor-Yet that in the Sacred TRIAD dination. Two of the PERSONS are so Derivative, 'is plain from Scripture; which clearly informs. that the SON is by Generation; and the HO-LY GHOST by Procession. And what Scripture owns and afferts of this Nature, the FATHER illustrates by a treble Simile. For fays he, (g) the SPIRIT is the Third from GOD and the SON, as the Fruit is the Third from the Root, of the Stem; and as a River is the Third from the Fountain, by the Stream ; and as the Tip of a Ray is the Third from the Sun, of a Beam.

le

n

n ts

-

-

5

1-

n

-

t

r

15 ıl

This Article therefore of the Creed, seems to be warily worded, and nicely tempered, ⁽g) Terrius enim est Spiritus a Deo & Filio, sicut terrius a radice fructus ex frutice; & terrius a sonte, rivus ex Flumine; & terrius a Sole, apex ex radio. Tertul. Cont. Prax.

And here let me note, that tho' Substance and Esfence in relation to the TRINITY, are common School Terms; yet touching the DEITY they were used long before, and with very good and great reason. For GGD's Name that He affum'd to Himself, and whereby he was first made known to his People, was, I am that I am, Exod. 3. 14. Which imports BEING; even Necessary, Eternal, Independent BEING : and then how very proper and agreeable, must Substance and Effence be unto His MAJESTY? Especially when the PERSON of the FATHER is faid to be Υπότασκ, a Subsistence, Heb. 1, 3. And accordingly Numenius affirms the Proper Name of the Incorpozent Being to be solar, n, du, SUBSTANCE, and ESSENCE, Euseb. Præp. Ev. 11, 10.

ARTICLE V.

Such as the FATHER is, fuch is the SON: and fuch is the HOLY GHOST.

EXPOSITION.

We are farther to believe that the Three DIVINE PERSONS are all Similar, or of the like Nature. So that look what the FATHER is, and the same are the SON. and HOLY-GHOST; however They differ in Name, or Relation, or Order.

And here several Questions may be ask'd, to which proper Answers will be necesfary.

ir

ra

E

m he

S, e-

br

ee. 1-

ce

re

e e nd

2 (

e.

e, nn-

0-if-

ly

id

br

er

v.

b.

.

The First this. Since the DIVINE PER-SONS are so alike, What may we take them Ill to be? The Question being of weight and great importance, I answer it plainly and directly thus. In all probability they are. and must be Divine LIFES. And for this very good Reason, because they are own'd to be so in the Sacred Book. I shall here infert one pregnant Proof of it equivalent to It occurs in I S. Joh. I. In the beginning of the Chapter (where he describes the SON of GOD) he tells us in the 1st ver. that He is the WORD of LIFE. Meaning the

the same WORD which in the first Chapter of his Gospel, he says, was GOD, v. 1st; and was made Flesh, v. 14th. And in the 2d v. of the Epistle mention'd, he declares that (b) the LIFE (the very LIFE aforesaid) was manifested: that is, by being made Flesh, as he affirm'd before in his Gospel. But then if the WORD was GOD, and the WORD was LIFE, and the WORD was made Flesh, and the LIFE was manifested in it: is it not very plain that the SON Who was that WORD, and the Second PERSON in the TRIAD Who was incarnate, must be LIFE? Else how could THE LIFE be manifested by the WORD's, or by GOD's being made Flesh?

And then at the 2d verse of S. John's Epifile cited, he tells us of that Eternal LIFE which was with the FATHER, and was maminuted anto us. Now let any one speak, what Eternal LIFE ever was with the FA-THER, and then manifested to us in Flesh, but CHRIST? But then He must be

LIFE. ada

Met, which is more, and to our purpose more considerable; the same Divine Writer, in the 1st verse of his same Epistle, assures us, that the WORD of LIFE there mention'd (the same with that Eternal LIFE, v. 2d) was that which we (or such as we) have beard, which we have seen with our Eyes, which we have looked upon, and our Hands have handled. Here therefore again I challenge any, I challenge all to speak; what MORD of LISE? or what Eternal LIFE? could thus be expos'd to three humane Senses at once, fave the PERSON of CHRIST? For he was audible in Voice. visible in Shape, and also tangible in Substance as well as other Men, both living and dead. Granting him therefore to be in his DIVINITY the Second VITALITY of the TRIAD, and his humane Nature to be perfonally united to it: and how properly would he be the WORD of LIFE, and that ETERNAL LIFE MANIFESTED? And so Manifested, as to be heard, seen, and handled by his Apostles? Which no other Eternal LIFE could be.

⁽b) H (a).

To caution any against surmising, that by the Eternal LIFE there spoken of, that Life might be meant which GOD promis'd, and CHRIST purchas'd, and we labour for, and hope to attain: would be most vain and needless. For how could that Life be heard to speak, or be seen with Eyes, or be selt with Hands here upon Earth, when 'tis only to be found and injoy'd in Heaven? And that the SON was an Eternal VITALITY, or LIFE with the FATHER in respect of his DIVINITY only, is very evident; because his Humane Nature was not Eternal; and so could as the Apostle hints the other to have been. And truly in regard of the latter He could no more be an Eternal LIFE, than one of our selves; His Humanity being the same with ours, only more pure: and so His Being in that respect must commence in

And then that the HOLY GHOST is a LIFE too, is as manifest from his being so call d in (a) Scripture. And therefore our Church agreeably in the Nicene Symbol stiles Him, the LORD and Giver of LIFE. And He that has All LIFE in Himself, and can dispense it at any rate to such as want and seek it; must need be an inexhaustible Source of LIFE, not to say, the very Element of it.

But then if the SON the Second PERSON; and the HOLY GHOST the Third; be such LIFES: the FATHER can't be inferiour to Them, as being the First, and Fountain of Them Both. Nor can He be different from them in the Quality of his Nature; but must be LIFE as well as They, and as Eternal as either of them when they issued from Himfelf.

A Second Question as proper and needful as the First, will be this. The Three PERSONS in the DEITY being LIFES, What may that LIFE be which is in GOD? I anfwer; fo far as I can humbly conceive. It is the chief Perfection DD bas; or the higheft, nobleft, and most estential Principle in his Being. And from it perhaps all other his Active Powers spring and flow.

⁽⁴⁾ See my Effay, Part Ift. p. 21.

Yet I do not fay, that LIFE is his Essence neither, for that's an (a) Infinite SPIRIT.

But

(a) So we are taught in a few words, S. Joh. 4. 24. GOD is a Spirit; A pure Spirit abstracted from all Matter. And so the most eminent both of Greek and Latin Philosophers did account him. Placo pronounc'd him a Mind distinct from all Matter. And Tully proclaim'd him a Mind free and separate from all mortal Concretion. And indeed pure He is, not only from the contagion of Sin, but from all corporeal Mixture, or material Composition; which perhaps is more than can be said of most, but for certain than can be true of many created Spirits. they being uitally join'd with Matter.

Tet be is not so absolutely Pure neither, as to have nothing in bim but his meer simple Effence, for the contrary is evident from his Decrees: which tho' they are in him as immanent A&s, they are not of his Essence. For had he passed no Decrees, he would have been nevertheless; and his Essence would have been the fame it is.

n.

ld

of 1e

is 7 ò

Ir l

3.

d

t

e

Besides, GOD is a Being absolutely necessary; but his Decrees are not fo. For they iffu'd from his Will, and fo far do depend upon it. And therefore they can't be Himself, because unless be had pleas'd, they could never have been; which is not to be faid of his Essence, for that exists naturally, and so necessarily.

Nor can these Decrees be his Will, and so himself; for they are but emanative from it, and arbitrary Dispositions and Determinations of it; and so very different from his Estence. Tho' when I call GOD's Decrees Arbitrary Determinations, I mean, they were so only before they were fixt; for after that they became immutable.

Clearing up of this, that all in GOD is not his Effence : needs not be thought frivolous and useless. For how slight and trivial soever it may seem, in some Cases it will be of great Weight ;

But because LIFE quickens and actuates it, and without it it would be but a dead Substance: LIFE is so absolutely necessary for GOD, that I call it an Essential Principle in Him. And by reason this LIFE is Infinite, and illivens an Infinite SPIRIT; all Active Properties and Powers in the GODHEAD, as Understanding, Will, Memory, Goodness, Mercy, Truth, Knowledge, Wisdom, Justice, Might, &c. are Infinite too: and the Exer-cife of them all depends upon his LIFE,

Weight; particularly in the Article of Predestination. For there presuming the Decrees of GOD to be his Essence, runs Men upon hideous and unhappy Dostrines, and rivets them close and fast to the same. In the train of which, amongst other lamentable Inconveniences, this is one. It is a mighty Prejudice to the Protestant Religion in Forein Countries. For while we censure Romanists for want of Charity, because they condemn all as Hereticks, and sentence them to Perdicion that are out of their Communion: they truly retort upon many of us, that we make GOD as severe, and worse to the far greater part of Mankind. For we teach, that from his meer Will, and for his own Pieasure, he has sentenc'd them to endless Misery in the State of intolerable Torments.

But the Essence of GOD being Insidite Spirit; I cannot but drop this useful Note here; that His MAJESTY must by no means be represented in Pictures or Images. The reason is obvious; He cannot be so truly, and therefore he may not be so Lawfully. A great fault in the Church of Rome. And tho' Bellarmine defends it as well as he can, yet one of the Popes was utterly against it, for the reason hinted; because it was not a secible thing. Baronius in his Annals, at the Tear 726, has recorded it, that Gregory the 2d, to the Question, Cur tamen, co. Why do we not subject the FATHER of our LORD JESUS to our Eyes? replied thus, Quoniam, &c. Because the Nature of GOD can't be expos'd to our view. And so the learned Philo thought, Tor agantor, soc. To paint or form the Image of the invisible GOD, is prophane.

n

P

a

A

h

H

t

b

h

i

i

L

T

D

without which none of them could be in,

much less exerted by Him.

They who from Reason can't argue and conclude that LIFE is so potent in the DEITY; Experience, if they attend to it. may somewhat illighten, and help to convince them that fo it may be. For we fee in others, and we feel in our felves, that LIFE is that which fultains our Beings, and fupports even all our Natural Functions; as well as it does us in our various Imployments. And, when experimentally we find Life fo frong and active in our felves, and that it upholds our Nature, Faculties, and Abilities: we may from thence the better conclude what it does in the BLESSED GOD. But then we must suppose it done in ways sutable to Himself; or in measures infinitely higher than ours, as being answerable to his infinite Nature. For Life in Him, being infinitely above what is in us, or in any Creatures; ours must by no means vie with his in Operations? What is ours but a created Life, and so factitious, narrow, and precarious? and how then should it act like that in GOD, which is absolute and boundless, and as Eternal as 'tis Independent ?

Yet still a good way to illustrate His Life, and to set its Excellency in the clearer Light; may be to compare it with other Lifes. For albeit Life is the most noble thing in Living Creatures, yet between the Lifes of their fundry

t

d

i

Ħ

al

Ġ

ar

te

of

w ca

N

Oi

the

W nit

fin

be.

pla

ple

no

fundry Species there is great Disparity. Thus what vast difference is there between the Life of a Mite, and that of a Man? And between the Life of a Man, and that of an Angel? But then between the Life of an Angel, and that of GOD, there is no comparison: because GOD's LIFE shines forth most gloriously, in that it appears so superlatively excellent as to be Incomparable. And the reason of that its peerless transcendency, in a word, is this : It is Infinite, and Infinitely Derfect. And here I appeal to the whole Christian World, and let them Judge if these infinitely Perfect LIFES, as the one is Self-subsiftent, the other Begotten, and the third Proceeding; and all in the Divine ESSENCE: be not infinitely more fit to constitute the TRINITY, than those silly Trifles, Modes, and Relations , or any thing else that can be thought of. That the DIVINE PERSONS ought to confift of the most Excellent and Glorious Principle that ever was, or can be; is so very reasonable: that all the Judicious must grant it at once. And let the same please to say, what is more Excellent, or can be more Glorious than LIFE infinitely Perfect; and so more fit to constitute the HOLY TRIAD. And in one respect I must needs say, that this LIFE feems to excell all other things, and to be alone capable of doing that great Work; I mean in its being most naturally Propagative lus

he

nd

an

an

m-

th

er-

nd

cy,

ıfi-

he

ge

ne

he

ne

n-

ring

he

he

at

le:

ce.

re

an

to ne

E

4-

I

De

Of

indee 1

of it self. So that, and that only, is most exactly futed to raise the Glorious Constitution of the GOD HEAD; and fo it has done from all Eternity, by making it THREE in ONE, in all likelihood. And to this we may the more readily affent, as being very agreeable to our own Constitution. For every Man is three ways illiven'd, and actually injoys three different Lifes. tional Life, whereby he's able to think and discourse. A Sensitive Life, whereby he perceives Pleasure and Pain. And a Vegetative Life, whereby he's capable of Nutrition and Growth. And when three fuch curious Lifes are complicated in us; we need not wonder that three infinitely Glorious Ones Concenter in GOD. Tho' fo graceful a refemblance of his Majesty, must be one of the truest and brightest Honours that can adorn us.

Should any object, that they know not whether such LIFES in the Divine ESSENCE, can Be the PERSONS of the Sacred TRI-NITY: I might answer them with this Question. How do they know, and how dare they say, that These LIFES cannot do that? Who can tell what infinite Perfections infinitely perfect LIFES contain? and what infinitely Great and Glorious things they can be, and do, when I have elsewhere made it plain, that LIFE is such a Power or Principle, that even the Great GOD Himself cannot do the least Act without it? For where indeed can we discover any thing, that has native moving Force, or an inbred active Energy in it. but LIFE? And in case the Objectors doubt of those LIFES Abilities to do this HIGHEST Work that ever was done Raifing of the TRINITY: let them think till they can find what will do it better, and then impart it kindly to the World. In the mean time, to the HOLY THREE Whom I adore as ONE, I most humbly profess; that to believe them rais'd by fuch forry things as Modes and Relations, I do in their Glorious Names and Presence utterly detest, and shall eternally abhorr. The Reason of this Abhorrence will partly appear in the Anfwer to the next Question: which runs thus.

Is not a LIFE the very same with a DOW in the TRINITY? I answer, No, by no means. They differ much, and the Difference between them is so great and obvious; that where it is not understood, there must be a fault or defect in the Understanding. And because Modes have been of so high Esteem, as to be reckon'd the DIVINE THREE; I shall briefly shew how very short they are of those LIFES, which seem to be the real PERSONS; and how egregiously they must err, who can once think that Modes should be what the DIVINEST LIFES are. For

1

C

I

i

ti

a

2 an be

A

M

M

ad

wh

fan

any tib

thi

tim

tair

Scripture. Indeed it gives Grounds, and very good ones, for calling every one of the Bleffed Three a LIFE. But for terming any one of them a Made, is so far from being common there, that the Word never occurs. And no wonder, when to make those Glorious PERSONS Mades, would not only be inconsistent with Reason, but directly contrary even to common Sense, which can never yield so meer a Trisse should be GOD as a Mode is; which yet it must be, if it is a Divine PERSON.

a Mode, a Made must Create, and also Redeem, and likewise Sandisty us; those great Works being done for us by the Glorious Three. And then what infinite Power and infinite Merit must Modes have in themselves? and what excellent Graces must they dispense to Men? And so Modes for certain must be admirable things. But alas! instead of that, what can be more empty and despicable? and than DIVINE LIFES, if Modes, must be the same. And can any CHRISTIANS, or dare any venture to affert that? That the THREE in the GOD-HEAD are so contemptible?

Yet which is somewhat oversetting to think; the most famous for Learning in their time, have openly taught, and stiffly maintain'd this hideous Doctrine. Tho' I can't

D 2

but

EST

They

25

ve

he

to ne.

till

ien

ean

ore

be-

as

ous

all

Ab.

An-

uns ode

210 ffe-

ous:

nust

ing.

righ

NE

nort be

ully that but observe, that in so doing those Writers were miserably inconsistent mith, and unlucky to themselves. For the School Doctors, who made Modes to be PERSONS in the TRINITY, at the same time laid it down as a Darim, or standing Rule, (i) It manifessily appears that in DD there cannot be an Accident. And yet they affirm those PERSONS to be Modes, and what are they better than Accidents, if indeed they be so good? And thus while they pretend to explain Mysteries, and establish Fundamental Truths; they shamefully disparage the Glorious GOD, and contradict themselves.

The Censure, I own, runs high, and falls heavy, but they pull it down upon themselves: for they expressly teach thus, (k) These three Relations, Paternity, Filiation, and Procession, are called Personal Properties, as constituting PERSONS. For Paternity is the PERSON of the FATHER, Filiation is the PERSON of the SON, Procession of the HOLY GHOSI Proceeding. Where besides the bold Step of making Personal Properties to be PERSONS themselves; what are those Properties (but as here called) Relations? And

(i) Manifeste apparet quod in DEO Accidens esse non po-teft Aquin. Sum. Theol. va, qu. 3. 6. c.

t

I

h

V

П

ft

ri

tı

n

W

th

fh

SC

T

Ath

R yé

d

⁽k) Hæ tres Relationes, paternitas, filiatio, processio, dicuntur proprietates personales, quasi Personas constituentes. Nam paternitas est Persona Patris, filiatio est Persona Filii, processio Persona Spiritus, &c. Id. ib. 1a. qu. 38. 2. 2m.

ers

ky

ho

RI-

s a ife:

an

R-bet-

od?

My.

hey

D,

alls

em-

(k)

as

the

the

LY

old

be

Dro-

And

n po-

o, di-

riona , 2m.

hat

what are Relations but Respects? And what are Respects but Accidents at best? And so when Men and Angels, as their Duty is, worship the PERSONS in the GOD-HEAD, they must worship Accidents: and would not they be goodly Objects of Divine Adoration? For the Learned to mistake so very grossy in any case, would have been unhappy; but to do it here must be wofully wretched and deplorable. For what common Christians methinks of sound Understanding, could ever have thought the Glorious PERSONS in the DEITY, such paultry things?

Yet which is worse, Modes (which they'll have to be Divine PERSONS) are even meaner than Accidents. For as they inform us who are most vers'd in Metaphysical Niceties, they are but (1) Middlings, (as I may fay) Negative Middlings, between Accidents and Nothing. And so impossible it is that they should ever have suppos'd the DIVINE PER-SONS constituted of more inconsiderable Trifles. And therefore when I blam'd the School Divines for conceiving They were Accidents it seems I was too favourable; for they are more culpable still in making them Relations. Because so they fink them lower yet, making them less and worse than Accidents; even bare Habitudes, or meer exter-

D 3

⁽¹⁾ Media interjecta inter Accidens & nihil.

And if Relations be so light and airy things that they can never be in Persons; how can they possibly be Persons themselves? and much less raise Divine Dues in the GOD-HEAD? Let any that are Masters but of one Spark of clear Reason Judge how they can do it. Yet see the unhappiness of the Learned here. For even a famous Prelate of our Church in vindicating the Doctrine of the TRINITY, was forc'd (for want of a better Hypothesis) into the Wild Measures of the Schools; and

p

t

n

t

8

P

C

a

t

3

F

7

a

1

n

t

^(#) At Relationes torz confishunt in respectu & in ordine ad aliud, nec quicquam aliud involvant in essentia sua przter respectum ad terminum. Quare inepte dicitur ac falso Relationes nore Accidentium caterorum inesse Subjectis, cum Subjecto tantummodo attribuantur. Adr. Hereb. Disput. ex Philos. Select. 5. Thes. 3.

was fain to make use of their trashy Notions, Modes, and Relations. For he positively declares that (n) the difference of the Hypostases must be from the Difference of Belati.

ons, and manner of Subfittence.

But there being three LIFES in the DEITY. some may put a Fourth Question. How, or whence did they come? To which I answer thus. The Glorious LIFE of GOD, as it is now, and ever will be, so it always was. For it existed from Eternity, nor could it do otherwise, to do that being its natural Perfedion. And as Created Life is every where prolifick, or procreative of it self in this our World: fo Divine Uncreated LIFE in the GODHEAD, as it abounds with all agreeable Excellencies, fo with this amongst others; that it naturally propagates it felf, and from Eternity yields three infinite VITA-LITIES, or adorable PERSONS there; the First of which begat the Second, and the Third was Breath'd by Them Two.

Not that Propagation is here to be taken in a literal and gross, but in an allustive and illustrative Sense, intimating this much. That as natural Propagation is absolutely necessary to keep up the various Species of Beings on Earth, which otherwise would soon finally perish; so the Acts of Divine Generation.

D 4

dine præfallo

uft

the

rd-

as.

10

fef-

of

efe,

y in

· do ides

tis

e in 0 4

ngs

can uch

Dì

c of

Yet

ere.

h in

TY.

esis)

and cum

. ex

was

⁽n) Bishop Stillingfleet in his Vindication of the Dollrine of the TRINITY, Chap. 6.

tion, and Spiration, in the GOD-HEAD (too sublime to be now understood) and which for want of a Better Word, I call Propagative: serve to an End as lofty as those Ads themselves. For perhaps by their constant Energy, the Subfistence of the Bleffed VITALITIES is perpetually supported. And the uninterrupted Continuation of those stupendious Acts, may probably be as needful to fustain the infinite VITALITIES there; as Physical Procreation is to uphold the feveral Kinds of Animals here below, by fuccessive Multiplication of their respective Individuals. I fay, probably, or perhaps it is thus; I speak it not positively, but conjecturally rather, or hypothetically, leaving here a Latitude for farther Speculation. For as we find, S. John 5. 26. As the FATHER bath Life in Himself, so bath He given to the SON to have LIFE in himself. Which may import, that the SON lives of Himfelf (tho not from Himself, as the FATHER does.) And possibly without depending on incessant generative Communication of LIFE. Yes because whether he does so or not is doubtful, and a great Question; at present I dismiss it undetermin'd. Tho indeed I rather think that the SON subsists of Himself, as a LIFE generated by His FATHER: and that the HOLY GHOST deriv'd from Both, does the same in His Capacity.

And that there are Three LIFES in the DEITY, may be fairly inferr'd from the Threefold LIFE in our felves. For the AL-MIGHTY THREE confulting, as it were, about Man's Creation, prefac'd the doing of it thus: Let us make Man after our Likeness, Gen. 1. 26. Now this being agreed to, and Man accordingly having a Triple LIFE in him; and being made after GOD's Likeness: tho' GOD is but One, He must needs have Three LIFES in his Being too, tho as much above ours, as He's above us. For otherwise the Divine Three having determin'd to make Man fo; between the Ectype and the Archetype instead of just Analogy, there would have been rather disproportion, or disparaging incongruity. And then likewise as Man must have mis'd of the Measures fixt for his Nature; fo GOD would have fail'd of his declar'd Intentions. And when did he ever suspend his design'd Favours from any, or divert from conferring them; unless by ill carriage they put in bars against them, which Adam uncreated could not do? And probably to intimate that Man has the Three Lifes aforesaid; when GOD created Adam, he was faid to breathe into his Nostrils not the Breath of Life; but Nishmath Chajim, the Breath of Lifes, Gen 2. 7. I suppose the Likeness of GOD in Man to consist much of this tripple LIFE; tho' His Image seems to be quite another thing to

And

D

nd

all

as

eir

ef-

ed.

ose

ed-

re;

fe-

uc-

In-

t is du-

ing

TOF ER

the

nay

tho

es.) ant

Yet

ibtdif-

her

as a hat

loes

to me; as will appear in the fequel of the Exposition of this Article.

And then that these LIFES are Identick in their Nature, and that (according to this Article) such as one is, such are the other two: is evident from the account Scripture gives of them. For as that ascertains the First, by Generation, gives Being to the Second; and the First and Second, by Spiration, to the Third. And when one infinitely pure and perfect LIFE begets another, and they two breathe a Third; they must all be homogeneal, or of the same Kind: for what can fuch LIFE beget, or breathe, but fuch LIFE again, especially when every PERSON is a LIFE in the GODHEAD? Does not a Fish beget a Fish? and a Fowl, a Fowl? Does not a Beaft beget a Beaft? and a Man, a Man? Why then should not the Bleffed GOD, who is most Glorious LIFE, beget and breathe Bleffed LIFE, and most Glorious GOD as well; in His most Bleffed and Glorious Way?

But tho' they be of the same Nature and Essence; they are sufficiently distinguish by their various Origins, or Rises. For the First LIFE was eternally of himself; the Second an Emanation from Him; and the Third an Essence from both. The Second so rose from the First, as that he might be said to be Begotten; and so the First is a real FATHER, and the Second as real a SON. And the

e

,

t

h

7,

d

15

)-

re

e

e-

d

(e

0

1-

d ne

the Third fo proceeded from them two, as that he might as properly be faid to be breathed; and consequently he must be the SPIRIT of both, or their joint Living Breath; tho as truly a VITAL PERSON as either. Now what better Marks, or clearer Characters of real Distinction need there, or can there be amongst the Glorious PER-SONS of the Holy TRIAD; who at the fame time are truly One? And thus we have not only a TRINITY of Names, or Titles; or one so Metaphysical as to consist of Modes, and Relations, and to have all its PERSONS the fame with its Effence; and to be diversify'd by vain Differences none know how, and in reality not at all: but here are three true Hypostases, or Living Subsistences really different amongst themfelves, and springing up in one Spiritual Substance different from them; tho' they all actuate and illiven it, and in and by it are effentially united. So that if we do not apprehend this TRINITY in Unity (and are of any good Capacity) the Fault ought not to be imputed to Obscurity in the Sacred TRIAD's Constitution: for tho' it be wonderful, it is very intelligible even to Admiration; as being more easy to be understood than our own, as will appear by what follows upon this Article:

44 An Antidote against Arianism.

But here I must remark. That For the Divine Essence to be rightly distinguisht from the PERSONS, and for them to be fo distinguisht from one another by the common Hypothesis, is utterly impossible. Could any have rais'd them distinctly by That, I doubt not but a learned Prelate of our own would have done it effectually in an excellent Book of his. But tho' he attempted, he could not accomplish it, because the Hypothesis would not bear it. He there lays it down as a politive Affertion, that (o) the Communication of the Divine Esfence by the FATHER, is the Generation of the SON. And declares that CHRIST cannot have any part of it communicated to him but the whole. And therefore affirms that it was communicated to him by a total and plenary Communication. leave out the relative Terms FATHER, and SON, and what the excellent Bishop afferts will amount to this much. That the Communication of the whole Divine Essence, by and to the whole Divine Esfence, is the Generation of the whole Divine Esfence. perhaps in the eyes of the Wife may look fomewhat like wild and unintelligible Cant. And then how is it possible that the FA-THER and the SON should be two di⁽o) Bishop Pearson in his Exposition of the Apostle's Creed, on Artic. the 2d.

ht

o

1-

d

I

n

1-10

9-

it

be

by

be

n-

to

f-

re

d ts

12-

by

e-

h

k

t.

1-

i.

1.

a

flind PERSONS? For what is the FA-THER but the whole Divine Effence? And what is the SON but the same whole Esfence? And so when the FATHER communicates the whole Effence to the SON. what does he but communicate Himfelf? And then Communication, according to the Bilhop, being Generation; what does the Father beget by that generative Act, but Himfelf? And fo the FATHER that begets must be the SON begotten, and the SON begotten the FATHER that begets: which are not Contradictions of the lowest Rank. Yet how can they be avoided here, when the Generating FATHER, and the SON Begotten, are both the whole Divine Effence? And further; what lowder Contradiction can there well be, than to fay, that one Divine PERSON who is the whole Divine Essence, does at the same time communicate that whole Essence which is his PERSON: to constitute another PERSON diffind from his own, by that very Essence which is his own PERSON? Yet thus it must be between the most Glorious FA-THER and SON. But then they two must communicate the same whole Essence to the HOLY GHOST; and then if according to this good Bishop, Communication be Generation; so far as the SON communicates the Essence to him, he begets him: and so in the TRINITY there would be two Fathers, one Son, and no Holy Ghost breath'd from both. Indeed the Bishop says, that Communication of the Effence to the HOLY GHOST is not Generation , but I find that to be gratis dictum only, and so the Charge stands good.

It must also be remembred, that CHRIST is the one Mediator between GOD and Man. I Tim. 2. 5. But if the SON be the whole Divine Esence which is the FATHER, be must unavoidably be a Mediator between Himself and us: which would be an Incongruity not very allowable.

Yet how fully does the first mention'd renowned Prelate come up to, and fall in with this fame unhappy Doctrine? Which were it true, would certainly exclude the HOLY TRINITY, or abolish it out of being. For (p) he declares exprefly, that the same one Divine Nature is wholly and entirely communicated by the Eternal FATHER, to the Eternal SON, and by the FATHER and the SON to the Eternal SPIRIT. And this is the same which all TRINITARIANS affert. The Great Man therefore delivers not this as his own private Sentiment; but vouches it for the General Opinion of all good Christians. Yet as formal and specious again as this Affertion feems, do but refolve these Terms, FATHER, SON, and HOLY-GHOST, in-

⁽p) Bifhop Stillingfleet. Vindicat. Chap. 7.

m

on-

be ge

ST

m.

ole be en

П-

e-

h

re

Y

or te u-

e

S

1

to their true Sense, or just and genuine Signification; and fo express them by Divine Nature, which they are all said to import by this eminent Writer, and the whole of which Nature, (according to him) every one of them must be; and then see and consider if it will not be too improper and imperfect to represent or express the Bleffed TRINITY. For this must then be the Tenour or Form of the Affertion, in short. The same one Divine Nature is wholly and entirely communicated by the Eternal Nature, to the Eternal Na-And here again Absurdities and Contradictions will break in afresh, and can no way be kept out. Nay, the very Doctrine here laid down to explicate and establish the Glorious TRINITY, will tend but to undermine and overthrow it. For if the FA-THER be the one Divine Eternal Nature wholly and entirely; and the SON the fame, and the HOLY GHOST the fame: How can the PERSONS there be really diftinguilht either from the Divine Nature; or from one another? And without such Distinctions how can there be a real TRI-NITY?

First, Distinct from That Nature the Sacred PERSONS cannot be. For every one of them is that very Divine Nature, and of that one and the same whole and entire Nature each of them does consist. And then they can no more be distinct from it, than that

i

N

f

5

O

ta

曲

in 20 th

D

co

cla

to a cil

Ju

bly

dir

Tr

ous

itro

ent

eve

the

wh

(4

Synoo

that Nature can be different from it self. Besides, what is the Divine Nature but the Divine Essence? and what is that but an Insinite SPIRIT? And then the Three PERSONS if really distinct (as Persons should be) must be three infinite distinct Spirits; and so (as above noted) of necessity Three GODS. Here therefore it seems more than probable (and I was ready to lay it down as a sure Axiom) that the PERSONS in the GOD-HEAD must be of a Different Duality from the Essence. Else the GOD HEAD must consist but of One PERSON, or the Three PERSONS in it must be Three DEITIES.

Nor Secondly, Can those Holy PERSONS be distinct from one another. For what is or can be more uniform or identick than the Divine Nature, or Essence? And if the adorable PERSONS confift all of that, and each of them be the whole of it; to offer to distinguish a PERSON from a PERSON in it, would be the same as to attempt to distinguish the whole Nature or Essence, from the whole Nature or Essence : or to shew that a thing is different from what it is. For fo long as an Effence, a most simple Esfence is one and the same; there can be no ground for its being different PER-And so to talk of each of them, SONS. or of every of them, and of their being Distinct, may with the Judicious well feem inconinconsistent, and sound extravagantly a where there is nothing but one pure Essence to constitute three really distinct PER-SONS, and its entire self is to be every one of them.

Yet thus our excellent Divines have taught, and to the Two fore-mention'd I might add a Third (a) Prelate, very learned in this Controversy, who is Symphonous with, or consenting to them. For he owns that (b) the SON truly has the same Nature Divine in common with the FATHER, but communicated from him. And this he declares to be not his own Opinion only, but to be approved by all the Catholick Doctors both before and after the Nicene Council. And the fame we may conclude they Judged of the HOLY GHOST proportionably. And then what is this but running on directly in the old beaten but erroneous Track? Pardon me that I fay it is erroneous, for I prove it so by this one short but irrefragable Argument. In case the whole entire Divine Effence be every PERSON, then every Divine PERSON must necessarily be the whole entire Divine Esfence. And then when the Second PERSON was incarnate.

e-

he

n-

R-ıld

S; 'ee

an

as be

ty

he'

ee

VS

10

he

and

to li-

m

fo

Cf-

be R-

m,

ng

m

n-

⁽a) Bifhop Bull

⁽b) Filium eandem quidem Naturam Divinam cum Patrecommunem habere, sed à Patre communicatam, Vid. Defens. Spood. Nicæn. Sedt. 4. Thef. I.

the whole entire Essence must be so. And then what innumerable as well as intolerable Absurdities (to call them no worse) must have been confequent thereunto; when by reason of the whole Essence's being incarnate, every Divine PERSON must have been the same? Tho' how any true and distinct PERSONS should be in it, will be inconceivable.

So that according to the account which these learned Fathers, and deservedly celebrated Authors give of the TRINITY; it feems impossible that it should ever be. For if the same one Divine Essence or Nature, be wholly and entirely the FATHER, and as wholly and entirely the SON, and also the HOLY GHOST; and there's nothing to distinguish that Nature or Essence into PER-SONS; I appeal to all Rational, and Intelligent, as well as Learned Men; if in the GOD-HEAD there can be more than one Divine Esfence under three several Titles, or Denominations: and they for certain must be very far from being so many Divine PER-SONS. And in case VITALITIES be set a. fide, it will be hard to find what else can in the Glorious Essence raise Three PERSONS. For as to the Things suggested and pretended to do it (not only by the lighter School-Doctors, but solidest Divines, and even by learned and admirable Bishops of our own) they are Modes, and Relations. And these

(ac-

ļ

t

1 i P

f

a

a

fe

h

H

d

ti

re

th

E

W

tv

bu

Be E

its

aff

(according to best Judges of them) are so far from being able to distinguish the Divine Essence into PERSONS (which must be a most glorious Work:) that they are but Phanfies floting in Men's Minds, which they putatively ascribe to GOD, and imaginarily fix upon His Effence as distinctive Characters of Divine PERSONALITIES there; when they can be nothing fo.

nd

ole ult by

ar-

ve

nd be ich

ele-

it For

, be d as

the

di-

ER-

itel-

the one , 01

It be

ER-

et an in

NS.

end-

1001-n by (nvic hele

(ac-

Should any alledge, that besides Modes and Relations there are Divine internal Acts in the DEITY, which contribute to the PERSONS there, if not actually raise Them; for the FATHER Begets the SON, and He and His SON Breathe the HOLY GHOST: I answer, These Acts tho' very true in themfelves, and subservient to the great and high Ends mention'd, according to the Vital Hypothesis of the TRINITY; yet in the Modal one they must be meer Phansies, and fictitious things, according to what the Reverend quoted FATHERS have taught. they affert that every PERSON is the whole Essence, or the entire Divine Nature. And then when one PERSON begets another, or They two Breathe the Third; there is no Remedy but the whole entire Divine Essence, must Beget and Breathe the whole entire Divine Effence; and so it must Beget and Breathe its whole and entire Divine Self. Which to affirm, would not only be a rank Abfurdity, E 2 but 52 An Antidote against Arianism.

but a monstrous and out-ragious Impossibility.

And then how wofully wretched and deplorable is it, that wild Phanfy, or chimerical Whimfy should ever shut the true Idea. and genuine Knowledge of the HolyTRIAD out of our Minds; and make us take up in opinionative Notions, and groundless Prepossessions touching the same? Especially if allowing Divine LIFES in the GODHEAD would fet all right; as I am very willing to hope it would. I mean, by leading us out of that Labyrinth of confusion we are now in; into a clearer Knowledge of this grand Truth. Which being necessary to be understood in some good measure, and recommended to the Faith of mean Believers; in reason it must be more intelligible in it self; than the best Interpreters of it have yet made it: for generally speaking, instead of explaining, they have rather perplex'd it, by all they have faid in Explication of it.

And might it induce any to close with the Notion of LIFES here, I can affure them it is so far from being a new thing, that GOD in the Old Testament calls Himself so, as oft as he speaketh of his Soul. For the word he then useth being Nephesh, which the 70 render Psyche; both the Terms properly signify LIFE. And then St. Ignatius, in his Epistle to the Ephesians stiles CHRIST,

GOD

G

mo

A

He

G

'Y:

25 it v

in

bit

he

and

the

GC

LI

LI

ed

I k

LIF

Cre

wh

ty'c

han

it v unb

Sym

clo

and ing

(9

ibi-

de-

eri-

lea,

AD

in

Pre-

ally

ID,

to

out

OW

and ler-

m-

in

elf,

ade

ex-

by

the

1 it

D

oft

he

70 rly

in T. D

GOD er afavara Con annown: in true im mortal LIFE; or as He really is such a LIFE. And by Irenaus (in his fourth Book against Heresies) it is often said, DEUS est Vita; GOD is LIFE. He there also calls Him Υπαρξις ζωής: the Existence of LIFE. And as I lately observ'd, by Ensebins Pamphilus it was embrac'd, and recommended too. For in the Creed which he drew up, and exhibited in the Nicene Council, and which (as he declared) he believed when he was Prieft, and preached when he was Bishop: he owns the LORD JESUS CHRIST, the WORD of GOD, not only to be GOD of GOD, and LIGHT of LIGHT, but withal (q) LIFE of LIFE. And this he profess'd that he learned out of Scripture; as I indeed did, before I knew he had done so. But tho' he offer'd LIFES as he did, to be inferted into that Creed, which was then composing; and which would have cut the Knot that has ty'd fuch gross Absurdities upon us, and hamper'd us with so many Difficulties: yet it was unhappily rejected or omitted. I fay unhappily; for had LIFES been put into that Symbol, we might have been free from that cloudiness and darkness in the TRINITY, and from such Disputes and Heats concerning it, as have often been too furious, and fometimes fatal. For then the Divine PER-SONS need not have been differenc'd by Modes, and Relations; as being really distinct amongst themselves, as they must be. Because then as Eusebins fays (in the Creed which he tender'd to the aforesaid Council) the FATHER would have been a FATHER (r) indeed; the SON a SON : ndeed; and the HOLY GHOST an HOLY GHOST indeed: fairly intimating, that otherwise PERSONS they could not be, but in a phanciful and fi-Sitions way, as Modal ones are. In a word, then the PERSONS would have been fo far from Modal, and Relative, that they would have been most Real ones: each of them being an infinitely Intelligent, Almighty, and Ever-living Agent. And so they must be PERSONS of the highest Nature and Qua-Whereas lity possible, that is, DIVINE. according to the received Doctrine (I speak it with deep concern and trouble) they are but trivial and even feigned things; they may be proved fuch.

⁽⁴⁾ Zwily in Cwis. Socrat. Eccl. Hift. lib. 1. cap. 5.

For the in the GODHEAD there is an infinite SPIRIT which is the Divine Effence; yet how can the THREE PERSONS bemade of that? Grant the FATHER (according to the common current Doctrine) is the whole Effence, and that the SON is the same; and also the HOLY GHOST. Yet then either

th

m

th is be

If

m

m

F

O

R

01

C

h

t

n

n

t

M

I

t

b

1

t

f

⁽r) 'Annows.

the whole Essence must be those THREE, or it must not. If it be not, what else according to the usual Hypothesis can they consist of? If they do confift of that, it must be either as it is divided, or as it is entire. Divided it can't be, because a SPIRIT is naturally Indivisible. If they confift of the entire Essence, they must be Three but notionally, for really they cannot be fo. And if they be Three notionally only, the Persons themselves must be meer notional ones; they can be no better. To prove as much call the Divine Effence FATHER, and call it SON, and call it HOLY GHOST; and so apply three Notions to it, Paternity, Filiation, and SPI-RATION. Now pray what real Distinctions do these Relative Notions make in it? Can they impart to it more than themselves have? If they can, then what becomes of that true and trite Axiom, Nihil dat quod non habet? Nothing gives what it has not? And if they to the Divine Essence can afford no more than themselves have, the Three they raise in it can be no more than three Notionalities at best. And by such notional Diversifications, the Essence can no more be three real PERSONS; than one Man can become three, by bearing three different Names of Relations. And if once it comes to this, that the Divine Effence can be diverfify'd only in a notional way, and into notional PERSONS; the Old Hypothesis failing, and

nd ner

by

di-

be.

ed

il)

R

nd

ed: NS

fi-

rd,

far

ald

bend

be ua-

eas

eak

are

nd

in-

e; ide

to ole

he and falling to the Ground, a New one ought to be erected, when one agreeable can be thought of; and then why not that of Glorious VITALITIES? Tho' glad I should be if that is not genuine, to fee it thrust out by A t

(

(

C

Ci

introduction of a better.

Should any object, that they can't conceive how the Three LIFES are in the GOD-HEAD: I answer, no more can any Mortal. That quite furmounts humane Knowledge here; and in short the Case stands The Adorable TRIAD is reveal'd from Heaven, and the Doctrine of it being Supernatural; the true account of it must be had from the Hagiographa, or Holy Writings only. And if they teach there is one GOD, and that in him there are Three, FA-THER, SON, and HOLY GHOST; and that these are Three LIFES: thus far we go upon fure Grounds, and are under fafest Conduct, as being in the happy Guidance of Heaven. But then tho' these are grand Truths, yet if a general Knowledge of them, be all that the World from above affords; we must acquiesce in, and be content with it. For when GOD has condescended to acquaint us fo far with his Glorious Nature in a general way; then for us to enter into Particulars, and offer to shew how the FATHER begets the SON, and how They Two breathe the HOLY GHOST, and how all Three are in One Essence, and yet bow they are diflind

ht

be

lo-

be

by

n-

D.

or.

w-ds

l'd

ng

ult ri-

one

A-

nd

gq

n-

of

nd

m,

5;

it.

C-

in r-R

be

re

ia ftind amongst Themselves: this would be giddy and presumptuous, and too rash and bufy a Boldness. Indeed the vain and arrogant Gnofticks daringly undertook to explain the ways or modes by or in which the Glorious TRINITY arose; but the result of their Studies prov'd nothing but empty Froth and Phanfy. And no wonder, when the Scripture intimates it is a Task impossible; and the pious Fathers have so pronounc'd it.

Scripture declares it in Isai. 53. The Chapter is but a pathetick Narrative of our SAVIOUR's Sufferings, Who is the eternal SON of GOD. And touching him it is query'd, v. 8. who shall declare his Genera-Now as to the thing it self it is sufficiently declared, where He's faid in the Gospel to be the only begotten SDID of the FATHER: But the Way or Mode of it is inexplicable, as the Prophet's Question plainly implies. And thereunto the Fathers consent, says St. Jerome. (s) It is impossible to know the Mysteries of the Divine Nativity. And to him agrees St. Ambrose, his contemporary. (t) Impossible it is to know the Secret of this Generation. That the SON is born it may be known; but how he was brought forth it is not lawful to examine. And then who would venture upon fuch a Scrutiny?

1

⁽¹⁾ Impossibile est divinæ nativitatis nosse mysteria. In loc.

⁽t) Licet scire quod filius natus fir, non licet discutere quomodo natus fit. Lib. de Fid. ad Gratian.

Therefore to give check to it, it may be consider'd, that the Enquiry would be as bain, as autracious. For to discern and discover the Modes of things is to us impossible now, whatever it may be in the Future State. And who would go upon an invincible Task? or ever undertake what is really impracticable? Let best Philosophers, ablest Physicians, or the most Knowing of any Calling, or Character, explain the Triple LIFE in Man; and oblige the Learned if they can, with a clear and fatisfactory Account of it. But if that be a Work of insuperable Difficulty, and such as would puzzle the finest Wits, and the quickest and brightest Faculties: who can unfold the Divine TRIAD, or shew how the Three LIFES are in the GODHEAD?

Yet if the Three PERSONS there be made as intelligible to us, as the Triple Life in Man is; and so we understand as much of GOD proportionably, as we do of our felves: furely we ought to rest in this, as a competent Knowledge, and to be highly pleas'd with it. Especially when we have Cause to think, that he will never reveal Himself farther to us in this World. And perhaps for good Reason; even because a freer Manifestation of Himself might minister to

Curi-

Curiofity, and so rather indanger than advantage us.

6

n

1-

e

n,

er

w.

ıd

10

;

or

a-

br

ar

be

ch

he

an

he

de

an D

.

n-i'd

le

n-

er-

er

to

ri-

But this I must note as very remarkable. That GOD in one main respect, has graciously display'd Dis Being to us moze clearly, than He has done, or we can do our own. It ap-Touching the Three Glorious pears thus. LIFFS in Himself, he has given us plainly to understand, that the Second is Begotten by the First; and that the Third Proceeds from Both. But as to our Lifes, as we have no information from Him; so neither can we learn of our selves how they Rife. We may observe indeed, that one of them, the Vegetative, is fingly in Plants; and that two of them the Vegetative and Sensitive, are combin'd in Brutes; to which in our felves the Rational is annext. But tho' we can thus fee they are separate, or conjoin'd, according to the Beings in which they are lodg'd; yet where all meet in our felves, whether the Lower refults from the Higher, we cannot tell. And when we know more of the Three LIFES in GOD, than we do of the Trinal LIFE in our felves, we have little cause to complain of the Mysteriousness of his Nature; but great reason, to be thankful for that Knowledge of it he has honour'd us with.

And truly such it is, that it seems to supersede all Mystery in the TRINITY.

For

For GOD having declard that He is (s) a SPIRIT; and that in this SPIRIT there are Three, by name, (t) FATHER, SON, and HOLYGHOST; and that (u) the FATHER bath a LIFE in Himself, and the SON bath a LIFE in Himself, from Him; and that the (w) SPIRIT (or HOLY GHOST) is a LIFE breathed from Both: This account thus given by GOD, does fo well inform us as to the Being of the TRINITY; that we know both from whence it Rises, and of what it Confists. For besides the infinite SPIRIT. or Esfence where those LIFES spring up, nothing else is needful to compleat the Blessed TRIAD but They; and all might interrogate, who can conceive what could do it better, or fo well ?

For by being LIFES, as they are fo fufficiently distinguisht from the Essence (want of which distinction was the great Flaw in the Old Hypothesis of the TRINITY, and will be its utter Ruine;) so tho' they are all LIFES, yet subsisting as they do, the First, of Himself; the Second, by Him; and the Third, from Both : By this means they must be Three truly and distinctly. Three PER-SONS, that is, as distinct as the LIFE Beget1

t

1

E

tl

0

01 P

G

th CÒ

m

re

⁽s) John 4. 24. (t) Matt. 28. 19.

⁽u) John 5. 26, (*) Rom, 8, 10,

re

ıd

R

4

be nt

us

ve

at

)-

d

e,

r,

i-

of

ne

11

11 ł,

e

ft

t-

-390

ting is from the LIFE Begotten; and as the LIFE Breathed, is from them who did Breathe it. A Theorem, or Notion fo very plain, that what Christians of common Sense cannot competently apprehend it? For what can be more obvious, or easy to be understood, than a Spirit in which there are Three Lifes, which by fpringing up, and being propagated in; and by actuating That Spirit become Three PERSONS, and so are a real TRINITY: and as they all enliven the same Spirit, by being so essentially One; in that regard are as real a UNITY? Who amongst Christians of any good Capacity (with a little instruction) can't soon attain to the Knowledge of this? And fit it is they should, the TRINITY in UNITY being a chief Article of that Faith, upon which their Eternal Welfare depends; as this Creed Orthodoxly teaches in the Beginning of it. And the All-wife GOD having made the Belief of this, useful and necessary to their Salvation; can we think it should be utterly inexplicable by the Wifest; and no more intelligible to the Vulgar, than a Mathematical Problem is to an illiterate Mechanick? Ground upon it we may therefore (when the Article was to ferve so high an end) it could never be of so abstruse a Nature. I mean, it could never be so mystical as GOD recommended it, but was made fo only by Mens

Mens mis-understanding it, and putting false and abusive Glosses upon it.

Now is it not strange, that the noblest Revelation the Church ever had, should by garish School Writers chiefly be turned into anigmatical Nonsense? When had they labour d but half as much in Searching the Scriptures, as they did in minting and maintaining empty Subtilties; they might there have found it was naturally clear, and for a Truth so Glorious, reasonably perspicuous. And which is more surprizing and amazing still, as Men of Learning wretchedly struck into such incongruous and darkning Notions of the TRINITY; so they unhappily persisted in them for hundreds of Years.

O that ever Doctrines containing such Stuff, as the mention'd Writers deliver'd on this sublimest Head; should be taught and urg'd for a Prime Article of the Christian Faith! Where was sound Reason when such frothy Phancies and frivolous Doctrines sway'd the Minds, and fill'd the Mouths and Books of Divines? And what was become of solid Judgment, and of sober and religious Science; when a great part of the Christian World sunk into such Ignorance, and was so blinded and seduc'd with sallacy? And which is still most associated with sallacy? And which is still most associated by obtruded upon Men as a prosound and facred Mystery, when it was but a meer pe

W

an

ly

ho

mi

ou

bu

of (ta fti

C

ne

th

A

(i

Tith

re

be

in

in gr

as

W

lo

be

Ju

perplex'd Scheme of nauseous Inconsistencies. When I think ferioully of this, how much. and how long the Highest Point in our holy Religion has been hidden from us; and how very strangely and grossly it has been mis-interpreted, even by Persons of eximious Piety, and profoundly Learned: I can't but fit down in deep amazement.

ſe

elt

by

to

a-

be n-

re

ra

us.

ng

ck

ns

·ſi-

ch

on

nd

an

en

0he

at er of

0th

ng

al-

nd

er -1:

Tho were it demanded how the Doctrine of the Bleffed TRIAD came to be thus mistaken, depray'd, and made shamefully Mystical; perhaps I might point at the true Cause, or proper Sourse of that Unhappiness. And in a word, it seems to have been the Antichristian Church. For in Rev. 17.5. the Apocalyptist tells us of a Woman he beheld (in a rapturous or visionary way) on whose Fore-head a Name was written, and the First Title of that Name was MYSTERY. this Woman in all likelihood fymbolically represented that Church. And then Mystery being the first word in her Name, it might import or plainly fore shew, that she would invent and impose Mysterious Doctrines. And tho' she would be sure to teach them for great Truths, excellent in their Nature, and as to their Ends and Uses as admirable. Yet when at length the Pious, and Pure, Wife should come to consider them, look narrowly into them; They would not be able to bear the Test of their piercing Judgment: but would foon be found vile, as well as vain things; and not only dange. rous, but destructive. For how well soever they were imbellisht, and gilt; and how plaufible and specious soever they might before have been: they would then appear to be evil in Themselves, pernicious to Men, and to GOD most odious and abominable. And if after such discoveries made of them. they still go for Mysteries; they must be rank'd with the worfer fort, and reckon'd Mysteries of INIQUITY. Of which Nature is the Doctrine of Transubstantiation, and of the Adoration of the Hoft; and others which that Church teaches and maintains. And of that Number is this Doctrine of the HOLY TRINITY: I mean, as it has been taught by them of her Communion, for so far it is one of her ignoble and counterfeit Mysteries. For it was too much her way, involvere sententias Sermonibus imperitis; to darken Counsel by Words without Knowledge, Job 38. 2: or to wrap up Opinions in imprudent Expressions. That is, in plain terms, to misrepresent Truths by forcing wrong meanings upon them; and having corrupted and clouded them by weak gloffes, and erroneous interpretations, to obtrude them upon Men as valuable Mysteries, tho' nothing made them Mysterious but Nonsense. And thus she did not only fallify the precious Dodrines of CHRIST; but by transfusing ill Notions in-

to

to

m ſa

it

be

ty.

in

W

an

of

cia

pu

thi

in the

ječ

41

the

fup

noi

hav

fter

we can

Bei

imp felv to Peoples Minds, perverted their Judgments by vain misperswasions touching the fame.

e.

ef ·

W

ht

ar

n,

e.

Ħ,

De ď

a-

4-es is

er

5-

15

.

y

0

S.

ıt

n

d

.

S

n

d

f

-

0

And truly to call or count the TRINITY it felf areal and deep Mystery; I think would be but to disparage and degrade its Nature. as well as to darken and diminish its Dignity. For notwithstanding its transcendent infinite Excellency, This is its peculiar and wonderful GLORY, that it is still intelligible, and easy to be understood. I grant that much of feigned Obscurity, or of forc'd and artificial Mysteriousness has been imputed to, or put upon it: but what reason is there to think it Mysterious, or to call it so? when in the HOLY Books it is no where so termed, tho' other things are. Should any here object; even you your self make the TRINITY a Mystery. For you say, the Three LIFES there, are all united to that Infinite SPIRIT which is their common Effence; and who can tell HOW that is done? I answer, I do suppose them so united, and that we know not now. But then I add, that for this we have no cause to complain of Religious Mystery, in the Case under consideration, when we know as little of our selves. For who can say how the Triple Life is join'd to our Beings? But the Objection running wholly upon Modes, if ever our Knowledge be fo improv'd, as to discover the Modes in our selves; we may possibly attain to such a Pitch Pitch of Sagacity, as to descry those in the Divine Nature. And so still I stand to what I said; that our own Nature is proportionably as un-intelligible, as that of the most Bleffed GOD, which yet was never call'd a Mystery.

And that the DEITY is very perspicuous, it may be the Gofpel does proclaim. Witness that Aphorism in the 1 St. John 1.5. GOD is Light, and in Him is no Darkness at all. Which as it shews Him absolutely pure from Moral Pollution; fo it may farther point at the clearness of his Being from Mysterious Obscurity. As much as to say, His Divine Nature is fo far from being M_{7} flical, that 'tis rather Transparent as the very Light.

Indeed if we behold Him thro' vain Hypo theses, or conceited Dectrines of Men; which in high things often cast mists before our Eyes; no wonder if we fall into groß Mistakes, and entertain wrong Thoughts or Ideas of Him. But in case we view and wifely confider Him, as he has pleas'd to reveal and describe Himself; looking at His Nature thro' the Glass of Scripture, with the Eye of right Reason, the common Helps given to discern His Excellencies: we shall find no darkness at all in Him. Nothing so cloudy as to hinder us from fair conceptions of Him; but rather fuch clear and quick Apprehensions, as will help us to know Him pro-

Þ

W

w

In

m

no

G M

un

ble

Po

his Ide

äs ftar

Infi

WO

thi wh

prek

Beir Infi

as v cauf

ceiv

bas 1

ceiv

Spe &

an e

t

5,

t-

at

ly

r-

m

y,

7-ry

po

n;

ore

ofs

10

nd

re-

His

he

fo

ons

Aplim proportionably as well in a general way as we usually do even a Man like our selves. For what is GOD but an Infinite Spirit, in which are Three as Infinite LIFES, with all Infinite Divine Perfections which confummate his Infinite Divine Nature? Now is not this as true and adæquate a Notion of GOD, as we can frame of any Ordinary Man? For what is he but a Soul and Body united, in which Finite Being there is a Triple Finite Life, with all Finite Humane Powers and Faculties needful to compleat his Humane Nature? And is not the Idea of GOD then as eafy to be form'd as that of a Man, by tolerable Underfrandings?

Should it be answer'd, no; for GOD is Infinite and so we can't comprehend Him: I would reply thus. To Comprehend, is one thing; to Apprehend, is another. And tho' what is Infinite we can't Comprehend, yet Apprehend it we may. For what is a Finite Being, but a thing limited? Whereas one Infinite, is immense and boundless. But then as we conceive Man naturally Finite, because he has Limits; can't we as well conceive GOD naturally Infinite, because he has none? And is it not alike easy to conceive thus of the One, and the Other respectively? Which yet if we do, we have an equally true Idea of Both.

But it being hinted above upon this Article, that the Image of GOD lies not chiefly in our Triple Life; but principally in somewhat else: it remains to be shew d what that is in which it consists.

That Man particularly and beyond all other Creatures, was created in GOD's own Image, is most certain, as being expressly declar'd, Gen. 1.27. But then it may not be improper to enquire, what that Image of GOD is in configuration to which Man was made. For as the great variety of their Opinions witness, the Learned seem to be at a Loss for it. St. Basil places this Image in Man's Free Will. St. Chrysostom in his Dominion over the Creatures. St. Austin in his Reason. And every of these Fathers have their respective Followers.

The Jews seem to make it up of the Qualities, or Endowments of his Soul, as they are Shadows or Resemblances of the Divine Perfections. Thus as GOD is one, and fills Heaven, and sees others, but is invisible Himself: so it is, say they, with the Soul of Man. It is but one, replenishes the Body, and is seen of none, tho' it beholds others. But upon this Lyra (on Gen. 1. 26.) passes a just Censure; where he says, (x) That assignation of the lemage is too full of Accidents. And when the

Learned

I

i

2)

a

to

ti

V

0

th

te

P

F

ty

le

th

ra

ye

F

en

tu

di

⁽x) Ista assignatio Imaginis videtur nimium acciden-

Learned are so little agreed touching this I-mage, and know not well what to make of it; this makes it suspicious that somewhat more may be meant by it than what is usually understood.

Others again will have the Image of GOD to lie in Man's Innocent and Pure Nature, with his Command of this Sublunary World: and this feems to be the common Opinion.

ti-

fly

mebat

0-wn

de-

be

of

Vas O-

at

in

00-

his

ave

ualey

ine

flls

m.

an.

en

his

re;

I.

he

en.

ed

But then if GOD's Image in Man consisted of Purity and Uprightness; what became of that Image when Adam fell into Sin, and utterly lost it? For then he could not propagate it to others, because he had it not in himself. Yet long after our first Parents Fall, and their forseiture of Original Integrity; they descending from them did nevertheless bear the Image of GOD, S. Ja. 3.9. For the Apostle there speaking of Men in general, calls them Men born after the Image of GOD.

And in case this Image be own'd to lie in Man's Dominion over his fellow Creatures, yet so we may still be wide of the Truth. For that was not only equally, but more eminently in Angels. For they as (y) Scripture attests, and Fathers allow; are Guardians and Princes over Countries, and Nations: and so have Dominion not over other ⁽y) Dan. 10. 13. & 20. 21.

Creatures only, but over Men themselves. And then when GOD made Man, and indu'd him with that privilege, He therein could do no more than He had done already for Angels; which likewise may be said as to their Spiritual Nature, and Excellencies. Yet that making Man in His own Image, was a thing new, and extraordinary; and a special or peculiar Favour: is intimated by what he spake when he set about it; let us make Man in our Image, after our Likeness. And why should GOD deliberate (let me say) or confult about this as a strange Work not yet effected; if he had before done it in making higher Creatures? This may imply therefore that Man was made like GOD, in quite another way than Angels were. And besides being like Him in that fair instance of Similitude noted, as he has a Triple Life in him, answerable to the Three Vitalities in the DEITY; he might resemble Him in his corporeal Shape, or Figure too.

That he is like GOD in Soul, or Mind we need not doubt. For as what Philo says of the Mind of Man is true; that 'tis (a) a Divine Particle: so what he speaks in another place is as certain; that GOD is (b) the Archetype of rational Nature, of which

(a) 'Aπίσπασμα θείο. Lib. de Somn.

th

Sa

A

ar

u

in

b

m

to

So

W

n

a

F

ſ

u

a

C

6

⁽b) 'Aexerunov quoses royings. Quod deter, potion ď

ld

10

to et

a

ial

he

an

by

n-

ng

re-

ite

les

ni-

m,

he

or.

we

of 0.

6)

ch

-

or.

П

Man is (c) the Likeness or Resemblance. But then besides that Man resembles GOD in his Soul, he may do it in his Body likewise. Else Angels are as much Types of GOD as H2. and have his Likeness more perfectly stampt upon them; and therefore to bear his Image in a more peculiar way (as feems to have been consulted and agreed;) he must do it Bodily. And tho' that supposes GOD to wear a Body, yet the Dispensation may be very trut, how ftrange soever it may seem to any. For my own part I appeal to Reafon, and to the Judicious (who as they are greatest Masters of it, so can use it best) whether those words, let us make Man in our Image; do not, and must not import as much; if we rightly observe how they run, and thro'ly understand, what they mean. For the Divine Three here concern'd, do not fay, let us make Man like our selves; but let us make Man in our Image. Now should I ask, what is GOD? I prefume it would be answer'd, He is a SPIRIT, and an infinite But then pray, what Image can an infinite Spirit have? Yet as we find in Gen. 1. 27. GOD created Man in Dis own Image; and to ascertain the Favour, he repeats it, in the Image of GDD created He him. But then Man being created in the Image of GOD, and GOD as an immense Spirit being incapable of any natural Image; it is necessary that he should have an ascititions and bo.

⁽c) Miunua n' ensinovioua. Ib.

F

i

1: 7 t

ľ

dily one.

And truly no less seems to be signified by Himself, in the Words noted and repeated: let us make Man in our Image, after our Like-Not only כדמותנו after our Likeness, which may refer to Likeness Spiritual and Moral; and so is render'd by the Seventy, καθ' δμοίωσιν, after our Resemblance; and by the Vulgar, ad Similitudinem, after our Similitude: but בצלמנו in our Image, (which as all must grant who know any thing of the Hebrew Tongue) implies a Bootly Likeness. And therefore when Adam begat Seth, he is faid to beget him נדמותו after his Likeness as to his Soul; but בצלמו in his Image too, as to his Body. A very clear tho' tacit intimation, that when GOD formed Adam, however he might make his Soul after his Spiritual Likeness; yet his Body was made in his own corporeal Image. And accordingly Iselem, the Word which GOD makes use of to express his Image; is us'd for the Molten Images of the Gentiles, Numb. 33, 52. And for the Images of Baal. 2 King. 11. 18. And for Nebuchadnezzar's Golden Image, Dan. 3. 5. Some indeed would have Iselem fignify a Shadow, and so would make the Image of GOD in Man to be umbratilis, a shadowy one; and so Man is said to walk, Betselem, in a Shadow, Psal. 39. 7. But where

y

e-

d

y,

y

1-

ch

he

S.

is ess

0,

i-

m,

is

de

gfe

pl.

2.

8.

e, m he

a !k,

ut

re

where 'tis us'd in that fense, as the learned Schindler well observes, it is in way of Metonymy; and so the word is drawn from its proper to a figurative Signification. Let me add, that in the 20th of Exodus, where Pesel is us'd for a Graven Image forbidden in the Second Commandment; the Targum calls it Iselem, whereby GOD speaks his Image in Man; which farther intimates that to be And therefore the Septuagint translates it Eikon, which, fays Scapula, fignisses the Semblance, or Essiglies, proptie rei corporex, properly of a corporeal thing: and for it quotes Æschylus, Socrates, Plutarch, and others. And accordingly the Word in the Vulgar, is Imago, an Image. Which Martinius [in vocabul. Similitudo] will have to consist of proper Lineaments which have no place but in what is Bodily again. For as linear Features must be express'd in what is Corporeal; so without Body nothing can be a true Image, according to his Notion.

But then that Man might be made in the Image of GOD, he must be fashion'd after the Shape or Figure of that Body which GOD had been pleas'd to take to Himself. Tho' that He should assume a Body, none need wonder in the least, there being so very good reason for it. For as it was highly reasonable that He who made the World should Govern it; so in favour to the noblest blest Creatures, I mean the Angels, who were first in it, and withal, innumerable; he might think it reasonable to govern them with a visible Hand. For then his Regiment would be the more easy and familiar. because so his Subjects might not only see. but humbly converse with their Almighty Ru-Upon this account therefore GOD from the beginning might chuse to actuate a Body. And He affuming a Body, there would be GOD in a Corporeal Image. And then making Man after that in his own Image, was making him in the Form of his affumed Body: of that Body he took to appear and act in as the great Monarch, or Supreme Head and Governour of the Spiritual World. And fo that Body of his must needs be of the fame Figure with ours; because ours was made conform to His. And by virtue of it he must be much the fitter to Command the World of Spirits, as being visible to them over whom he was ever to prefide; which otherwise he could not have been.

74 An Antidote against Arianism.

But when I say GOD was pleas'd to take and mear an Image; I mean that every of the Three Glorious PERSONS did, and do the same: and the Words that presac'd Man's Formation, insinuate or imply as much. For (as has been said) they were these; let us make Man after our Image. Where note, that they were spoken by Elohim; as if the Holy Three utter'd them. And then what

Image

0 le

m

i-

r,

1-

d

e,

d

d le

1.

e

S

Image one had, the other two must have the like; for had any one of them been without an Image, or had he worn a different one: how could they have faid truly, let us make Man after our Image? or how could they have possibly done it? Suppose three Men should say, let us make a Statue after our Shape; would not the Expression strictly, and strongly import, that all the Three had the humane Likeness? and consequently that the Statue must be made according to it? And why then should not the Clause aforefaid as plainly imply, that the Divine Three must have an Image according to which Man was to be form'd? And as the Statue made in the one case, must bear the Image of Man: so the Man made in the other case, must bear the Image of GOD.

And that the Holy Three have each of them an Image in humane Figure, symbolically representing their adorable selves: I shall endeavour to make out.

And first, touching the FATHER: That He has fuch an Image, may be gather'd from Exod. 33. 22, 23. And it shall come to pass. while my Glory passeth by, that I will put thee in a clift of the Rock; and will cover thee with my hand while I pass by. And I will take away my band, and thou shalt see my back-parts; but my Face shall not be seen. The Words are an Answer to Moses his Petition at the 18th verse:

18th verse: I beseech Thee, show me Thy Glory. Which GOD having promis'd to do. He here declares how it should be done. Particularly He informs him, that his Glory should pass by him. Not his Essence or Being; for as Moses did not desire to see that. fo it is Invisible; and withal being Infinite. and fo every where, it could not possibly pass before him, as being incapable (thro' its Ubiquitariness) of moving from place to place. The thing therefore that Moses befought GOD to shew him, was his Glory. Corpoream aliquam excellentem formam, faid the learned Rivet: Some corporeal excellent Form. He might as well have faid. His Body. And that he has one, is manifest from the words cited. For they mention his Back parts, which were feen; and his Face, which was not to be feen; and his Hand, which was so to cover Moses, as that the one might be feen, and not the other. Not that GOD was unwilling to shew Moses his Face, but the Sight of it would have been fatal to his Life. The very reason GOD gave for his not seeing it, v. 20. Thou canst not see my Face, for no Man shall see my Face and live. For were a bad Man to see it, the Glory of it, to him would be so terrible, as to fright him to Death. And were a good Man to fee it, it would fo influence his Soul, as delightfully to exhale it (let me fay) out of his Body, by its ravishing and overpowering Shape?

0-

0,

r-

ry

e-

t,

e, ly

0,

O

e-

y.

d zt

is

ft

n

is

is

t

5 n

ŧ

And do we not learn as much from Exod. 24. 10? For there it is faid of Moses, and Aaron, Nadab, and Abibu, and Seventy of the lewish Elders; that they fam the GOD of Ifrael: and that there was under his Feet, as it were the Body of Heaven in clearness. I confess the Samaritan Version renders it, they the ir יראו the GOD of Ifrael : as if יראו the Word for, faw there, had come from ir be bath feared. But then in the following verse, it is said again of those Nobles, that they faw GOD; and the Word there being it puts it past all manner of doubt, that they did see GOD: for the proper Signification of aim is, he hath feen. But then this plainly shews that he must have a Celestial Body; for as his naked Effence never was, fo it never can be feen. And therefore where he proclaims himself Eternal, and Immortal; He declares as positively and expressly that He is Invisible, I Tim. I. 17. Tho' if he had not so declar'd, his Spiritual Nature would have dictated the same, to every intelligent philosophick Mind. I must also note, that the GOD of Ifrael whom they faw, is there said to have Feet; which does not only argue he has a Body, but that his Body may still be shap'd like ours, by virvirtue of another Feature common to

Memorable it is also to the present purpose, what GOD said of Moses, Num. 12.8, With him will I speak Mouth to Mouth, even apparently, and the Similitude of the LORD shall he behold. Where, as it was GOD Himself (we are affur d) who would speak to Moses so openly, even mouth to mouth, (as a Man speaketh to his Friend, Exod. 33. 11.) and would appear to him fo plainly, that he should behold his Similitude. so the סר or Similitude, or Image of Him which he was to behold, must be his heavenly Body; which doubtless was exceeding bright and glorious. And therefore the Seventy call it Digar KYPIOT, the Glory of the LORD. Yet that Glory was not fo radiant neither, as to have its Shape made indifcernible by its glittering fplendor. For notwithstanding its lucid shining Clarity, a distinct Form, and even an humane Figure might be seen in it. And therefore Menochius upon the place, calls it (a) GOD in a Corporal Image, or Form; which Form was the humane Image of CHRIST to come. He might as well have faid, it was GOD Himfelf in humane Likeness. And that it was not a Symbolical Type, or fome confused lumino Re

Vi

te

D

W

Sa

Re

fo

th

lo

G

R

fta

th fii d lil

ge

of

pa

A

er

gl

fo

⁽a) DEUM in specie corporali, quæ species (ut verisimillimum est) erat humana CHRISTI venturi Imago.

d

12

D

k

6,

3.

7,

e

h

7-ıt

e t

2 é

.

nous Scheme; nor yet an Angelical stately Reprefentation, but GOD in Person: the Vulgar Translation offers to perswade, as it terms the apparent Image there, Figuras Dominum, the Shapes, or Features which were the LORD.

I only add. That as we read often in the Sacred Books, of CHRIST's sitting, standing at GOD's Right Hand in Heaven; fo the bleffed Proto-Martyr Stephen law Him there in the latter Posture, Act. 7. 55. For looking up stedfastly into Heaven, he saw the Glory of GOD, and JESUS standing on the Right Hand of GOD. Now as CHRIST's standing at GOD's Right Hand, evinceth that He has a Right Hand; so that suppofing a Left, both imply that the Glorious Body of GOD the FATHER must be the more like ours. From what more immediately goes before, three things may here be obferv'd.

Ift. That GOD's Image is his Body. For a naked Spirit, being invisible, can be feen of none, in any Similitude, nor can it ever put on Shape or Figure.

2dly. That His Body is His visible Glory. And therefore when he gave Mofes a transient Sight of his Body's Back-parts, he is said to shew him his Glory.

3dly. That the Face of GOD's Body is too glorious to be feen by Mortals. And therefore tho' GOD promis'd to shew Moses his Glory, yet to him he could exhibit his Body's Back-parts only. To have shew'd him his Face would have cost him his Life. And tho' that to Moses could have been no Injury, yet GOD having Work for him to do on Earth, he was here to continue till that was consummate.

And that GOD the SON had a Body from the Beginning, and long before his Incarnation; we have cause to think. For according to the learned Jews, was one of those things which were before the World. And therefore JEHOVAH is said to possess Him in the beginning of his may, before his works of old, Prov. 8. 22. And in the next verse he proclaims of himself, I was set up from everlasting, from the Beginning, or ever the Earth was.

And as he was in being thus early; so he was deeply concern'd, and very active in Humane Affairs all along, as Tertullian represents. For he affirms plainly, (a) The SON it is who judged from the beginning, breaking down the proudest Tower, dividing the Tongues, ruining the whole World by the violence of Waters, raining fire and brimstone upon Sodom

do

fr

M

to fp

pb

fire

Ap

An

der

fay

du

Por Fen

TITL

in

LO

pre-

be 1

the

to t be to did

gur

tull

⁽a) Filius est qui ab initio judicavit, Turrim superbissimam elidens, linguasque dispertiens, pluens super Sodomam & Gomorrom Ignem & Sulphurem; Dominus a Domino. Ipse enim & ad humana Colloquia descendit; ab Alamo usq; ad Patriarchas & Prophetas, Go. Lib. Cont. Prox. cap. 16.

m

d

1-

n

25 m

a.

d-ne of

d.

S

is

xt

up

er

10

in e-

he

g,

he ece

0.

am

Go-

ri.

m

dom and Gomorrah, the LORD from the LORD. He also came down to talk with Men, from Adam even to the Patriarchs and Prophets, in Vision, in Dream, in Appearance, in Mystery, always from the beginning making way to the state of his which he was to prosecute to the end.

And before him Justin Martyr deliver'd the same things almost: declaring that he spake to the Fathers of old, and to the Prophets, and appeared to Moses in the form of fire in the Bush, and the like; in his second Apology, and in his Dialogue with Trypho &c. And that Origen was of the same mind is evident. For in his first Book against Celfus, he favs. that CHRIST Tominy oppice in Hominais Suripeoi, by multiform Wisdom, and various Powers, did first institute Tov Iso anywor, the Jewish Religion, metà d'autor tor Xpisianous, and after that the Christian it felf. But in ferting up the Jewish Worthip our Bleffed LORD could have had no hand, untels He pre-existed. Nor indeed could the Israelites be properly faid to have tempted CHRIST in the Wilderness; which yet is expresly laid to their charge, 1 Cor. 10.9: and fo must berry cloves Longues, Sur be

But then as CHRIST pre-existed a great while before he was incurnate; so that he did it for us, and in a Body like ours in Figure; we need not doubt, in case what Tertullian says be Truth. For speaking of Man's G

Formation after the Image of GOD, he fays; erat autem ad cujus imaginem facie. bat; he was like to him after whose Image he made him: ad Filii scilicet, that is, to the SON's. Which plainly implies that when Man was made, the SON of GOD did wear an bumane Likeness, as well as the FATHER: tho' afterwards it was to be more gross and visible. For as it there follows. He was to be homo certior & verior ; a more manifest and truer Man. And so indeed he was, when he was made flesh. Which as it was spoken by the SPIRIT, fo allow that when He overshadow'd the blessed Virgin, He converted the Messiah's pre-existent Body into his Carnal one in her Womb; and then the Phrase will be more emphatically true in a stricter propriety. And as he long since took our Flesh upon him, so he will never perhaps put it off again; and confequently in the Heavens above. He will always appear in more than our Image.

And lastly, that the HOLY GHOST does, and ever will bear our Likeness above; we may reasonably believe. For in other Similitudes, and in meaner ones he has appear'd. As in that of siery cloven Tongues, Acts 2. And in that of a Dove. Touching which, besides that the three other Evangelists affirm, that He descended upon JESUS at his Baptism like a Dove; and testify that John the Baptist saw Him do it: St. Luke declares that

8

21

th

E

re

R

by

te

yi

ter

hi

Spi

An

flor

fer

cau

the

VI(

(a) (b) (c) (d)

Domi

that He descended σωματικώ είδει (a) in a Boofip Shape like a Dove upon Him. And accordingly (b) St. Austin owns that the HOLY SPIRIT fat upon his head in specie Columbæ, in the Shape of a Dove. (c) Origen also mentions the HOLY SPIRIT's appearing en Eider megisteas: in the Shape of Dove, more than once. And before him another Father, Tertullian, averr'd, that (d) the SPIRIT which descended in the Body of a Doverested upon the LORD. And indeed was ready to maintain that this Dove was hypoflatically one with the Bleffed SPIRIT; left by granting its Body to have been but counterfeit and representative; he must have yielded CHRIST's Flesh to have been no better. And before them all Justin Martyr in his Dialogue with Trypho, speaks (e) of the Spirit that came down in the Shape of a Dove. And affirms the HOLY GHOST to have (f) flown upon HIM, meaning CHRIST. I infert these Authorities here the rather, because I find the great Dr. Hammond against the SPIRIT's visible Descent upon our SA-VIOUR.

e.

he he

en

ar

R:

ind

to fest

hen

po-

He

on-

into

the

in a ook per-

y in

pear

loes,

we

Simi-

ear'd. ts 2. hich,

ts af-

t his

Fobn

clares

that

⁽a) Lu. 3. 22.

⁽b) De Agon, Christian. cap. 22.

⁽c) Cont. Celf. li. i.

⁽d) SPIRITUM Columba Corpore delapfum desedifie super Dominum. De Carn. Christ Cap. 3.

⁽e) Te treadort er ader regresas Treinat .

⁽f) Eminférai en 'Aurby:

But farther yet. The same Good SPIRIT has manifelted his valt Kindness and Esteem for us, in bestowing his Heavenly Graces, and excellent Gifts upon us, And which still comes nearer to the case in hand, he calls our very Bodies (these vile Bodies) his Temples; and he makes them fo, and dwells in them as fuch by his special Presence. All which rightly consider'd, we need not queftion, but He, as well as the other Two Divinest PERSONS, does now, and will fore. ver Grace us by wearing a Body, a most Glorious Body of the Form of ours, in the Kingdom of Heaven. But then the Body of Man being Originally made like Theirs; Man must be made in the Image of GOD. The thing I was to shew it enoted but A

t

ti

q

W

fe

in

M

bi

gr

of

as

hi

by par

M:

it.

And that Man's Body was made after the fashion or Figure of GOD's; several Reasons, or Confiderations may prompt us to think. As ABO 2010

How read we there, Gen 1. 27? GOD created Man in his own Image, in the Image of GOD created He him. Where as the Image of GOD is twice exprest, so the Original Word Iselem, us'd both times for it, fairly points at a Bodily Image, as was observed. And truly the ingeminated Assertion of the thing implies it the more strongly. And well it may; for as Imago rei non est res ipsi; the Image of a thing is not the thing it self;

IT

em

ces,

ich

he

his ells

All

ué-

ivi-

re-

flor

the

of of

rs;

D.

the

lea-

to ure.

rea.

e of age

inal

irly

v'd.

the well

ofi;

elf;

fo

to it is remarkable that GOD did not fav, let us make Man as we our selves are : but let us make Man in our Image, after our Likeness. Nor did he make him in any Natural Image of his own because he had none. For GOD being an infinite SPIRIT he could have no regular external Form in himfelf, no manner of fet Figure or Similitude at all. And therefore Man for certain could not be made in the Image of GOD's Effence. For his naked abstracted Being can no more be represented, than there can be a visible Invisibility; or than a Mind, or Thought, or the finest Notion can be painted or carv'd. And confequently Man could not be made after GOD's Effence, but only according to that Image which he was pleas'd to take unto Himfelf.

And does not the account we have of Man's Formation hint as much? For it being refolv'd by the Almighty Creator, that Man should be made in his Image, and after his Likeness; how did he proceed in that great (and to us important) Work? It is faid, Gen. 2. 7. The LORD GOD formed Man of the Dust of the Ground. Where note, that as Man was made half of Dust, that half of him was fo confiderable as to be stiled Man by his Creator, and so of necessity must bear part of his Image at least; else one half of Man's Compositum or Person must be without it. Tho' fo far as GOD's Image is born by

G 3

that.

that, it must be corporeal, it being capable of no other. But when of the low Material Dust, GOD had fram'd and fashioned the Bod, of Man, in all its Parts, and Organs, and Features; then He breathed into his Nostrils the Breath of Life: that is, his Soul, But she being a SPIRIT, and capable of no Figure, could bear no figurative Image of GOD; which therefore must still rest upon his Body. And so Man's Body must be made after GOD's; after that Bady which He thought sit to put on, and appear in to his Creatures.

adly. It excuses the HOLY GHOST from vain Repetitions. Whereas otherwise He must speak the same thing in two Synonymous Words, and so one must be supersuous. But if we allow, after our Likeness, to express Man's Spiritual, and Moral Resemblance of GOD; and in our smage, to express the Representation of his chosen Shape or Bodily Figure; both the terms will be proper, and of useful Signification. But unless we admit that, we must own the SPIRIT useth Tautology: which without indecency we can't impute to Him, especially in sovery compendious an account as that of the Cosmopwia, or Creation is.

Yet the better to clear up what here is faid, let me subjoin. That Image, and Similitude are not Terms convertible. They signify different things. For the every

Image

In

is

So

Si

bu

or ye

(a

hi

fea

Od

of

pa

of

ftr

th ou

tra

th

th w

W

hi

pa de

Pr

an

tu G

H

of ial

he ns,

Vo-

ul.

no

of

on

He his om

He

ny-

ous.

ex-

em-

ex-

ape be un-

CY

vethe

Si-

hey

ery

1498

Image is a Similitude, yet every Similitude is not an Image. And therefore the the Soul of Man might very well bear GOD's Similitude; which she really does if she be but qualitercunq; similis, like Him any way or manner; (as she is in several respects:) yet Iselem, importing GOD's corporeal Image (as has been suggested) that can be only in his Body; and there it may be properly seated.

3dly. It gives a most probable Account of the Occasion of the Angels Fall. For when they faw fo mean a Creature as Man (made half of Dust) advanc'd to so high a Privilege as partaking of GOD's Image by wearing a Body of the same Figure with His; this might strangely shock and disturb them. For thus they faw him stampt with the most illustrious Signature; and crown'd with the most transcendent Glory which in the Form of their Being they could aspire to. And when they beheld One so inferior to themselves. whose Body was wholly from the Earth, and whose abode was to be upon it; raised so high in the Divine Favour; and themselves pass'd by who were of a much superior Order, and would have triumph'd in that rare Prerogative: this might move them to proud and scornfull Envy at their Fellow Creature; and perhaps to unworthy Thoughts of GOD, if not to rebellious Carriage against Him. And then no wonder that their fink-

G 4

ing

ing deep in fuch hainous Sins, should be the cause of their woful Ruin.

4thly. It notably explains and inforces the Reason, which GOD Himself gives for the Punishment of wilful Murder. As the Crime is horrid, so the Punishment of it is heavy; no less than Capital by the irreversible Law of Heaven. He that sheddeth Man's Blood, by Man shall his Blood be shed, Gen. 6. 9. And why? the reason follows: for in the Image of GOD made be Man. So that if the Body of Man bears the Image of GOD; the Reafon why a Murderer should die, is close, and clear, and very ftrong as well as just. For then by shedding Man's Blood he kills his Body; and by killing his Body, he directly and literally destroys GOD's Image. And he that does that, can't but greatly deserve to die; the Fact being no less than High Treason against the KING of Kings; as clipping, or melting down his Coin, is against an earthly Prince. To which Ignatius prettily alludes, where he calls Man Nous μ2 υπο ΘΕΟΥ γαραχθέν: Money coin d by GOD; as being stampt with His Image. But now supposing GOD's Image to be only in the Soul, and in Dominion over the Creatures, according to the common Hypothesis; (and in Man's Bod, it can no more be seated by that, than a King's Power can be in his Garment) how obscure and flat would this Reafon for punishing Murder be? For then as

the

I

the Soul is Immortal and not to be Kill'd; fo GOD's Image would be Immaterial, and not to be Defac'd. And so as the Reason for the Murderer's Death would be less natural and evident; its explication would be more Difficult, and its force so very low and landing the second se guid as to be of no Validity.

he

the

is no

of

by

nd

ge

ody

ea-

nd

or

his

tly

Ind

rve

igh

lip-

inst

ret-

11.2

D;

OW

the

res,

and

by

ar-

lea-

the

Nay, the truth is, if GOD's Image be only in the Soul, destroying that Image can be no reason at all for executing a good Man's Murderer. For his Soul dismiss'd from its Body, ascends directly to the higher State, where she shall be more like God than ever. And then to put him to death for destroying GOD's Image, when he was really instrumental to improving it; would be very incongruous if not unjust.

of mors in that Angels received not morship from Men before the Incarnation. That they did do so has been commonly thought, and Divines have been somewhat put to it to find out folid Reasons for it. But in all likelihood the Opinion was erroneous, and the Mistake arose from hence. As the Apparition of Angels in former times was pretty frequent; so when one Angel appeard alone, and would not, or did not discover his Name; it might be the Messah, or the Angel of the Covenant in Humane Shape. And if He appeard never so often, and were as oft ador'd, there could be no Fault or Sin in that. And when more Angels appeared with Him, He being still the Chief. the Adorations might be accepted and approved as paid to Him only, to whom alone they were due. And however Men might direct their Adorations to Angels in CHRIST's Presence, they did never allow them to terminate on themselves; and had not the Messiah been amongst them, they would certainly have rejected them. pregnant instance of as much we have in Apoc. 19. 10. and 22. 9. where St. John falling down at an Angel's Feet to worship Him, he forbad him strictly, dea wh &c. See thou do it not: and then directed that he would adore Him that is, always was, and ever shall be the fole meet Object of religious Veneration; worship GOD.

t

h

v

0

6 0 fi

ti

n

a

ci

el

in

h tu

to

Lastly. It fairly interprets those Texts of Scripture, which attribute humane Parts to the ALMIGHTY. That (as we have understood) was ever done ανθεωποπαθώς, in way of condescension to our weakness. And so in an allusive manner, or figurative sense only we took GOD to have Face, Eyes, Arms, Hands, Feet, &c. But according to the Notion I am now upon, the Texts speaking thus, and relating to GOD; will be literally true, and need not be thought Metaphorical in the leaft.

And besides taking off the harshness of Scripture Passages, by restoring them to their proper Meaning, this will clear Anthropomorphites phites from their reputed Errors. And tho' they were condemn'd for Hereticks because they attributed humane Shape to GOD: yet what they faid of Him that way, will thus appear to be Sound and Orthodox. For as GOD the SON did not only appear in an humane Body, but was incarnate, born, lived, and died in the same; and after it was dead, and bury'd, resum'd and rose with it on the third Day: so it is manifest, that GOD the FATHER wears a glorious Body of the humane Shape. Let none therefore so mistake the Notion I am upon, or offer to misrepresent it; as to think, or say, that I suppose the FATHER was Personally joined to a Body. Tho' that were never done, he might yet appear in a Bodily Shape, when, and where, and how he pleased. For making a corporeal Appearance a Symbol of his Special Presence; and affuming a Body, into hypostatical Union with Himself (as His eternal SON did our Nature;) are Difpenlations vastly different, and so the one can't imply the other.

These are a Specimen of those Reasons which may incline us to think that the Body of Man was Originally made after the Image of GOD: after that corporeal Image of his which He chose to represent Himself to his Creatures in, and according to the Features and Lineaments of which he was pleas'd to form Adam's, and consequently And to fashion ours.

n

of ٧

0

1-

s,

)-

f

ir

And here let me add, which must be matter of high Satisfaction to the Good, that all who are fo, shall rife at last with Bodies in that Image, or of that Figure; and shall retain the same for ever. So we are affur'd, I Cor. 15. 49. As we have born the Image of the Earthly, we shall bear the Image of the Heavenly Adam. And besides that Image imports Body, a Bodily Image must there be meant, because the Chapter runs upon the Body's Resurrection so much, and upon clearing it up Now the Image of the first Adam the Protoplast, we carry sufficiently in its Figure; and therefore the Image of the second Adam CHRIST, we may hope to bear as fully in that respect. Nay, we may boldly expect that a most valuable Addition shall be made to it. For our Dear LORD has exprefly promis'd, that our vile Body, by His Almighty Power shall be fashion'd like to 1015 Slogious Body, Phil. 3. 21. Like to it, that is, not in Figure only, but also in Splender: and therefore fays the Interlineary Gloss, affimilabimur Corpori Illius in claritate quam habuit in Transfiguratione: We shall be made like to His Body in the Brightness which it had at the Transfiguration. And then as we read, St. Mat. 17. 2. His Face did Shine as the And thould any enquire, when shall we be thus Glorious? I answer, the Time when this shall be, is pointed at directly, Act. 3. 19. when xareof avalugeus, the times tu

e

bo

th

Si

m u

he

D

an fta

w kn

wi

th

ve

ma

fay

of Re-animation come, or the time for reducing Souls into their Bodies to reinliven them. Then, in that very juncture it is, that all pure and holy Souls shall put on eternally glorious Bodies, in figure like to GOD's own Body.

But from the Image of GOD wherewith Man is graced, these two short Inferences naturally refult.

16

7-

771

bi

as

ly

be χ.

19

15

at

:

f-

m

de ad

d,

be 11

ne

es of expecting to do it in fairer Measures for ever; bow should we be pleas'd with the thoughts of that Privilege we now injoy; and with expediation of its approaching endless Improvements. Surely the Royal Prophet did so, which made him exclaim (and perhaps with Exultancy). I shall be satisfy'd when I awake Truan with thine Image, Psal. 17. ult. When he shall awake, that is, and rise from the Dead, with a glorious Body conform to GOD's. And so the first Inserence looks forward with a chearful air.

But the Second has a retrospect as low'ring and melancholy. When our first Parents apostatiz'd from GOD, what a dismal aggravation was this of their Guilt? For in case they knew that GOD had adorn'd their Bodies with his Image, what horrid Baseness must there be in their Sin? Yet know it they very well might. For when this World was made, as WISDOM, or the SON of GOD says, that He rejoiced in the habitable Parts of the Earth, and had his delights with the SONS of Men, Prov. 8.31: fo we need not question, but he took singular delight in our first Parents when they were innocent. And when GOD constantly walked in Paradise in the cool of the Day, Gen. 3.8; it might be to solace Himself with that new made, and new married Couple, as spotless, as on Earth they were peerless. And which soever of the HOLY THREE conversed with them in His Bodily Form, they might foon perceive and easily observe, that their own Bodies were like to His. And when they thus discern'd themselves so gloriously distinguisht from other Creatures, and by that Distinction fo exalted above them; this could not but mightily inhance their Trespass. Olet us make that Image of GOD which aggravated, their Sin; a Guard and Fence, or Bulwark against ours: I mean by making us to live the more purely.

n

21

21

n

V

al

k

el

C

A

h ir

d

G

A

I now conclude the long Exposition of this Article with the following Observation. That GOD in Moses his time, and ever since, did always afford his special Presence to his Church on Earth, in some visible Sign, or Token of it. Not but that He might at all times be so present to his Church before. For when Cain withdrew from the Church, it is said, Gen. 4. 16. Lat he went out from the Dictence of the LORD. Which may intimate, that he remov'd from that place where where GOD did visibly manifest his Residence. And one clear instance of that Manifestation, might be the Fire from Heaven, which seems to have descended very constantly to consume all Oblations of that Nature which GOD accepted. And therefore when Cain and Abel brought their respective Offerings, and the celestial Flame devour'd the one, but never touch'd the other; this made it evident which was approved, and which was not. And that this lively Token of the Divine Presence so solemnly discriminative, did not continue to the End of that World, and reach to the next; who can say?

n

d

n

-

13 ht

į.

ot

et

0

of

n.

е,

15

9.

es

10

is

be

i-

ce

But whether that were so or not, this we know; that after Moses had conducted Israel out of Egypt into the Wilderness: there they had the Symbols of GOD's Presence with them openly. That is, the Pillar of a Cloud by Day; and a Pillar of Fire by Night. And when they fettled in the Promis'd Land, as they had the Symbols of, the fame GOD's Presence in the Tabernacle; so when Solomon had built his Temple, he remov'd the ARK into the holiest Place of it, when that was dedicated. And then as we find in 1 Kin.8. A Cloud filled the House. And that Cloud was a glorious one too, for by reason of its Glory the Priests could not stand to minifter there. And so what could that be but a stately Magazaous, or Representation of GOD

GOD the FATHER? For as (a) Fofephus relates, when that Cloud fell into the San. chuary, every Man presently thought, and was confirm'd in his Opinion that GOD came down into it to dwell there. And, indeed what properer Tmorumwais, or more apposit Emblem of his adorable MAJESTY could there be in that Juncture? For as the Church was then under the Mosaick Dispensation which consisted mainly of Types and Shadows, and in its constitution was cloudy and obscure: so that the Token of His Presence with the Jews, might correspond to the Quality of their Worship; between the Cherubim in their Temple he dwelt in the Likeness of a Cloud, to the end of their Polity.

But then if by such a Shechinah, or Habitation (which is commonly render d THE DIVINITY IT SELF, and often in the Targum, the MAJESTICK PRESENCE) GOD the FATHER did dwell symbolically upon Earth: why may he not exhibit Himself answerably in Heaven, where He most especially relides?

And as to the Jews, a Cloud in their Temple was the Token of GOD's special Presence; so to us Christians he gave his only SON, Who being incarnate in our Flesh dwelt a-

b

fr

th

ar

de

fit

th

th

w

an

CO

fo

be

Cre

not

ver

the

a g wel of t ther

ly to nua

Cou

ver

then casio

our ed 1 State

⁽a) Antiq. fi. 8. cap. 2.

bove thirty Years upon Earth. And when from hence He ascended to Heaven, he left the Sacramental Symbols behind Him; which are not only Indications of the Divine Residence with us; but also Signs of great benefits, and means or instruments of conveighing them to us. And when the Great GOD thus condescends to us in this Present State; why may he not do the like in the Future; and dwell there in some Form, not only conspicuous, but exceeding Glorious, and fo agreeable to Himfelf?

d

n

'n

le

d

i-

n

1į.

1.

;

١,

1-

re

And truly for His doing fo, there feems to be good reason; for otherwise none of his Creatures can ever see Him. And would it not be a very damping thought, even in Heaven it felf, that we should never, never see the GOD who brought us thither. Suppose a good Father had bred up his Children well, and besides being tender and carefull of them, had made so ample Provision for them, as that they might live most splendidly together. Now should they dwell continually where this Father is (in the same Court, allowing him to be a King;) and never see him: would it not be a fore grief to them? But then what sadness might it occasion us above, to think we should never see our Heavenly FATHER there, who exalted us to the Glories and Felicities of that State ?

fc

W

B

fi

fo

it

be pe

fec

fw

C21

tha

his

fo

Fig

Na

ftar

as

our

Sou

Joy

01

25

con

Should it be demanded, what would it avail us to fee GOD in a Body, when by that, we should discern never the more of His SPIRIT, or Effence? I might answer: Pray, what do Children see more than the Bodies of their best Parents here? Yet what fingular satisfaction results from their seeing and converfing with them? And the very same, tho' of an higher Nature, and in better Measures shall they perceive in the Celefial Mansions, who there behold GOD in His glorious Body. Tho' indeed were he not in a Body, He could not be feen of us at all. Nor of any Angels neither; Tho we know what the Learned teach. Namely, that naked Spirits may not only fee one another, but by Intuition can mutually understand each others Minds. A pretty No. tion of the Schools, and of the right and genuine Strain for odd Extravagances.

But I must note farther. That the Saints shall see GOD in the Regions above, is so far believ'd, that the Blessedness there is grounded upon, and is thought to proceed from that glorious Sight; and therefore its call'd the Beatisick Vision. But then GOD being a SPIRIT, and so innisible; to raise our Beatitude he will show himself to us above in some magnificent Appearance. But then that Appearance being to be seen, as it must be visible, so its Visibility speaks steen poreal, and that again supposes it to be of some

of

ne

at

ng

Ty

etele-

in

he us

bo

me-

one

un-No.

ge-

aints

is fo

re is

ceed e 'tis GOD raile us a-But as it

it core of Come some Shape. And then if any one Image would be more conducive to the Saints future Bliss, and perfective of it than another; (confidering GOD's wonderful love and value for Mankind) we may reasonably conclude it should certainly be that. And then it must bethe Humane Figure, that being most proper and useful to render the Saints most Blesfed for ever. For whence can higher and fweeter Blis flow in at our Eyes? and what can possibly be more taking and ravishing than for us to behold GOD in our Form, in hisown Kingdom for ever? Especially when fo long as the FATHER dwells there in our Figure; his Eternal SON shall do it in our Nature. And this Image of GOD's being a standing Mark of high Honour to us, and of as fignal Favour and Dignity from Dim; our free beholding it must needs fill our Souls, with the most exquisitely delicious Joys and Pleasures that they are capable of. O bleffed Spectators that may gaze upon it as they please, with Eyes suited to its in-conceivable Glories!

OGO gared He yell H 2 me Called AR-do le in reference to the PFR SONS frank Sufficient is Consuste Andrew at les i the year, as boing attent contract bid from ne

ARTICLE VI.

W

th

th Ca

tha

tra

on

Tr

fibl

the

infi

Exi

wit

Cre

as a litio

who

ask,

WOU

GOI

ver

may mini

as re

from

Chris

The FATHER Uncreate, the SON Uncreate, and the HOLY. GHOST Uncreate.

EXPOSITION.

The Writer of this Creed having plainly and pioufly set forth the HOLY TRINITY in UNITY; the Three PERSONS in the GODHEAD; their equal GLORY and MAJESTY; with the IDENTITY of their Nature: instead of insisting at all nicely on the way or manner of their subsisting in the DEITY (where Divine Modes are unsearchable:) he wisely goes next upon certain Astributes common to them all, and of mighty force to prove their DIVINITY.

And here he makes a discreet choice of Four Properties, which shew Their Independence, Immensity, Eternity, and Omnipotence. Which being High and Mighty Attributes, do best exhibit their absolute Sovereignty, and incomparable Excellency.

The First Attribute is Uncreate. And well might that lead the van, as being sittest to do it in reference to the PER SONS named in the Article. Because They all being GOD, of necessity they must be Uncreate. For had GOD

GOD been Created, then for certain once He was not: and if ever He were not, then 'tis as certain He could never have been. For who should have made Him? Not any Creatures, for before they were He produc'd them all. Nor could He make Himself, for then he had no Being, and so no Power or Capacity to do the least Act; and much less that of Creation, especially of Himself.

Besides; a Created GOD is a plain Contradiction, and perfect Non sense. A Notion like that of a square Circle, or a round Triangle; things inconsistent and imposfible.

he

nly

TY

the

and heir

On

the

ch-

At-

hty

e of

pen-

nce.

ites,

nty,

well

t to m'd

OD,

had

OD

GOD is a Being Infinitely Perfect (and therefore no Creature can be a GOD) and infinite Perfection includes infinite Existence. Existence, that is, without Beginning, and without End; which is incompatible to one Created. This therefore may be laid down as a standing Maxim, or undeniable Propolition: that none can be truly GOD but He who is compleatly Eternal. And I can't but ask, what Man of any Wit or Learning, would not be asham'd to own Him for a GOD, who must die in the end, live he never so long? But then the same Person may think if it be not as disgraceful and diminishing an Impersection, and every whit is repugnant to a DEITY; not to have lived from Eternity, as it is to die at last? The Christians GOD therefore as he has no End of LIFE; so according to the suitable Term here, he was Uncreate, or without Beginning of Days.

H 3

And what is thus pronounc'd of the FA. THER, is as true of the SON, and HOLY GHOST. FOR the SON being begotten by the FATHER, and the HOLY GHOST proceeding from Him, and the SON; They must both be as Uncreate as the FA-THER is.

a liquing Girele, or ARTICLE VII.

The FATHER Incomprehensi ble, the SON Incomprehensible, and the HOLY GHOST Incomprehensible.

their some may be laid

Exposition.

As GOD in Existence antedates all time fo in his Effence he exceeds all Bounds! and as he was Eternally before all Worlds fo he is as Infinitely beyond them. And this is true of all the DIVINE PERSONS.

First, of the FATHER. For He is not only a GOD at hand, but a GOD afar of Jer. 23. 23. And well may he be fo, when as we read in the next verse. he fills not only the Earth, but Heaven also. Nay, he does

do

H

8.

H

is be

COX of

th

fro

ver

He wij

2740 lea

Fro

app

fall it b

by

An low

Na

ftan

tha

gra

GC

this

me

ner

does not only fill Heaven, but the Heaven of Heavens is not able to contain him, I King. 8. 27. And indeed how can it when he sets His Glory about the Heavens, Psal. 8 1.

n

1.

y

ey

A.

nfi-

le,

m.

me

ids:

lds.

And

VS.

not

off,

hen

not

does

So that in short, GOD's Essential Presence is every where at once, fo far as Ubiety can be attributed to a Spirit. And tho' it can be contained in no place, yet it can be sout out of none neither. Of this Presence we read thus in the 139th Pfalm. Whither shall I go from Thy Presence? If I ascend up into Heaven, Thou art there. If I make my Bed in Hell, behold. Thou art there. If I take the wings of the Morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the Sea ; even there shall thy hand lead me, and Thy right hand shall hold me. From which holy Queries and Affertions it appears, that the Effence of GOD is univerfally spread thro' all places; and how can it be otherwise when it is infinitely expanded by an ubiquitary or illimited Amplitude? And thus at once it is above all Heighth, below all Depth, and beyond all Latitude that Nature has; and we can no where be difant from Him. And is it not happy for us that we cannot? For could we by any migration or remove, be conveyed out of GOD's Presence, we must be shifted into nothing. For how could we subsist one moment where GOD is not? nor his Manutenency to hold us in Being?

H 4

In

In this Point the Doctrine of Mahomet fairly falls in with that of CHRIST. in the 15th Chapter of the Alcoran he brings in GOD speaking thus. We created Man without difficulty, we know the motions of his Soul, and penetrate into his Heart, as his Blood into the Veins of his Body. And in the 58th Chapter, concerning GOD, he teaches as fol-If ye be three secretly met together, he is the fourth. If ye be five, he is the fixth. If ye be more or fewer, he is always with you. A plain attestation of GOD's Ubiquity, which implies He is Incomprehensible.

Secondly, this is true of the SON alfo. His own Words prove it, S. John 3. 13. No Man bath ascended up to Heaven, but he that came down from Heaven, the SON of Man who is in Heaven. That CHRIST's Humanity præexisted, and liv'd very long before he was Born; is no uncommon Doctrine with the Christian Fathers. And then it was that he afcended up to Heaven, and dwelt there, But when he descended to be incarnate, he as really came down from Heaven again. Tho' even then when he was upon Earth, he call'd Himself the SON of Man which is in Heaven. And he that could be in Heaven when he was upon Earth, might certainly be any where, and also every where as well; and so must be Incomprehensible. Can any Man, or any Angel, or any Creature be in two distant Places at once? Upon the Earth, and in a g

Heas

a

F

c

G

go

m

be

Heaven at the same time? Yet thus it was with the LORD CHRIST, as he told the Fews; an irrefragable Proof of his Incomprehensibleness. For what can contain that PERSON, whom the vast Heavens indefinitely extended, can't circumscribe? To pretend to baffle the Instance, by faying, He ascended to Heaven, and was in it, by way of Conversation (as good Christians are, Phil. 1. 20:) would be vain and impertinent. The very Words will admit of no fuch fense. For they are are spoken of, and point directly at CHRIST's Presence, not his Conversation. Besides, if he ascended to Heaven, and were in it only in way of Conversation; then his descent, or coming down from thence, must have been finking below a virtuous and holy Life; which he could not be guilty of.

111

is

od

th

er,

th.

ou.

ty,

fo.

No

hat

who

nity

he

ith

hat

ere,

he

ain.

rth,

sin

y be and Aan, did in Jean And then that the HOLY GHOST is Incomprehensible, is very manifest from Psal. 139. 7. Whither shall I go from Thy Spirit? or whither shall I go from Thy Presence? Which plainly signifies, that to go from GOD's SPIRIT, is as impossible, as it is to go from his Presence. And so one in Immensity is equal to the other, and both must be alike Incomprehensible.

ARTICLE VIII.

The FATHER is Eternal, the SON Eternal, and the HOLY GHOST Eternal.

Exposition.

As to the FATHER's Eternity it was hinted plainly if not prov'd already. See Exposit. of Artic. VI. To that therefore I add but this. The FATHER's Effence is as lasting as it is boundless; and as infinite in Duration, as in Expansion. He had no Beginning, nor shall He have an End. He existed before Time was, and He continues thro' all Eternity; and could that terminate or expire, He would not fail to live beyond it. Endless Being is as effential to Him, as Roundness to a Circle, and every whit as inseparable from Him.

That the SON is Eternal, is evident from Isa. 9.6. where he is said to be (a) the Father of Eternity; or (b) the Author of it. For the Hebrew Word signifies both. And he that is the Parent or Sourse of Eternity, must of

n

(

⁽a) אבי עד

⁽b) Pater, more Hebræo, dicitur autor cujuscung; rei.

necessity be Eternal himself; or else the Effedt must be before the Cause. And tho' the Seventy render those words (c) the Father of the Age to come : Yet that no more hinders his being the FATHER of Eternity, than a Man's living an hundred Years, hinders him from living as many Minutes after that. And truly to the great Shame of many learned Christians, and Divines; I may prove our LORD's Divinity as well as his Eternity, By remarkable Words of an Heathen Philosopher. I mean Amelius, who faid, &T @ aga hi δ Λόγ . καθ' δυ α el čντα, τα γνώμενα εγίνετο. This was the Word by whom existing always, all things were made. And then he affirms, Tede & Dedr Givai, 2, Ochr Givai: that he mas with GOD, and was GOD. Vid. Enfeb. Pr. Ev. l. 11. cap. 9. naturally in High be tited

And then the HOLY GHOST must be Rternal too. So He is expressly call'd, Heb. 9. 14. the Eternal SPIRIT. And why should not CHRIST, as well offer up Himself by that HOLY SPIRIT, (which he is there said to do) as by him (d) he was led into the Wilderness to be tempted; and as by him (e) he cast out Devils; and as (f) he was

S

r-

2-

m a-

or at of rei.

16.

⁽c) Πατής το μέλλοντ Θ αίῶν Θ.

⁽d) Mat. 4. 1. (e) Ib. 12, 28, ⁽f) Acts To, 38.

Anointed with him? And truly why was he Anointed with his Power, but to act by his Impulse? Not that the HOLY GHOST at his Passion interfer'd with Him in his Office; for as he was both our Sacrifice and High-Priest, so as he was the one, he offer'd up the other. Yet as in his Agony he was comforted by an Angel; so by the Eternal SPI-RIT he might be influenc'd on the Cross. This is suggested in proof that by the Eternal SPIRIT mention'd, is meant the Third PERSON in the DEITY.

The HOLY GHOST also Proceedeth from the FATHER, as the Evangelist teacheth, and so as His, he must be as Eternal as Himself. Nor in reason can be be otherwise. For if every one of the FATHER's Properties naturally in Him be Eternal, as they certainly are; how can His SPIRIT who naturally proceeds from Him possibly be other-ad alsomid out rotto tour es by like (8) for mer bet little eniet to be read as but as in him

Leat Drolls: and as (f) be mer distill the distant wife ? The bank

A R-

te

th

go

to me diff on Sei

the

ARTICLE IX.

And yet they are not Three Eternals, but One Eternal.

As also there are not Three Incomprehensibles, nor Three Uncreated; but One Incomprehensible, and One Uncreated.

EXPOSITION.

Tho' there be Three Uncreate, that is, and Three Incomprehensible, and Three Eternal LIFES, or PERSONS; yet there is but One Uncreate, and one Incomprehenfible, and One Eternal GOD. For none can think the Composer of this Creed so void of Reason, as to affirm that Three are not Three; or that Three are One in the same respect. But where he says the Three are Uncreate, Incomprehensible and Eternal; and goes on afferting them to be Almighty, and to be GOD, and to be LORD: he only means that the Divine PERSONS are Three distinctly under those several Denominations, and yet Effentially but One GOD. The Sense of this Article is so obvious and easy, that it needs no farther Explication. Here then there being room for it, before I proceed farther, it will not be amiss to offer Somewhat in Vindication of that Writer to whom this Creed is owing, whether the Perfon be Athanasius or not. For many are too apt to censure him for some Passages (such as I'm now enter'd upon) as if they were vain and needless, or worse: But let such know, that how little foever they make the Man, or how much soever they depretiate or avile him; yet what he deliver'd in this weighty case, was done with serious, if not nicest regard to the great End he aim'd at. And if rightly weigh'd, will appear to be laudably fitted to promote and accomplish the same. For his Scope and Work was to draw up a Summary, or compendious Sy-Rem of the Christian Faith. And so it must confift of the chief or fundamental Articles of their Religion. And the principal Article of that Religion being the HOLY TRI-NITY in UNITY (about which, before, and at that time there were very hot Contefts, and had been high and fierce Difputes;) and it being to be brought down as far as it could be, to the Capacity of the meanest, and also to be inculcated as far as might be into their Memories as well as Understandings: from hence came the necessity of this good Man's doing what here he did. This forc'd him to be so full, and very diflinet; and constrain'd him to fet home some momentous Points even by repeating them, And

1

I

t

0

e

tl

d

nI

ly

th

to

r-

00

re

ch

be

10 nis

ot

at.

be ith

to

y.

uft

les

ti-

21.

re,

on-

if-

1 28

the 25

n-

Tity

lid.

di-

me

em,

And

And it being his purpose to drive them into the Minds of the unlearned, and to imprint them the deeper there when enter'd; how could he do it by a properer Method? And therefore the clauses which some condemn as superstuous, may be fairly excused. For they are no vain strokes of a licentious Pen. that ran riot in empty and heedless Tautologies; but really kind and condescensive Expressions of study'd plainness, adapted to fuch ordinary Christians as are less acute, and of low apprehension. And so the Particularities I have heard reflected on as vain and needless; are not so mighty culpable. They are most of them requisite rather, and very laudable, as being of use to the Vulgar fort to lead them into Knowledge of the Glorions TRIAD, as to them they are fuitably explanatory of it. Particularly, where he afferts, there are not three GODS, but one GOD; and there are not three LORDS, but one LORD. For the none ever maintain'd there were three distinct true GODS, or three different real LORDS; yet it was but a prudent Caveat to the meaner, and younger fort, not to think there are three GODS, or three LORDS, because he positively (tho' rightly) affirm'd before the first Expression, that the FATHER is GOD, the SQN is GOD. and the HOLY GHOST is GOD: and before the Second, the FATHER is LORD, the SON LORD, and the HOLY GHOST LORD. And

And therefore had not he who drew up this Creed, wifely and charitably stoop'd thus low in explicating the High Article of the TRINITY; he could not have open'd and illustrated it so clearly to common Believers. And so instead of Censure here, he merits Praise; as proceeding in a weighty case with needful Caution: what he wrote touching the TRINITY, being as full of care and Christian Prudence, as it was of Orthodox Instruction. He that treats of Fundamentals in Religion, or delivers nothing elfe: ought to speak plainly rather than finely; and to make his Stile familiar and intelligible. tho' it be the less quaint and curious. And if in this Tract I have taken measures some. what like thefe, and besides speaking as plain-Jy as I could, have repeated some weighty Passages ; I would not have this imputed to careleffness, but to the defire I had to help the meaner fort, and to facilitate their apprebension of useful things, and also their Remembrance of them.

AR-

n

tl

m

Di

mo

for froi

the

ing

the the proi And that Air GHC manithe I Hoft

ARTICLE X.

113 US

he nd

rs.

its th

ng

be

XC n-.;

1: le,

be ie.

n-

ty

to lp

e.

es.

So likewise the FATHER is Almighty, the SON Almighty, and the HOLY GHOST Almighty.

And yet they are not Three Almighties, but One Almighty.

EXPOSITION.

The Fourth Attribute here given to the Divine PERSONS, is Omnipotence. And most justly is it ascribed to them, as being for certain actually in them; as may foon be prov'd.

That the FATHER is Almighty, appears from his being so called near fixty times in the Old Testament. And then besides his being styl'd so, frequently in the New; his Title in the Three famous Creeds containing the Catholick Doctrine which Christians profess; is GOD the FATHER Almighty. And none that own His DEITY, can deny that Property.

And then that the SON and the HOLY GHOST both are as Almighty as Himself; is manifest from Psal. 33. 6. By the WORD of the LORD were the Heavens made, and all the Host of them by the BREATH of his Mouth. Which

Which divine Sentence plainly evidenceth the SON and HOLY GHOST to be Almigh. ty. For the WORD of the LORD there mention'd, is no other than the Hypostatick WORD; or that SON of GOD, which St. John calls the WORD, and vouches that all things were made by him. And then by the SPIRIT of GOD's Mouth, is meant the PER. SON of the HOLY GHOST; by whole Creative Power in Conjunction with the FATHER's and the SON's, the Celestial Hosts were brought into Being. Yet he was no more a real Breath of GOD's like ours; than GOD has a real Month like one of us.

Now when by this WORD, and SPIRIT of JEHOVAH (as the FATHER is call'd thirteen times in that Pfalm) the Heaven were made, and all the Host of them; not only their Material Hoft, Sun, Moon, Stars, and Comets; but their Spiritual Host too, even all Angels: how can the WORD and SPIRIT that made them, be less than Almighty? For what but Almighty Power could fo far overcome nothing, that infinite Vacuity of Being, or Incapacity for it; as out of it to have brought the least Crumb of Earth, or the minutest Creature under Heaven? But how then could This WORD and SPIRIT unless They were Almight, & ver have made the Host of Luminaries? much less the Host of Bleffed Angels the most Glorious Beings next to their Maker in the Univerfe?

V

th

pi

th

W

DE

in G cie

ba

Di PE

tion Sac

the Gre

16

1

Ete

pof Hen

prog

bro

Wo

tion

2 then

fron

No.

with

the verse? When the Ancients therefore by this Text (which they used much to that purpose) would prove the TRINITY; they argu'd from no improper Topick. For who could Create such a World as the Universe is, with such variety of admirable Beings, as surnish, adorn, and inhabit it; but GOD alone? And so as many as were Efficients in that mighty Work, as they must have a Divine Power, so they must be of a Divine Nature, and consequently Divine PERSONS.

re

ck

lat

the

R.

ofe

the

tial

Was

rs;

us.

III

ıll'd

rens

not tars,

too,

and

Al-

wet

inite

s out

b of

Hea-

ORD

y, e.

Glo.

Unierse? But to invalidate this Argument of Creation, which proves the DEITY of the Three Sacred PERSONS; should any alledge that the Universe came not into being by GOD's Creating it, but by Emanation from Himself: I should answer thus.

Ist. That the World must then have been Eternal. For in case of Emanative Efficiency, posità Causa ponitur Effectus: the meer Existence of the Cause immediately and necessarily produces its Effect. And then all the Arguments brought against that vain Opinion of the World's Eternity will consute this Allegation.

then a Material Substance must flow directly from a Spiritual one; which it can never do. No one Substance can so issue from another without being homogeneal with it. And the reason's clear, because it flows from its

I 2

ve-

very Essence, and is a congenial Emission of the fame. Thus, a substantial Emanation from Fire must be Fire; and the like from Air must be Air. For look what the Substance of any thing is, and none of its natural Substantial Effluxes can differ from its But then when one Substance own Being. thus flows from another, if it must be connatural with it; then the World by flowing thus from GOD, must be a Spiritual World. as coming by immediate Emanation from a Spirit. And truly without its issuing fo from Him, neither He could be an emanative Canfe of that; nor that an emanative Effect of His. But then it must have been a Spiritual World, I fay, because where one Substance emerges out of another as the Emanative Cause of its the Effect can be but a Substance processive from the Substance of that Cause. And such an Efflux must be connatural with its Source; else the Substance in the Effect will not be of the same Nature with that in the Canfe ; tho Logical Terms make no Physical difference in things.

Yet then at last this Material World could no more issue from GOD's Essence immediately, which is Spiritual; than the Glorious Sun can shine forth Darkness; or Fire send forth freezing Coldness. For between Fire and Frost, and the Sun and Darkness there is no greater Difference; than there is between GOD and Matter in Substance and

Con-

V

m fr

to om

Ia

tba:

the

gou

Bei

thot

Bein

bigbe or I

corre

Confistency. And He having no Matter at all in Him, from him none could emanatively come. For in case of Substantial Emanation (which must be here) the Efflux from a Being, must be an Efflux of it too: even its own proper Substance slushing out into farther Expansion of it self. And then GOD's Essence being Spiritual, how could this World be emanative from it, when 'tis Elementary or Corporeal? Nothing can so come from GOD which never was, nor can be in Him, I mean in his Nature.

But tho' these PERSONS made the Heavens and their Hosts; yet how came they to be Almighty? Or what inabled them to do omnipotent Ads, when they were but LIFES?

lan(wer.

f

n

m

bu-

its

ce

14.

ng

ld,

om

use

lis.

ld.

ges fit;

live

uch

ce;

e of

tho

e in ould edi-

lori-

Fire

veen

ness

re is

on-that Strength, (that Active Strength) which any Living Being has. And so according to the Kinds of Life, and the Native force or vigour of them; such is the Power of those Beings which are actuated by them. Answerable, I mean, to those Vital Principles, or those different Qualities or Degrees of Life which quicken them. And consequently as Beings were regularly made of an higher or lower Rank; and as Life in them was of an higher or lower Nature; Sensitive, Rational, or Divine: so their respective Strengths corresponded thereto pretty much.

As

As to Sensitive Life, it spreads, thro' many Species of Animals. And they being of sundry Kinds, their Lifes must be of as several Sorts, and their Bulks, or Magnitudes of sundry Sizes, and so their Strengths of suitable Degrees. But if in any one Species there be some Individuals stronger than others; that must be owing to the Goodness of their Blood or Spirits, to their sound and hail Constitution, to the frame of their Organs, the Make of their Limbs, the Vegeteness of their Bodies, or to some extraordinary Corporal Advantages which they enjoy above the rest of their Rank.

And then, fecondly, as to Rational Beings, sublimer Life, in them is plainly attended with greater proportionable Strength. Thus Angels having a Principle of Life superior to ours; upon that account they are much strenger than me. And therefore as for their prevailing Might. (a) Angels that excell in Strength, is their Character in the Old Testament: so in the New, they are said to be (b) Angels of his (that is, of GODs) Power; as sharing more deeply in that Perfection than any other Creatures, by virtue of their Diviner Life.

Should it here be suggested that the Rule given fatts, and even in reference to Mankin Li

tie

In

for kn

we

nie A g

fai

An

Con

Fil

Eat

tles

giv

An

Pos

tue

the

onl

like

hav

25 1

For

and

ceiv

bee

Pre

Mai

⁽a) Pfal. 103. 20.

⁽b) "Ayyanos Surajusas 'Auts, 2 Thef. 1. 7.

of 25

es

of ies

0-

nd

r.

Te-

or-

en-

Be-

en-

gtô.

ipe-

are

for ex-

Old

d to

Ds

Per-

rtue

Rule

Man-

ind;

kind; for the' they be happy in Rational Life, many Brutes which have but the Senfitive one, exceed them in Strength: to that Inust answer thus. There is too good Reason for it. When GOD first created Man, who knows what his natural Strength was? This we are fure of, that He then vested him in Univerfal Empire over all Sublunary Animals. Agood fign that his strength was then more fuitable to his Sovereignty, than now it is. And in Genesis 1. 28. we see his Patent or Commission for Rule: have Dominion over the Fish of the Sea, over the Fowl of the Air, and over every thing living that moveth upon the Earth. And where GOD by his Word fettles any Blessing or Privilege on Man, He gives more than he promises, rather than less. And then as this promis'd Dominion imply'd Power, so his Power might be such as by virtue of that and his innate Lordliness, to keep the terriblest Creatures under. So that not only fingle Lions, Bears, Wolves, or the like, but even Multitudes of them would have dreaded one Man, and fled from him. as from their formidable Lord and Master. For fuch mighty Force as well as ftern Afpect and awfull Majesty would they have perceived in Him; that nothing would have been more dreadfull to them than his feared Presence, or the Accents of his Displeasure.

Thus probably it would have been with Man still had he retain'd his Innocence, and perfifted in his primitive Integrity. Then all those Subjects which the Sovereign of the World had given him, would always have obey'd him, and yielded due submission to him as to their Puissant Emperor. But Man alas! foon apostatiz'd from his Maker, and rebell'd against him. And when he fell from GOD, his Power fell from him. And thus the Original Strength of his Nature was fo weaken'd by his Sin; that the Rational Life in him was no longer attended with that regular Degree of Strength and Dominion which should have been complicated with it. And no wonder, when his very Nature it felf by that shock which his Rebellion gave it, was strangely shatter'd and degraded. And therefore if the Rational Life in Man, be now accompany'd with less Strength than o therwise he might have injoy'd and exerted: that's owing neither to Providence, nor Nature, but to the folly and ralhness of our first Parents. For they degenerating by Immorality, it brought such Weakness upon the humane Constitution, as sunk it below its Primitive force: nor shall the clogg of Imbecillity which Sin hang d upon it, be ever taken off in this World. Not that I think (by the way) that if Man had retain'd his Integrity, he should have been stronger than an Elephant, or a Whale; but then he should have carried Grandeur in his nance, and always have made so august a Figure,

F

ŧ

t

tl

a

İS.

St

TE

fo

as H

th

in

of

tui Li

Sin

Lif

Str

ref

gure, as would have struck such terror into Creatures about him; that even the mightiest, siercest and most savage of all, would never have dar'd to rebell against him, or to offer any manner of violence to him. And because his natural Visage, and majestick Port, could cast such dread upon Animals; there was the less reason for his having Strength superior to theirs. For he could thus have curb'd, and daunted, and sway'd them strangely by his personal Stateliness, and presential Influence; had he continu'd innocent.

0

in bi

m

US

fo

ife

re-

on

ure

on

ed. be

0 ed: Va-

our

lmthe

its

Im-

ver

ink bis

han

uld

Fi-

are,

But then as to Divinest Life in GOD. That being infinite, in Him there must be Infinite Strength too; and so we know there is. For as the LORD is cloathed with Strength, Pfal. 93. 1. And as in the LORD JEHOVAH is Everlasting Strength, Isai. 26.4. fo His Strength is as boundless in Measure. as it is in Duration. And well it may when His Life is fo. Nor need it feem strange that Degrees of Strength should rise in Beings, according to their respective Degrees of Life. For do we not see? Impossible it is that any Creature should have the least natural Motion, or motive Power; till it has Life in it self. A clear indication that all Strength must flow from Life. And when Life in every Being is the Spring of all Strength, and spontaneous Motion, which refults from it, and is its proper Effect: no won-

wonder that the more a Creature has of Life, or the higher kind of Life it injoys; it should have the more, or higher active Strength too, naturally and regularly.

Tho' how the various forts of Lifes communicate different measures of Strength, unto divers Kinds of Beings; is too deep and dark a Phænomenon for Mortals to dive into and discover.

adly. To the Queries I answer. The Diwine LIFES might well be Almighty, and fo able to perform the Creative Acts done by For they are not meer naked, or bare abstracted LIFES: But LIFES in an Infinite Essence. Nay, which is more, they are Infinite LIFES every one of which animates, or in his particular way quickens an infinite Spirit. Tho' the different Mode whereby each of them does it may well be inexplicable, when other common Modes are no less. And where any one infinite LIFE actuates an infinite SPIRIT, and illivens it; what can fuch a LIFE be less than AL-MIGHTY? And what can be too hard for such an Agent to do, provided it confifts with Moral Purity, and Natural Regularity; and so with GOD's infinite GOOD-NESS, and WISDOM?

b

25

fo

fel

fte th fed Pe

no

ARTICLE XI.

So the FATHER is GOD, the SON is GOD, and the HOLY GHOST is GOD.

And yet they are not Three GODS, but One GOD.

EXPOSITION.

or

m

i-

an

e-

X.

10

U-

t;

Ŀ

rd nla-

D.

R.

That the FATHER is GOD, is fo plain a Truth to intelligent and thinking Christians, that if it be not felf-evident, yet the bare right Notion of him implies or proves heir; or else demonstrates he could never The true Notion of Him is, have been. That he is of and from Dimfelf. therefore according to the Learned, He is αυτοών, self-existent; αυτόζωG., self-living; auroais, self-perpetual; auroauro, self-selft, as I may fay: and all because He is aurobe @. GOD of and from Himself. And he that is fo, must needs be every way infinitely Perfed; and so truly GOD. For if Self-Subsefence is the greatest Perfection that can be, then He that has that must be infinitely Perfed every way; because from it all other Perfections naturally flow, or if they did not, that could raise them. And that the peer-peerless Power of absolute Self-subsistence is the very highest Perfection of all, is evident from hence: in that all the FATHER's Perfections, and his very Essence too, are eternally from, and depend upon it. And the FATHER truly must as certainly have been Self subsistent from Eternity, and so infinitely perfect, and fo GOD; as it is fure the Mold is, or that we are. For without his to Subliffing, not only the World, and we. but even the Two other DIVINE PERSONS. and HIS SELF, must infallibly have been Eternal Nothing. For who should have brought all into being but the Great GOD? And how could He have been at all, and so have done that, if ever he were not existent? For then who should have given being to Him when he was not? or how could He have made Himself? Most rightly therefore, may I call Him, in the language of Jamblichus, 'Aulomatwe His own Father; and 'Aul'syov . Self-begotten. Nor can I but much esteem; and also highly commend the Orphean Theology; which long before made the supreme GOD weer buta-Tov, the oldest of all Beings, and taught He was autoledes too, felf perfect. A thing not not only True of GOD, but withal fo abfolutely necessary, that without it neither HE HIMSELF, nor consequently any other Being could ever have existed. And so what can Atheism be, but a stupid, nonfenfical

I

i

e ir

de

V

at

A

V

W

CI

oth

thi

fac

Fa

fer

and tho

we.

tain

Nat

fenfical, phrantick Whimfy, fpringing up from a Sink of Ignorance?

d

111

ng

ale

ot

b-

er

er fo

al

baA

But tho' many have question'd the FA-THER's DEITY, yet more have shamefully deny'd the SONS, and stiffly oppos'd it. Indeed for finful Men, and their eternal Benesit, 'tis known He did, and also suffer'd inexpressible things. But then for these ineffable favours how very strangely would Numbers requite Him! For having been incarnate in their Flesh to die for their Redemption, and to secure endless, and so even infinite Felicities to them; for this they would reduce him to their own mean Rank and make his Nature the same with theirs. And when it is thus, furely true Love and Veneration to his MAJESTY should confrain us to oppose so great an untruth, as well as Indignity. For when denying CHRIST's DIVINITY is too common with others; for us to vindicate it we should think as necessary. For us I mean, of the facred Function. For we being of his Family, or Domesticks to him (as we ferve in his House, minister at his Table, and live, as it were, within the Veil;) who thould have his Interest more at heart than me? and how careful should we be to maintain his just Honour, by afferting his Divine Nature?

ment meinersbilmo But

But how shall this be best done? or where shall we find the most authentick Arguments to establish his DIVINITY? I answer, our Bleffed LORD (who can best tell) points fairly at this, St. John 5. 39. Search the Scriptures .- for they are they that tellify of me. So that the best Testimonies touching CHRIST, as to his Natures, PERSON, &c. and the clearest Arguments to make good the fame ; must be contain'd in the Sacred Writings. And tho' that Text fent the Tems to the Old Testament (which represented him figuratively in Types and Symbols) the ther being not then extant: yet the New Teflament being now promulgated, and that by CHRIST, and his inspir'd Emissaries; in all reason CHRISTIANS must have recourse to that (tho' not exclusively of the other) and may there find fairer Evidences and fuller Attestations of the Meffieb's DEITY; which the Article I am upon afferts.

Let us take our REDEEMER's Counsel then, and search into those venerable Volumes which testify of Him. And if there it appears that in point of Divinity he is commonly set upon the same Level with the FATHER (bating his Paternity, which in Order, and Relative Dignity puts him before the SON;) must he not be GOD? Yet in those Books, our LORD the SON, is raised to exact Parity with the FATHER; waving the Confiderations mention'd.

And

D

pt

R

De

gi

ar

fa

W

be

the

CI

(0)

WE

ah

Wa

all

Ins

Bei

CH

wh

noi

He

to PE

(e

And so the First Argument to prove his DIVINITY shall be this. The Sacred Scripture plainly discovers it. For there the SPIRIT of Truth bestows the same Epithets, the new same upon CHRIST, that he does upon the SUPREME GOD. And must not his giving them both the same Titles, shew they are both of the same Nature? Yet this, I say, he does very manifestly, either in express Words, or in Terms equivalent: It shall be made good in undeniable Instances. Thus, the Creator. And is not as much faid of CHRIST? For the SPIRIT declares that (e) the WORD was GOD, and that all things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made, that was made. And who was that WORD which was GOD, and made all things, but CHRIST?

f

g

;

0

m

70

II

to er ch

[el oit

m-A-

1.

in.

ed ng

nd

2. The Supreme GOD is said to be the Invisible GOD. And so must CHRIST be, a Being so very like to GOD Himself. For as CHRIST is equal to GOD in other Persections; so he is as to his Invisible Nature, where the Comparison here lies. Else he could not truly represent Him, or be the exact Character of his Subsistence, as he is affirm d to be, Heb. 1.3. Tho' when he is there pronounc'd to be the Image, the express Image of His PERSON, or Hypostasis; how can he chuse

⁽e) S. John 1. 1, 3.

but be Invisible like Him? and in truth in. visible GOD too? For here, Image lies not in Features, but infinite Excellencies.

3. The Supreme GOD is faid to be Omnipotent. And the same is affirm'd of CHRIST. For he is proclaim'd not only (f) the MIGHTY GOD, Isaiah 9.6: but (g) the ALMIGHTY, Rev. 1.8. The Epithet of GOD alone, says Scapula.

4. The Supreme GOD is said to be the Omniscient GOD. And so is CHRIST acknowledged to be by his prime Apostle. LORD Thou knowest all things, S. John 21, 17. And what less than Omniscience is a scribed to Him, S. John 2. 24, 25? Where it is recorded of him from above, that he knew all Men, and that he knew what is in Man. (b) In the Secret or Bottom of his Heart, says Grotius, which is proper to GOD.

5. The Supreme GOD is faid to be the Great GOD. And CHRIST by the SPIRIT is pronounc'd to be the same, Tit. 2. 13. Where the appearing of our SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, is said to be the Glorious Appearing of that (i) Great GOD, and our SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST.

(6) Παι τοπράτως, Epitherum folius DEI.

T

ne

N

ny

th

no

Ar

laff

CH

Thi

den

wit

pre

this is p

be t

him

Tau

calls

nal I

at C

in th

g Game

epist o b LOR

(1) 7

OTN

7.

אל ניבר (f) אל.

⁽i) Τε μεγάλε ΘΕΟΥ η Σωτηρος ημών ΙΗΣΟΥ ΧΡΙΣ-ΤΟΥ. Without so much as a Comma.

6. The Supreme GOD is faid to be the True God. And fo is CHRIST in like manner. 1 S. John 5. 20. This is the True GOD. Nor can the Words be made to point at any other but CHRIST, without straining them, and putting force upon them. And to no other End, that I can fee, but to favour Arianism, or countenance Socinians. For the last PERSON St. John spake of, was JESUS CHRIST; and of him he goes on to fay, This is the true GOD. And to carry the demonstrative Pronoun, this, farther back without necessity, would be to strain the Expression and make it unnatural. Besides, that this is the true GOD, must relate to the SON. is plain; because the FATHER was said to be true GOD before; and to affirm that of him again, would be to croud a nauseous Tautology into the Text. Moreover; S. John alls the true GOD he there speaks of, Eternal LIFE; by which Title he plainly points t CHRIST; stiling Him so more than once in this Epistle.

7. The Supreme GOD is said to be the on-19 GOD. And CHRIST is known by the same Appellative, in the 4th verse of S. Jude's spisse. For there that Apostle vouches him to be (1) that only Master, DDD, and

LORD of ours.

n.

in

T.

be be

of

he

ac-

le.

II.

2.

ere

be

in

his

D.

the

IT

13.

IR

ons

our

IΣ-

he

K

8. The

⁽¹⁾ Τον μόνον Δεσπότην ΘΕΟΝ κ ΚΥΡΙΟΝ ήμων ΙΗ-ΕΟΥΝ ΧΡΙΣΤΟΝ. Without a Comma again.

8. The Supreme GOD is faid to be the bleffed GOD. And must not CHRIST be so too, when He is expressly so called, and enter'd as such in the Records of Heaven? GOD bleffed, Rom. 9. 5.

9. The Supreme GOD is faid to be the E-ternal GOD. And how can CHRIST be thought or esteemed otherwise, when as the Text fore-quoted tells us, He is GOD Blessed for ever? He ever was Blessed, that is, and so he shall ever be. And therefore Melchisedeck, who presignt'd him, is said to (1) have neither beginning of days, nor end of Life; that he might truly represent his perfect Eternity.

10. The Supreme GOD is faid to be the Living GOD. And what is CHRIST less For he is (m) the WORD of LIFE, and what is that, but GOD of Life? And as the FATHER bath a LIFE in Himself, S. John 5. 26; fo the SON bath a LIFE in Himself as we are there told. And tho' the FA THER gave that LIFE to CHRIST, yet tha hinders him no more from being a Divin LIFE in himself; than his being begotten 0 the FATHER hinders him from being GOL the SON. But as he must be his SON because he was generated by him, so he must be Divine LIFE because he issu'd immediate from him, Who is fuch a LIFE Himlel And truly how could CHRIST be either Bla

Se

G

lea

tle

tri

is e

this

ed.

and Frai

cou

Good

elf

Med

as I

cenf

fanl

In

non floor

lo HR

the

we I

im t

If to

tive

utel;

⁽¹⁾ Heb. 11. 7. (m) S. Joh. 1.1.

sed, or Eternal GOD (as now was shewed) if he were not Ever living?

,

9

be

be

Ted

nd hi

ave

11. The Supreme GOD is faid to be the Good GOD. And if CHRIST be not fo called, yet if he actually is fo; want of the Tithe can be no defect, when he hath the Attribute to Perfection. And that he fo has it, is eafily proved. For as (n) He created all things, so by Him they consist, or are sustained. As he made, so he supports them all, and holds them together in their stately frame. And as nothing but infinite Power that could do fuch Acts, so what save infinite ty. Goodness could induce that Power to exert it the elf in them? And then if we look to his Mediatorial Office, what infinite Goodness and has he there express'd, in aftonishing Condesthe centions, Sufferings, and Benefactions to fankind?
Indeed he declares, S. Mar. 10.18. There

FA none Good but One, that is, GOD. And t that post true it is in this high Sense: that none oiving to originally GOOD as GOD is. No, not tend HRIST Himfelf. For as the FATHER gave GOO the SON to have LIFE in Himfelf, or ecaus we him his PERSON; so thereby he gave t be im to have infinite GOODNESS in himdiated of too. But then his Goodness being deriimself tive from his FATHER, how can it be aber Ble strely so excellent as His, when it is not so

⁽a) Coloff. 1, 16.

Self-originated? Tho' CHRIST is perfect GOD, and infinitely and eternally Good still; notwithstanding that Concession. For when he gave the Preference to his FA. THER's Goodness, he did it justly upon ac count of its Primity as to Order; not as to Superiority in Excellency or Degree.

12. The Supreme GOD is faid to be the GOD of Heaven. And is not CHRIST the fame? For who is the GOD of Heaven more than he that made it? But CHRIST who made all things must needs make that, and so have all Right to this Denomination.

13. The Supreme GOD is said to be the Wife GOD. And the same thing is said of CHRIST in other Words. For He is CHRIST the Wisdom of GOD, I Cor. 1. 24 And CHRIST in whom are hid all the Tree Sures of Wisdom and Knowledge, Col. 2. 5. Ex pressions that speak him consummately Wile and infinitely Knowing and Intelligent.

14. The Supreme GOD is faid to be the Immortal GOD. And that CHRIST is for we are well affur'd by S. John's afcribing to him Glory and Dominion, for ever and ever Revel. 1. 6. And how could he be capable of Glory and Dominion for ever and ever, wer he not Immortal?

Lastly, The Supreme GOD is said to b the Highest. And is not the same Epitheta agreeable to CHRIST? For he is GOL over all, Rom. 9. 5. And what is that, o

who

11

is

e

al

D

tu

He

VI

pla

yet

cha

63 ffia

fron

drec

Div

thus

all t

we (dent,

preme

and a fame

GHO fil'd

Heave

filmo

Th

ITY.

who is he, but GOD MOST HIGH? To which the Baptist gave authentick Testimony, S. John 3. 31. He that cometh from above, is above all. And to strengthen it he repeated it, He that cometh from Heaven, is above all. That is, in respect of his Origin, and Divine Nature he furmounts even all Crea-

Now do not these Fifteen Titles, all from Heaven, fufficiently confirm CHRIST's DI-VINITY? And if some of them be not so plain, and politive, and express as others; yet they are all his due, and he may justly challenge them as his Right.

a

od

10

ac.

to the the

zore

eade ave

the

l of

e is 24

Trea

.Ex

Nife.

e the

is fo ng to ever

ole o wen

GOL

at, o

who

Here then let every fincere and folid Christian fix his foot, and never stir the least from fuch pregnant Evidence. What are hundreds of humane Testimonies against these Divine ones? And how should the Epithets thus given to CHRIST in Scripture, filence all that Question his DEITY? Especially if we confider, that they are the most transcendent, and distinguishing ones, which the Subreme GOD has assum'd to himself, to notify and afcertain He is That GOD. And for the fame reason, and to the same End the HOLY GHOST has given them unto CHRIST, and fild them amongst the Sacred Records of to be Heaven; as standing and most infallible Tehet a timonies of his natural DIVINITY.

The Second Argument for CHRIST's DE-ITY, shall be bis requiring Divine ponour of all

K 3

all Mankind. This he does S. John 5. 23, Where he openly declar'd (and in the mid of Ferusalem) that all Men should bonour the SON, even as they bonour the FATHER. And he that honoureth not the SON (at that rate) bonoureth not the FATHER. The Honour Men pay to GOD the FATHER, is Divine in the highest Degree. Yet the same exactly which is given to his Glorious FATHER CHRIST demanded for Himself. Now when he challeng'd a parity of Honour with his FATHER, it must be for good and sufficient Reason: but what meet or adequate Reason could there be for claiming equal Honor with Him; but his having a Nature equalto His? And were he but a Man (as form would make Him) yet according to the ac count Heaven gives of him, he must be the Best that ever lived. Now what truly god Man, tho' but ardinarily fo, was ever the bold as to claim GOD's Honour as due h himself; and would not rather die than belt presumptuous? And the better a Man it the more he would abhorr, and the faller and farther would be flee from such arro gance and blasphemy. But how then con CHRIST if but a Man publickly infift upon being honoured even as GOD? The groun of his claiming that bonour therefore mul be his own Divine Nature which indeed in titles him to it.

But

E

out

nous

as C

that

Fud

mm

roga even

I

luch

tute

of a iori

0

Wor

o b

nd

erea

Subje

Hon

ion

wou

wee

but :

nfin

THE

A

isthe

But against this an Objection may be rais'd out of the Context. Namely, that the Honour demanded by CHRIST is not due to him as GOD, but for an high Office conferr'd upon bim. For in S. John 5. 22. He informs us, that the FATHER bath committed all Judgment to the SON: and then it follows immediately (as a consequence of that Prerogative) that all Men should honour the SON.

wen as they bonour the FATHER.

13.

df

the

nd

te)

our

int

alı

ER

hen

his

ient

fon

72 OUT

ome e aci the

thu

ouk

But

Lanswer, Ist, CHRIST indeed is the Great and General Judge of all. But no Judge, as such, can be equal to the Power that constitutes him. For the very giving and taking alto of a Deputation implies in the Donour Supefority; and Inferiority in the Receiver And General Strategy of the World, if but a Man, could not qualify him god o be honour'd as GOD. Between a Judge and the Person that appoints him, there's as ne is great Difference as between a King and his belo Subject; and should be but accept the Royal n is Honours due to his Sovereign that commifasser sion'd him, tho' without claiming them: it would be an hainous Crime. But then beween GOD the FATHER, and CHRIST oper but a Man tho' made our Judge, there being oun minite Disparity; for him to assume his FAmul THER's Honour, would plunge him into in-

And therefore I answer, 2dly; as CHRIST the Supreme Judge, so at the same time be is K 4 really GOD. And as he is to judge the World in his mix'd Person or Capacity; so He is to be honour'd as GOD for his Divine Nature, and so not only for his Judicial Authority. And accordingly where he is pronounced Judge, he is frequently proclaimed GOD. How shall GOD judge the World? Rom. 3.6. GOD the Judge of all, Heb. 12.23. GOD shall judge the Righteous and the Wicked, Eccles. 3. 17. And that CHRIST must be the Judge meant, is certain; because all Judge ment 15 committed to 10111, as above.

á

П

C ir

M

0 la

it

n)

bl

tu

te

pe

ini G(

an

Wi

CO

fri w pu

rig

Juc

Sim

thin ed

the

in r

Whence it is manifest, that the Honour like his FATHER's, which he insisted on is not due to him, or expected by him as universal Judge; but as he is truly GOD.

And CH- IST having own d he shall be the Great Judge; as a Third Argument to prove His DEITY, I alledge that stately Office of his. For judging the World is a Work so Difficult as well as Magnificent; that none but GOD can be set to undertake, or able to accomplish it. If we enter but superficially into solemn Thought of it, we shall soon find it so.

For look to the whole Race of Mankindin their successive Generations upon Earth; and how multitudinous must they be at last? Then call to mind their different Relations, and respective Qualities both Sacred and Civil; to gether with their various Stations, Callings Gapacities and Circumstances; as Personal and Social; Political, and Ecclesiastick; Domestick, and Mechanical, &c: and must not all these be exceeding Numerous; and Accounts in reference to them as various and intricate? And when all the Myriads of Mankind, must be answerable to the Glorious Judge at last, for all their Carriages relating to these and many other Particulars; it must needs be much too hard a Task for any meer Man, to determine the numberless Cases here, tho' he be indu'd with all possible Persections.

re,

tg.

ed

D.

6.

OD

red.

the

de-

our

on,

3 25

1 be

7,1 ging

11 25

e fit

f we

ndin

and

Then

; to

lings, Conal

and

For to pass by the Acts and Habits of Virtue and Piety, which are not to be enumerated; tho' highly to be regarded, and recompene'd proportionably: how manifold and innumerable are the Sins of Men? As against GOD, their Neighbours, and Themselves; and of Deed, Word, and Thought, All which with their respective Aggravations, must come into account, and be weigh'd in the strict Balance of the Final Judicature. Now what meer Man can attain to a previous and punctual Knowledge of all these, and Judge rightly concerning them? Or indeed can Judge at all touching the last nam'd, mental Sins, that is, or naughty Thoughts?

For even them we must brand for hainous things, especially if they grow up into wicked Purposes, or mischievous Projects; tho' they go no farther than the Mind, and so act in no Scenes but what that admits of. And

yet,

yet, I say, what Man? what meer Man can dive into these Enormities, and discover their several Guilts, and apportion just Punishments to them? For so occult or claudestine are they, that there's no finding out the measures of their malignity.

For alas! from Heaven we are inform'd. that no Man knoweth the Things of a Man (and then much less his Thoughts) fave the Spirit of a Man which is in him, I Cor. 2. 11, Nay, the best of Men seem not to be acquainted with all their own obliquities; and therefore the Pfalmist pray'd for pardon of his unknown Sing: who can understand his errors? cleanse thou me from my lectet faults. A plain evidence that good People (who have most spiritual Light /are yet in the dark to some of their own Crimes. They lurk fo close, and lie fo hid in them, that they can't difcera themis And how then shall any one Man get perfect Knowledge of the immoral Thoughts of all Men or Women, that are, or were, or ever shall be upon Earth? must be attainable by none but GOD, to (n) whose Eyes all things are naked, and open'd; tho' to us they be never fo fecret.

Should any alledge, that the First Christians had a Power of discerning Spirits; and would GOD but please to raise that to the height in any Person, it would make him knowing enough to judge the World:

h

tl

01

21

W

by

ca

th

8.

mo

gin

w

Th

her

Kn

rits

tha

Iva

moi

whe

true

Spir

Men

will

vert

cerni Men

A

⁽n) Heb. 4.13.

would answer thus. That with the Primitives there was a Gift of discerning, or discriminating Spirits, plainly appears in 1 Cor. 12. 10. And this some learned Expositors have stretch'd so far, as to affert that by it they could know the Thoughts and Intentions of Hearts. But here I must dissent from them, and think I have good Authority for it. For where the wifest Man that ever lived spake by Inspiration, he affures us that GOD alone can do that. Thou, even Thou only knowest the bearts of all the Children of Men, I Kin. 8. 39. אתה לברה Thou, Thou only ; a Word most full and pregnant. And to it the Septuaeint answers emphatically, ou moverare, which I had almost render'd, tu folissimus, Thou onlieft; GOD being most perfectly alone here, and superlatively singular in this kind of Knowledge. Discerning or dijudicating Spinits therefore could not be knowing hearts, that being peculiar to GOD Himfelf; but only a supernatural Sagacity of discerning the moral dispositions, or inclinations of people, whether they were babitually good, and of the true Evangelical Temper or not. 'And that Spirit, in the Gospel, signifies the Temper of Men, or the bent, or Habit of their Minds: will be very plain to all intelligent and advertent Perusers of it.

10

d, an be

I,

en-

53

in

of

me

fe,

if-

OHE

ral

re,

hat

(n)

di

ifti-

and

the

him

ould

And to discern these, is easier than discerning Thoughts, or Hearts. Insomuch that Men of Parts and Penetration by conversing with with People and observing them, may go a great way in difcerning their Spirits thus. without the mention'd Charisma, or Gift: tho' with that it was done effectually. For S. Peter difcern'd the infincerity of Ananias. and Sapphira; and discover'd Simon, taken for the great Power of GOD, to be no better than a Ghild of the Devil. Which St. Philip was fo far from finding out, that he thought him a true Believer, and accordingly (a) Baptiz'd him. And by virtue of this Difcerting Power, falle Prophets were then detected, and Pretenders to Religion proved Counterfeits; and for their hateful Diffimulation laid under Ecclesiastical Censures. Yet this by no means can amount to knowing Thoughts, or Hearts; for that, we see, is GOD's fale Prerogative. And therefore as He's faid to be the Knower of hearts, Act. 15. 8 : so it is as much his Privilege to know all bearts Thon, IORD, knowest the hearts of all Men, Ad, 1.24. That is, he has both an ampler, and a clearer knowledge of us, than we have of our felves. And this is no more than Heathens attributed to their Deities. For Thales being askt, whether any could do Evil and bide it from GOD; he answerd, No, not in Chaught. And concerning them the (p) Satyrist affirms, a Man is better known

(a) Act. 8. 13.

7

fin

ſp

m

th

Ser

th

Th

wh

⁽p) Juvenal. Notior est illis homo quam fibi.

tothem, than to Dimfelf. The same Notion which our Divine Writer taught of the true GOD in other terms; GOD is greater than our Hearts and knoweth all things, I S. Joh. g. 20. And doubtlefs, he knoweth many things in and of us, that to us are Secrets. And as Secrets are faid to belong unto the LORD, Deut. 29. 29: fo it is remarkable. that where-ever Scripture mentions knowing Secrets, revealing Secrets, or judging Secrets; all the Acts are not only put upon GOD, but appropriated to Him. De knoweth the Secrets of the heart, Pfal. 44. 2. And he revealeth Secrets, Dan. 2. 29. And DD Chall Judge the Secrets of Men, Rom. 2. 16. Exdulively, that is, of all others.

ıs,

en

er

ip

ht

0)

if-

en

ed

u-

et

ng

is

as

5.

all

s of

oth

us,

10

ei-

uld

d.

em

וושוכ

80

But then he that is to Judge of these Secrets, ought to know them; and should be infinitely knowing in his Person, to be perfectly Just in his Procedure. Nay, he must be the one, that he may be the other. Where Skill is wanting in difficult Cases, the Sentence will be crooked: and therefore that the Judge, I speak of, may be gloriously Upright; he must be infinitely Just; and to make him so he must be as Intelligent. For he must know the heart, and all Mens Hearts, and all the Secrets of them. And withal he must keep their secretest Enormities, even their very Thoughts in remembrance. And remember them he must not only while they live, but when they are dead: that so he may charge Delinquents with their proper Crimes, and punish them according to their respective alt

Fo

fec

the St.

unt

fha

we

by

ges

aga

no

The

No

at

Me

but

diff

Pai

Ca

ma

adj fpe

less

bei

kee

of

con fior

guilts.

Now, if this Knowledge can be in none but GOD (as where is it else?) and if CHRIST is to be the Judge as he surely is; for (q) we shall all stand before his Judgment Seat; and (r) we must all appear before the Judgment Seat of CHRIST: from hence it will follow, that he must be GOD; Judging the World being so much above every Creature's ability, as requiring a Knowledge so very piercing as well as vast and comprehensive.

Yet such a Knowledge, I say, must be in that Sovereign Judge. For every one being then to be (s) Judged according to his Works; to the Works of his Mind, (his Thoughts and Purposes, that is, as well as of his Hands:) He must understand every mental Ast that is sinful, that so he may sute the Wickeds Penalties exactly to their Offences. Else the punitive part of Distributive Justice can't be well administred. Infinite Knowledge therefore must be as needful for this Judge, as it is for Him to be righteous.

Especially if we consider, that he must fudge Angels too. Which will add much to the Difficulty of the Work, and render it more invincible still to a meer Man, tho exalted to the utmost capacity of his Nature. For if the hearts of impious Men are Deep, Pfal. 64. 6; what Profundities then and perfect Abysses must wicked Angels be? Yet these Angels shall then be Judged: for says St. Jude, they are reserved in everlasting Chains unto the Judgment of the great day. And then shall they be judged by the Saints too; for we shall judge Angels, I Cor. 6. 3. That is, by approving the Sentence with our Suffrages, which the High Judge shall denounce against them.

⁽q) Rom. 14. 10. (r) 2 Cor. 5. 10. (s) Rev. 20. 13.

d

ve

ne

if

S;

nt

be

it

ng

afo

n-

in

ng

5;

bc

:) is

e-

he

be

e-

it

ılt

ch

it

х-

3.

ed

Butthen He that can know and remember not only all Actions, and Words, but all Thoughts and Intentions of fuch a Numberless Number as all evil Angels, and all Mankind at last will make, and can retain them in Memory till they are summon'd to his Tribunal; when the Parties concern'd are of fo different Natures, Sexes, Frames, Faculties, Parts, Ages, Orders, Relations, Religions, Callings, and Imployments; all which, and many other confiderations he must regard, to adjust their particular allotments to their respective Demerits: how can this Person be less than GOD Omniscient? But CHRIST being GOD, for Him it must be as easy to keep all Thoughts, and Words, and Actions of All Delinquents in his infinite Memory, as it is for Him to fill all Places with, and comprehend all things in his infinite Expanlion.

And indeed he ought thus to remember upon his own account. I mean, that things may be laudably done, according to rules of exact Tuffice and ftricteft Integrity. As the famous Patriarch expolulated, shall not the Judge of all the Earth do right? That he must do in all cases; but then how much more in the Last Judicature? Which as it must be of Eternal Consequence to us, and therefore had need be equitable : fo on GOD's Part it is proclaim'd before-hand, not only to be the Righteous Judgment; but the Revelation of the Righteons Judgment of GOD, Rom. 2.5. Implying it shall be so apparently just and fair; as to approve it felf perfectly to sharpelt Criticks (whether Angels, Men, or Devils) in every punctilio.

The Fourth Proof of CHRIST's DIVINITY shall be this; He has Iwo Natures. I make it evident from Scripture. And 1st, from the account which Heaven there gives of Melchisedeck, by whom he was typissid. The HOLY GHOST assures us, Held 7.3. that he was without Mother. But how could CHRIST come up to that Instance in the Type; if besides his Humane, he had not a Divine Nature? For his Humane Nature was conceived by, bred in, and born of a Woman. And then that he might be applicable, without a Mother, and so come up and rightly correspond to Melchisedeck in that Point; he must needs have a Divine Nature

t00.

to m M

th

Tw

chi act

fed

he

cor

of 1

Div

ther

wit

he f

bers

in so

twee

in th

repr vith

most reme

Bado

ain'

O W ber

Nam

(4)

too. For his humanity was born of a Woman, and had a Mother as certainly as ever Man had; tho without an humane Father.

er

of

he

be

ıft

in

be

ore

it

the

of

ir;

eft ils)

NI-

ind

ere

ypi-

Teb.

OW

in

had ane

orn

be up

that

ture

t00.

In short, as Melchisedeck is here (a) liken'd to the SON of GOD, and one piece of that Assimilation lies in his being and-Twe, mithout Father; to which part of Melchisedeck's Character CHRIST answer'd exactly in his Humanity: so the same Melchifedeck being as much CHRIST's Emblem as he was without Mother too, CHRIST must come up to him as strictly and literally there likewife; and so he actually does in respect of his DIVINITY. For in reference to his Divine Nature he was as much without a Mother; as in regard of his Humane he was without a Father. And necessary it was that he should be so. For amongst other Members, or Particulars of this Parallel here drawn in some measure; or comparison made beween Melchisedeck and CHRIST; or rather in this Description where the King of Salem represents the SON of GOD: his being without Father, and without Mother, are two nost plainly expressed. But then we must emember, that what was but typifi'd, or badow'd out in Melchisedeck, was actually conain'd, and really exhibited in CHRIST. And o where the one was faid to be without Mober (because no mention is made of her Name) the other must truly be so; which

⁽a) 'Apoporousvo.

vet CHRIST could not be as to his bumane Nature, and therefore He must certainly have a Divine one. Elle Melchisedeck who is here made a lively Emblem of Him, and particularly as he was without Mother; must in that point be fallely affirmilated to Him. But because what the HOLY GHOST afferts cannot be untrue; CHRIST must be God. He having had a Mother as he was Man. A ftrong and incontestable Argument for His DEITY. adly. That CHRIST hath two Natures. may from Scripture be argu'd thus. That informs us, St. John 21.17. that the LORD CHRIST knoweth all things. Yet in St. Mer. 13. 22. it is faid; of that day (the day of Judgment) knoweth no Man, no, not the Angels which are in Heaven, neither the SOR but the FATHER. Now if CHRIST knew all things, the Day of Judgment must need be one: but then he not knowing that as the Son, or in his humane Capacity; he mult know it by virtue of his Divine Mature, or as he was GOD. Else when St. Peter own'd he was Omniscient, and the SPIRIT recorded in as Truth; it must be an Error, and a very gross one: and then He would not have enter d it amongst the Oracles of Heaven. And that CHRIST was made up and confilts of two Natures, is plainly owned by Irenam Who in his fourth Book against Heresies, tells us, that our LORD JESUS CHRIST was made Man in the last days, Ut finem conjun-gere

gei be

M

mu

Pat

ther

mm n

A

TY

POW

vou

Sins

Scril

o G

Que

an j eafor

orgi

t wa rue (

he V

ins.

or .

And

ven

e th

o th

hon

hem

phicl

getet Principio, id est, hominem DEO: that be might join the End to the Beginning, that is, Man to GOD. Per quem commixtio & communio DEI & hominis secundum placitum Patris facta est. By whom according to the Father's pleasure was made a Mixture and Com-minion of GOD and Man. cap. 37.

32

ve

re

·U-

at

bean-He

ong TY.

res,

hat

RD lar.

OB.

new

eeds

very

e en-

And

nem.

was njun-

gere

A Fifth Argument for CHRIST's DIVINI-TY shall be his pardoning Sins. That he had Power to do this was manifested by his fayour to the Paralytick, S. Mar. 2. 5. Son thy Sins are forgiven thee. Against which the Scribes immediately excepted, as a bold affront to GOD's MAJESTY, and a daring increachof ment on his Prerogative. So the following An Question they put plainly intimates; Who an forgive Sins but GOD only? v. 7. From which mental interrogatory of theirs (who reson'd in their hearts touching CHRIST's the lorgiving Sins) we may thus conclude. That must be was then the avow'd Opinion of the only or as me Church that for a long time had been in be World; that GOD alone could forgive ledit fins. And very good reason there is for it. for all Sin is committed against GOD chiefly. and who has or can have right, power, or ven just pretence to forgive Indignities; but ts of e that sustain'd them, or suffered by them? o that had not CHRIST been GOD, upon tells thom Sins chiefly terminate; his forgiving hem would have been an irregular Act, for thich he could not have fairly answer'd. L 2 Should ana

in

thou

Gon

wh

per beir

exp

ft fo

Nat

For

elle

but

GO

ly c

Div

A

Fav

fron

Com

CH

Nay

forg

did :

ther

ble I

1 2

prop

25.

tran to fa ling

ana

Should it be here demanded, if CHRIST were GOD, why did he not upon this occafion affirm it, and put it out of doubt by owning expresly that He was so? I might an fwer. He did more here to manifest he was GOD, than if he had plainly affirm'd it. For he made it appear that he knew the Secret Reasonings of the Scribes, and the right tho close Thought they had, that GOD only ca forgive. Sins. And then by actual forgiving them in their presence, he openly did, what by their own Testimony, none but GOI could do. And which is more; at the fam time he wrought so glorious a Miracle in co ring the Sick Man; as sufficiently argu'd hi Omnipotence, and so demonstrated he wa All which is enough, not only to render them inexcusable that would not be lieve he was fo; but withal to convince that he prov'd not his GODHEAD by verba Arguments, because he knew they would re fuse these Weaker, by their rejecting those Stronger Evidences.

And that forgiving Sins belongs to GOL only, is inferrible from the following Confi derations.

Ist, From his inserting it into his Name, and making it so considerable a part of that. The Name I mean, was thus proclaim'd to Mose (u) The LORD, the LORD GOD, Mercife ⁽u) Exod. 34. 6, 7.

and Gracious, Long Suffering, and abundant in Goodness and Truth. Keeping Mercy for thousands, forgiving Iniquity, and Transgreffion, and Sin, &c. Now the Great Titles which make up this Name, shewing the Properfies of GOD's Nature; and Forgiving Sins being one of them, and most emphatically express'd, and ascrib'd to Him: from hence it follows, that only the LORD GOD whose Name it is, has the Power and Privilege of Forgiving Sins naturally in Himself. None elle can rightly pretend to that Prerogative, but they who can claim the Title of LORD GOD, Merciful and Gracious, &c; as justy due unto themselves; which only the Divine THREE can do.

cca-

Wn-

anwa

Fo

cre

tho

v ca vin

hat

301

Same

Cu

d hi

Wa

y to

t be ce u erba

d re

thol

GOD

onli

e, and

Th

Mofes

rcifu

and

And therefore when others dispense that favour, it is done but declaratively; not from their own personal Authority, but by commission from GOD. So all Ministers of CHRIST do, and so all his Apostles did. Nay, even Popes themselves, some of which forgave Sins at most extravagant Rates; did it as pretended Vicars of CHRIST. Tho there they assume a wretched and insufferable Liberty to themselves.

propriates to Himself. So we find in Isai. 43.
25. I, even I am he that blotteth out thy transgressions for mine own sake. As much as to say, cancelling Sins, and absolving Delinquents from their Guilt; belongs tolely

L 3

to

gressions, it is not done by my Power only as absolute asit is; but by the Energy, and upon the account of my immense Goodness. And so none, can pardon Sins against GOD, in the strictest Sense, but as they participate of his Nature. Another Prophet also ascertain that to be GOD's peculiar Work; and that for doing it he is Peerless. Who is a GOD like unto Thee, that pardoneth Insquity, Mich. 7. 18? He therefore that can pardon Insquity, is not only to be like GOD, but must be GOD Himself, with whom no Creature can compare.

adly, Forgiving Sins must be GOD's Property, because our LORD directs us to him only for it. So in that admirable Form of His, design'd for a common Rule for Prayer, or for constant Use, or else for Both; He sends us to our Heavenly FATHER with this Petition: Forgive us our Trespasses. And then to make his Direction the more influential, he backt it with his own exemplary practice. For when he was dying on the Cross, he pray'd for his Persecutors unto Him with eximious Charity; FATHER, forgive them, for they know not what they do, S. Luke 23.34. Clear Evidence that Forgiving Sins belongs to GOD only.

But then CHRIST's exercising that Power before his Death, must be a good Indication of his DEITY. For he being not vested with

wi

CI

28

the

bu

to.

par

Ni

tha

Sin

km

he

ow

Na

Por

Asi

lel

Ma

he

Go

fiah

he

pop

ad I

DEI

with the Fulness of Authority over his CHURCH, till after his Resurrection, S. Mat. 28. 18: his forgiving Sins before his Death, shews it was not done by adventitions Power, but by that naturally in bim as GOD.

M-

25

p-

ind

the

his

in

hat

OD

ich.

Ini-

nust

ture

ro-

101

His.

r for

9 US

titi

n to he tice.

he bem,

.34.

ongs

wet

tion

fted

vith

And that he had Power inherent in him to Forgive Sins before his Passion, He took particular care to acquaint us with in the Ninth of S. Matthew. For he there fignifies, that he heal'd the Sick Man by faying. The Sins are forgiven thee; rather than by faying, wife and walk: on purpose that we might know that the Son of Wan had power on Carth to forgive Sing, v. 6th. Meaning that he had Power to do it, ex proprio, of his own Right and Ability as GOD. And therefore fays Grotius, (w) CHRIST does not bere uncern himself in annunciating Pardon as Nathan did to David, Oc : but all s from the Power of pardoning Sin by bis own Will and Authority. And according to Beza on a parallel Text. (x) When CHRIST faid to the Sick Man, I fay unto thee, arife, &c. It was as if he faid, acknowledge ye me also to be the true GOD. And how very defirous was the Meffab that the Jews should have done so : when he declar'd he forgave the Sinner by his own power, and then cured the poor Clinick mira-

(2) Ac fi diceret CHRISTUS, agnoscite me verum quoque

DEUM effe, In Marc. 2. 10.

⁽p) Non agit de annuntiatione veniæ, quæ Nathani etiam ad Davidem, & aliis Prophetis mandata fuerit, sed de pote-flate peccata suo arbitrio remittendi. In loc.

Argument could they have wisht, to draw them to, and fix them in the Belief of his DEITY; when they were thro'ly perswaded that none could forgive Sins but GOD only; and openly own'd as much? And tho' he was pleas'd to vail his Glory with the mean and low Appellative, the Son of Man; that only express'd his Theanthropous Constitution by a Synecdoche, a Figure common in the Sacred Books.

4

G

ti

eli

6 th

H

W

N

an

H

fe

W

Bo

an

th

PI

M

00

w

Be

CI

U

H

D

LO Bo

pli

A Sixth Argument to prove CHRIST is GOD, may be his Dispensing Divine Graces. For that implies he is the proper and natural Source of them; and whence can divine Streams flow, but from as divine a Fountain? And as every good Fountain contains a rich plenty, and inexhaustible Fullness in it: 6 in CHRIST there's a vast and infinite exuberance of these precious Excellencies. And therefore he is faid to be full of Grace, S. Joh. 1. 14. So full as freely to overflow into all meet Receivers. And therefore we are told in the next verse but one, that out of his Fullmess all good Christians receive Grace for Grace. So that look what various Graces are in him, and so far as they are needful, they shall be imparted to us, if we be his But then GOD being the GOD of all Grace, 1 S. Pet. 5. 10; all Grace must come from Him. And if all Grace comes from GOD, and the whole Church receives all Grace from

An Antidote against Arianism. 153
from CHRIST: This again helps to prove

And truly how could fuch a Fullness of Grace be in him but by virtue of another Fullnels he has of an higher Nature? I mean, that mention d'in Colos. 2. 9. Where tis faid that in him dwelleth all the Fullness of the DDDDEAD hootip. A word fo pregnant, that how could the learned, even by Study, have found out a fitter in the case? For what does the GODHEAD, and the FULL-NESS of it, and ALL its Fullness import? and All that Fullness not residing with, or refting upon CHRIST, but DWELLING in Him; and that BODILY too; not in an obfeure and shadowy way, but compleatly as well as really, and as truly and perfectly as a Body can be in any place, tho' not so visibly and palpably? What does, or what can this, I fay, import; but that CHRIST is a PERSON absolutely DIVINE in all possible Measures and Perfections? And as thus odparixos, bodily, falls in fairly with Dry which signifies Entity; and then the very Being of the DIVINITY must dwell in CHRIST, as it certainly does by hypostatick Union: fo that Hebrew Word fignifies Himself, as well; according to which, Ipsemet DEUS, EDD wimself must dwell in our LORD's Humanity. Tho' indeed dwelling Bodily in it feems so mean a Term when applid to GOD; that had he not pleas'd to utter ing aw his

ded ly;

ean'
that itu-

in in is ural vine ain? rich

fo ube-And

Joh.
o all told

for aces

ful, bis,

rom OD,

rom

ter it of himself (in condescension to us, who in part are Body, and converse so much and continually with it) we might have thought it too bold a Word, and unagreeable to his

h

h

d

n

fe

to

th

it

G

or

ra

Con

71 lef

his

gr

it 1

to

Mo

tha

Ice

CH

6

MAJESTY.

And that Grace is deriv'd from CHRIST. and that his Dispensing it shews he is GOD; may be gathered from an Evangelical In-Stance; that in the Ninth of S. Mark, There a poor Man bringing his Child to CHRIST to be cur'd of a Chronical Epilepsy ; begg'd of him increase of his Faith. Our LORD telling him, all things are possible to him that believetb ; he firaightway ery'd out with tears, LORD, Ibelieve, bely than my Unbelief. Now this Petition, had not CHRIST been GOD, he would have rejected, (as any good Man, or Angel must have done) and also have reprimanded him that presented it. For by it he made him the Object of his Faith and Prayer both, when GOD only can be so of either. Yet still the LORD healed his Child without reproving him. A fure Sign that the Father was right in both Ads; and that CHRIST being GOD, he neither misplac'd his Trust, nor misapply'd his Devetion.

That CHRIST is truly GOD, may be made good in the Seventh place, by his own Resurrection. That is, as it was wraught by Himself. For as he had power to lay down his life, so he had power to take it again, S. Joh. 10, 18. By which power he might mean mean 'Autonearogia, Omnipotence, that Supreme absolute Power, which is proper to the DEITY. And having this Power in himself, he might well declare as he did, (1) Destroy this Temple (meaning his Body) and in three days I will raise it up again. Which having foretold explicitly, he was oblig dto do; for had he fail'd in his Prediction, he must have been a false Prophet. And the more notorious, for that he affum'd to himfelf the Title of (z) Cruth; and so vouch'd to his Profelytes an inviolable Veracity. But then when in the event he actually perform'd it as he did; how could he be less than GOD? For was it ever heard, or known. or can it be thought, that a dead Man should raile himself to life?

nt is

n-

re

ď

D

at

D,

or ri-

he

er.

ut

er

T

ft,

101

by

NI

ht

an

Indeed when he said he had power to resume his Life, he added immediately, This Commandment have I received of my FATHER. But that does not at all imply, much less prove, that CHRIST was not rais'd by his own Power. When he came to do the great and happy Work of our Redemption, it was all in compliance with, and in obedience to his FATHER. So we learn from his own Mouth, by words of his which we find more than once in the tenth of the Hebrews, Lo, Icome to do Thy Will O GOD, Now when CHRIST Prayed, Preached, wrought Mira-

⁽⁾ S, John, 2. 19. (2) Ibid. 14. 6.

ter it of himself (in condescension to us, who in part are Body, and converse so much and continually with it) we might have thought it too bold a Word, and unagreeable to his

MAJESTY.

And that Grace is deriv'd from CHRIST. and that his Dispensing it shews he is GOD; may be gathered from an Evangelical Instance; that in the Ninth of S. Mark. There a poor Man bringing his Child to CHRIST to be cur'd of a Chronical Epilepsy; begg'd of him increase of his Faith. Our LORD telling him, ell things are possible to bim that believetb : he firaightway ery d out with tears, LORD, Ibelieve, bely than my Unbelief. Now this Petition, had not CHRIST been GOD, he would have rejected, (as any good Man, or Angel must have done) and also have reprimanded him that presented it. For by it he made him the Object of his Eaith and Prayer both, when GOD only can be so of either. Yet still the LORD healed his Child without reproving him. A fure Sign that the Father was right in both Acts; and that CHRIST being GOD, he neither misplac'd his Trust, nor misapply'd his Devetion.

That CHRIST is truly GOD, may be made good in the Seventh place, by his own Resurrection. That is, as it was wranght he Himself. For as he had power to lay down his life, so he had power to take it again, S. Joh. 10, 18. By which power he might

mean

£

h

1

i

h

d

m

m

fe

to

th

it

G

or

rai

fun

Con

TH

lefs

his

gre

it w

to b

Mo

than

Lon

CHE

6)

mean 'Autorgarogia, Omnipotence, that Supreme absolute Power, which is proper to the DEITY. And having this Power in himself, he might well declare as he did, (1) Destroy this Temple (meaning his Body) and in three days I will raise it up again. Which having foretold explicitly, he was oblig dto do: for had he fail'd in his Prediction, he must have been a false Prophet. And the more notorious, for that he affum'd to himfelf the Title of (z) Cruth; and fo vouch'd to his Proselytes an inviolable Veracity. But then when in the event he actually perform'd it as he did; how could he be less than GOD? For was it ever heard, or known. or can it be thought, that a dead Man should raise himself to life?

3

nre

T

ď

D

at

rs,

D,

OF

ri

he yer

er.

ber

ST uft,

be e by

WI

ght

lean

Indeed when he said he had power to resume his Life, he added immediately, This Commandment have I received of my FA-THER. But that does not at all imply, much less prove, that CHRIST was not rais'd by his own Power. When he came to do the great and happy Work of our Redemption, it was all in compliance with, and in obedience to his FATHER. So we learn from his own Mouth, by words of his which we find more than once in the tenth of the Hebrews, Lo, Icome to do Thy Will O GOD, Now when CHRIST Prayed, Preached, wrought Miracles, or did, or suffer'd any thing that related to that high Undertaking; it must be in Obedience to his FATHER's Will, which was equivalent to his Command Yet all might be done nevertheless by his own Power. And so it was in the case of his Resurrection. His FATHER commanded him to rife, it was his Will he should do it; but still he might and did raise himself notwithstanding. Nay, tho' it be faid in Scripture, that GOD raifed up JESUS, and brought him from the Dead, and the like; yet this hinders not his being raised by his own Power neither. It only implies that the FATHER's Power concurr'd with the SON's in that Work, and fo it was done by mutual Concert, and their united Energy. And tho' the FATHER had an hand in CHRIST's Refurrection; yet fo long as he join'd in raising Himself; as above noted; what was done by both may equally be predicated of either: and fo CHRIST's fharing in that glorious Miracle wrought upon his Humane Nature, must argue his DI-VINITY: for as a Man He could have no hand in his own rifing from the Dead.

⁽⁾ S. John, 2. 19. (7) Ibid. 14. 6.

th

R

CL

St

do

joi

an

TY

An

Sic

and

Fr

the

and hui

CH

and

An Eighth Proof of which shall be the General Resurrection. For of that he himself is to be the Cause or Author; and that we might not be surprised at it, he has given us clear Notice of as much. Marvel not at this; for the hour is coming in which all that are in the Graves shall hear his Voice (the Voice Voice of the SON of GOD) and shall come forth, they that have done good, unto the Resurrection of Life; and they that have done evil. unto the Resurrection of Damnation, S. John 5. 28, 29. And tho' doing this may be the FATHER's Will, it is nevertheless the SON's Work, and shall be done by his Power. And in token of as much, he declares, lam the Resurrection, S. John 11. 25. And that he hath the Keys of Hades, and of Death, Rev. 1.18. Signifying he has power in himself, to unlock and open all those Difficulties that feem to hinder their Return to Life; who are retir'd into the Invisible State, and shut up in the secret Recesses of it. And by his power it shall be gloriously done at last, which yet it could not be were he not GOD.

It

ld

ir

be

fo

ve

ly

p.

1

no

ie-

elf

we

en

at bat

the

ice

For what meer Man can raise another dead Man to life? Nay, could all Men living join in consult, and unite their utmost Skill and Strength to restore but one Valetudinary to health; could they be sure to essect it? And if they be unable to cure one that is Sick; how short must they be of reviving and raising all the Dead? For then the Frame of Bodies will be quite dissolved, and the Matter of them, so strangely changed and dissipated; as to become irreparable by humane Art or Force. Yet even then will CHRIST raise them up into a State of Life; and as many as belong to Him, unto a Life of Blessedness. But then must be not be GOO? The following Considerations duly weigh'd, may evince as much.

And here to pass by the Case of the Anthropophagi, or Men-eaters, to which I have spoken (a) else-where; we may confider,

Ift. What in Cometeries, or common Bury. ing Places is offer'd to our ferious Thoughts. For where People have been interr'd for hundreds of Years; in reference to the Refurrection we may foon apprehend a Difficulty insuperable to every thing but GODs Wildom and Power. For the multitudes of Bodies there crowded and amass'd together by frequent and numerous Inhumations; by often digging out the Molds, and as often throwing them in again, the Matter belonging to the numberless Bodies there Buried, must be very strangely commixt, and most confusedly blended together. So much that none but GOD can be able to distinguish them. So to distinguish them, as to affign to all Proprietors their respective Claims; or to allot to each Claimant his proper Right. And were that more difficult than it is, yet still to Omnipotence, which made all things out of nothing, it would be eafy.

'Tis very strange, and as much surprizing, which Dioscorides relates of Stratiotes, that ad

RP.

on his rai

the

CO

at .

52.

fai ling

be vin

wh

fud

in ( bot

per

con

Bod

Rep

deo

be c radice

I

⁽a) Geologia. chap. 1. 5. 8.

admirable vulnerary Herb. (b) That it swims apon the Water, and lives without a Root. And that All-wise and Almighty GOD, who causes this Herb to breed and grow upon Waters without a Root; by the same his infinite Wisdom and Power, can as well raise our Dead and consumed Bodies out of the Dust when He pleaseth. A lively and convincing Specimen of which, He gave us at his only SON's Resurrection, S. Mat. 27.

52.

1

of

er

y

n

g. d, fle

at

th

gn

5;

er

an

de fy.

ig,

ad-

adly, We may consider farther, that the Resurrection of the Righteous Dead shall be instantaneous. For in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the lust trump, the Dead shall be raised, and the Living shall be changed, 1 Cor. 15.52. Another Difficulty utterly insmirible but to Omnipotence. And therefore who but GOD can (besides working that sudden mighty Change) put all good Souls in one moment into stesh Bodies; when both Souls and Bodies are so far and near dispers'd, and the latter in such mixture and consusion? Especially if,

Lastly, We consider, how Slocious the Bodies of the Saints shall be. For the wicked Reprobates by their Immoralities shall be hideously disfigured; and eternal Ugliness shall be one piece of their dreadful Punishment:

⁽b) Stratiotes in aquis nascens jisdem supernatar, & fine sadice vivit. De Medicin. Mater. li. 4. cap. 87.

yet the Righteous shall be as curiously adorn'd, and made extreamly Beautiful and lovely. How mean and despicable soever their Persons are at present; they shall then be exalted to persect comeliness. Nor shall they only be amiable, but radiant; and shine and glitter with everlasting splendors.

Now, as the HOLY GHOST himfelf tells us, our Bodies are vile, Phil. 3. 21. Calamitous too often while we live, and cadaverous always when we die. Yet if we belong to the Bleffed JESUS (and may take that Text in the same Sense that our Church does using it in her Burial Office:) we may conclude these coarse Bodies of ours, shall at last be fashioned like to CHRIST's Glorious Body: which being bis must certainly be as glorious as can be made of Matter. And when this is to be done by HIM, and to all that are bis, and in the twinkling of an Eye: can he be less than GOD to perform it? This Act alone which we are fure he shall do, is enough to prove him irrefragably fo. Especially when it is to be done (according to that Text) by bin own Energy, or efficacious force, whereby he is able to subdue all things to Himself. A plain and full Periphrasis of Omnipotence. And if CHRIST's Power be equal to GOD's why not his Nature?

And that CHRIST's raising the Dead shews his DEITY, S. Paul confirms by a very publick and solemn Testimony. I mean,

the

t

b

tl

Se

Bi

be

an

do

file

vi

fift

tha

the

cha

mai

by nex

bro

Mar

it p zæða liði

gent

trad

tain

all.

no Si

conce

wof as the

Bu in th 2:

nd

rer

en

all

ine

ells

mi-

ONS

to

ext

git

ele

ned ing

be be lin

han

ich

ove

t is

y be lain

d if not ead

ve-

eari, the Question he put in open Court at Cafarea, before Festus, and King Agrippa, touching the Resurrection, Ad. 26. 8. Why should it feem a thing incredible with you, that GOD hould raise the Dead? But then the Dead being most certainly to be raised by GOD: and that great Work being as furely to be done by CHRIST: how fairly does the Apofile hereby witness that He is GOD, by Divine Testimony? And accordingly in the fifth Book of the Apostles Canons it is affirm'd. that Almighty GOD Himself shall raise the Dead, but by our LORD JESUS CHRIST. chap. 6. Where in proof of the Resurrection many things are gravely alledg'd. But then, by the way, I can't but observe, that the next Chapter, which goes upon James the brother of the LORD, and Stephen the first Martyr: is not fit to be there inserted. For it positively declares that they were both καθαροί πάσης πλημμελείας; puri omnis delidi; pure from all Sin. And can that be a genuine Canon of the Apostles which contradicts their canonical Writings, as this certainly does? For in many things we offend all, S. Ja. 3. 2. And if we say that we have no Sin—the truth is not in us, I S. 7oh. I. 8. But when all is faid, the Bleffed THREE in the HOLY TRINITY, shall be every one concern'd in Raising the Dead at last; as the wo following Texts plainly evidence. For u the FATHER raiseth up the Dead ; even fo the SON quickeneth whom he will, S. John 5. 21. But if the SPIRIT of Him that raised up JESUs from the Dead, dwell in you; be that raised up CHRIST from the Dead, shall also quicken your Mortal Bodies by his SPIRIT that dwelleth in you, Ro. 8. 11. And when the FATHER, SON, and SPIRIT do all unanimously consent to, and concur and co-operate in the stupendous Work, which none but GOD can do; it fairly betokens They are all GOD.

The Ninth Argument I offer for on LORD's being so, shall be the Merits and Efficacy of h Sufferings. And a cogent Proportion of it they must be if rightly consider'd. For whence can the Merit of any one's Suffering (the Ground or Reason of their efficacy) flow but from the Dignity of his Person? And according to the true worth of that, the value of the other will rise, and must be rated And so the infinite Preciousness in our LORD's Sufferings, argues no less than infinite Excellency, or pertect DIVINITY in his Nature. Which again renders his Suffering so meritorious, as to become the means of our reconciliation to GOD.

As rational Creatures by ill Governmen and disobliging Carriage, may create Differences amongst themselves; so by pervers and sinful behaviour they may contract en mity to GOD, and settle in it. And if one that sad enmity turns to aversion from him wa ori ma

25

00 of Hir

mig the a de spite selve

But CHR the then

crossin on it place

So ence

wide a of CH

nd Nate ba

12

1;

ell

II

en

12-pe

one

ney

ou

ano

00

Fo

ing

OW

An

alu

ated

ns a

as it commonly does; what possibility of concord or amity can there be between Him and them while that continues? Yet thus it was with we. We had fo far depray'd the original Constitution of our Nature, as to make it opposite to GOD's; and incapable of meet application to, or communion with Him So incapable, that all endeavours on our part, tho' never so earnest and incessant, would have been vain and ineffectual. We might as foon have perswaded the Poles of the World to meet and unite; or have fixt a dear Friendship between the most rank and spiteful Antipathies: as have wrought our elves into agreement with the ALMIGHTY. But what we could not do, GOD did by CHRIST: GOD was in CHRIST reconciling the Totollo unto himself, 2 Cor. 5. 19. then it was in CHRIST Suffering on the Cros: that he might reconcile both unto GOD ou in one body by the Cross, Eph. 2. 16. And inf i pleased the FATHER that having made n hi wace by the Blood of the Cross, by him to so that tho' before there was rueful Differing ence between GOD and us; yet now the men wide and gaping Breach by the Satisfaction Diffe of CHRIST's Sufferings was happily made ever p. And many holy Texts both in the Old of an Ind New Testament witness as much, tho'I fond te but one out of each. Thus it is faid, that him was wounded for our Transgressions, he was bruised

M 2

bruised for our Iniquities; the Chastisement of our peace was upon him, and with his stripes we are healed, Isai. 53.5. And that he is the propitiation for our Sins; and not for ours only, but also for the Sins of the whole World

b

n

D

0

m

be

of

qu

W

Fo

Str

ma

Sta

cor

force

lo it

fupr

imp

than

been was,

Mo;

clude

ftion

the S

(3)

GEO &

1 S. John 2. 2.

Now what do these and a Number of of ther like Expressions import less (to such as will take them in their natural meaning; than that our Sins were the impulsive Caul (not the Final only, as Socious phansied) of CHRIST's Passion? And so that His Sufferings and Death were to satisfy for them, and to expiate our Guilt; for whose sake, i whose stead, and also in whose Nature h did suffer and die.

But then were CHRIST no more that Man, how could his Death be so propitiator to GOD, as to pacify Him towards us, be appealing his Wrath and satisfying his Justice? Or to reconcile us to Him, by about 1 is not properly in the same of Alas! what is one Man's Blood, to the whole World's Sin? In Micah's Opinio (and a Prophet's Judgment should weigh with us) the first born (tho' commonly deared and most set by) is no competent Offering so the Father's Trespass. (a) Shall I given First born for my Transgression'? the Fruit my Body for the Sin of my Soul? That, the very Question infinuates, (a form when ⁽a) Mic. 8. 7:

by Scripture denies vehemently) would be a most vain and soolish Attempt. And if the Death of one Man can't put away the Guilt of another; how should one Man's Death make atonement for all Mens Sing t of

3 TO

the r onrld

of o

fuct

ng:

Caul

1.0

offer

an e h

tha

ator

b abo

our

o th

inio

weig

arel

ig fo

uit t,

her

Nay, to go as far here as the Case will bear; were all the Blood of the whole Body of Mankind shed to cleanse one poor Delinquent from his Iniquity; I appeal to the Wife, and let them fay, if it could be done. For what could there be in such a sanguine Stream to purify a defiled Soul? That Humane Blood should clear a Spirit from moral Stains, is fo vain a thought; that Reason and Philosophy plainly confute it. For according to them no natural Cause by its own force, can produce a supernatural effect. For foit must rise in strength above it self, and act beyond its power and capacity. Which to Suppose, besides being absurd, is to affert an impossibility. CHRIST therefore was more than Man, else his Blood could never have been, what we are affur'd from heaven it was, a Despitiation for the Sinsofthe whole Mozlo. Which confider'd, I may well condude this Argument with great Origen's Question. (b) Who is so able to save, and to lead the Soul of Man to GOD, as GOD the WORD?

M 3

⁽b) Τίς δ΄ άλλΘ σῶσαι κὰ προσαγαγάν το ἐπὶ πᾶσι ΘΕΩ Λύναται τὴν τε ἀνθράπε Φυχὴν, κ ὁ ΘΕΟΣ ΛΟΓΟΣ; ΦΩ, ΦΩ.

And that He was GOD, will farther appear in the Tenth place, from the Acceptable. ness and Usefullness of the Jewish Sacrifices. In the Fiftieth Pfalm, and the Sixth of Micab, 'tis obvious to note, that the Materials of those Sacrifices, tho' valuable with Men. were little esteem'd by GOD. For whether they were Bullocks, Calves, Goats, Wild Beafts, or Fowls in greatest Plenty; or elfe Rivers of Oil, and even thousands, or ten thousands of those Rivers: be made little account of them. And for a very good reason there suggested; (b) the World is mine and the fulness thereof. So that whatever Creatures they gave to GOD, they presented him but with his own, which could be no manner of favour or obligation.

Yet remarkable it is, that the legal Offerings and Sacrifices rightly perform d, were very acceptable to GOD, and usefull to Men And therefore the royal Prophet begged that his Spiritual Devotions might be but like those, as to acceptance, and efficacy. Let my Prayer be set forth before Thee as Incense, and the lifting up of my hands, as the Evening a crifice, Psal. 141. 2. But then what made them so pleasing to, and prevalent with GOD when in themselves they were so worthless I answer, the relation they had to CHRIST to whom they led, and where they terminal

ted

do

and

Ev

Dai

of t

Pel

P4/

ces

late

855

do

we

the gun

Suf

fuc

way

the

but

Blo

he :

28.

not

hav

cha

DI

ma

his gre

⁽b) Pial. 50. 12.

ted. For they were all but Types and Shaapble-

ces. Miials

ien, ther Vild else ten

a acade

reanted

no offer-

Were Men

ged like

t mj ana Sa nade GOD

less IST nina

- IIIIa

ted.

dows of bim, who was the grand Archetype. and common Substance of them all. So the Lamb appointed for the daily Morning and Evening acrifice, prefigur d him, the Lamb Sain (in GOD's purpose) from the Beginning of the World. And that kill'd at the folemn Pefech, pointed as directly, at CHRIST our Passover sacrific d for us. And these Sacrifices being prescrib'd by GOD, and thus related to CHRIST, and so propitiatory for it; they must fignify (and were intended to do (o) that the Sufferings of our LORD were to expiate our Sins : and then fo far as they were Indications of that, they were Arsuments of his DEITY. For how could the Sufferings of any but one most Divine, be of such immense worth and efficacy, as to do away all Mens fins? Yet of such a force might the Passion of CHRIST well be; if we do but consider, that when he was crucifi'd, the Blood of GOD was shed for us: for the Church he purchased with his own Blood, Act. 20. 28. And truly if the Blood of CHRIST had not been the Blood of GOD, how could it have been a valuable Price for so high a Purchase?

Socious indeed, who denies CHRIST's DIVINITY, and so rejects his Satisfaction; makes our Salvation to depend mainly upon his Example. And seems to lay almost as great stress upon that, as we do upon his Merits; but that's more than it can bear. That He was our great Exemplar we can't deny, as having his own word for it. I have given you an Example, that ye should do as I have done, S. John 13. 15. And his first Apo. file attests as much; He hath left us an Ex. ample, that we should follow his Steps, IS. Pet. 2. 21. And as the proper Scope or End of an Example is to imitate it; and as that was our LORD's drift in giving us his: fo no lefs is fignified by the express terms in the cited Texts. That us'd by our SAVIOUR fig. nifies (c) premonstration, or his going before; to flew how we thould follow Him to our power, treading in his Steps. S. Peters word fignifies (d) a Copy; intimating we should conform to CHRIST as strictly, as we would carefully write after a Copy that is fet us. And good reason, He being that Fain prescript, or exact Rule we are to go by.

Example chiefly; is quite impossible. For Example can have no influence but where it is exhibited: which CHRIST's was not till the World had stood several thousands of years And so how could those in the old World before the Flood, and in the former Period of this newer one, receive benefit from, much less Salvation by it? Yet in Scripture he call'd the Saviour of the World, and the Saviour of the World.

1

ä

0

P

n E

П

2

W

W

A

te

1

It

tie

W

an if

th

L

th

th

ma An La

⁽c) Υπόδειγμα. (d) Υπόγεαμμα.

by his Example, how shall any be sav'd that never had it? and that never had the least account of it? And then if he was the Saviour of Patriarchs, Prophets, and other good People of old; as according to Scripture he must be: how could he save them but by his Blood and Merits? The esheavy of which might reach as well to them before His Death;

as now it does to us after His Passion.

eve

0.

x.

et:

of

Was

no

ci-

fig.

ben to

ter 9

We

S We

s fet

Fair

y his

Ex-

e it i ll the years

Vorle

eriod

much

e he

Savi

ONI

And therefore to think rightly in this case, we must conclude; that besides affording us his glorious Pattern to invite us to Piety; he was deeply concern'd in expiating our Sins. And therefore the Word from Heaven plainly tells bs, that we are Redeemed by his Blood, 1 S. Pet. 1. 19; Justified by his Blood, Rom. 5.9; and Sandified by his Blood, Heb. 13.12. It tells us moreover that he was made a Price. a Ransom, a Sacrifice for us; and a Propitiation for our Sins by dying as he did. Now when Scripture affirms all this of CHRIST. and a great deal more of the same nature; if we look but to the common fignification of the words, they must needs imply that our LORD did die to other great Ends besides that of being an Example to us. And for these two Reasons we must allow he did so. That the HOLY GHOST, and his Pen-men may speak properly of our LORD's Sufferings. And that we may be able to reconcile Scripture Language to Truth and Sense.

But

But then grant but this, that CNRIST according to the propriety of the Words, was a Ransom, a Sacrifice, and Propitiation for us and our Sins : and then as the efficacy of his Sufferings will evidence his DEITY, so his GODHEAD will render His Merits infinite. And then by them how easily and happily might the great Differences between GOD and Men, be eternally adjusted and made up? Whereas were CHRIST to have been an Example only, as that could have influenc'd none before his Nativity; fo tho' to Christians it might be a Motive to do well, yet what should have made amends for our high Transgressions?

The Eleventh Proof of CHRIST's DIVI-NITY, shall be bis Union with the FATHER. This Union he Himself owns and openly declares, S. John 10.30. I and my FATHER are one. The true meaning of which words the Jews immediately apprehended. And as they took them in their right sense, so they signifi'd as much at the 23th verse: then being a Man makest thy self GOD. And he certainly intended that from what he faid, they should learn to think and believe no less. And therefore when they told him be made bimfelf GOD by what he spake, he found no fault with them for it; but by filence gave confent to what they suggested: a good sign they were in the right. And therefore when for want of Faith, they were ready to stone him for

n

C

tl

3

th

T

eft

CO

fin

25

Pa

Kir

Re

TY

he

the

inco

vine

the Truth he afferted; instead of retracting he immediately confirm d it by a strenuous Argument, v. 38th; the FATHER is in me. and I in him. An Expression which naturally and plainly fignifies, that in the most Glorious FATHER and SON, there is an Identity of Nature, and Unity of Essence. Tho' withal it evidently shews the diversity, or distinction of their PERSONS, in as much as no one can be in himself. Yet still they might both be Effentially one; and the Jews could not think he meant otherwise. And therefore his uttering these words (which they thought equivalent to those in the 30th verse) put them into a fresh Ferment, and that occasion d a new Mutiny in which they would have feiz'd him a fecond time. Therefore they fought again to take him, but he estaped out of their hands, v. 39th.

Ď

X-

'd

ti-

at

7I-

R.

de-

me.

ews

ook

1 as

Lan

ten-

ould

ere-

nfelf

fault

nsent

were want

1 for

the

A clear Argument of our LORD's DIVI-NITY, tho' by it the Jews would not be convinc'd. For when, or where did any fincerely good Man, ever speak such a word as this since the World stood? Did any Patriarch, Prophet, High-priest, Apostle, King, or Emperor that professed the true Religion, ever claim Union with the DEI-TY, or own and maintain that GOD and he was one? How can we imagine then that the meek and humble, the most holy and incomparable JESUS should challenge that divinest Honour, if it were not His Due? Yet

this,

this, we see, he did not only claim, but infift upon, and dispute for; and which is more, he appeal d to his Miracles as a cogent Proof of it, and as a proper means to let the Jews into knowledge of the same, v. 38th.
Believe the works, tho ye believe not me; that ye may know and believe that the FATHER is in me, and I in him. And the same Argument he us'd to convince Philip of the same Truth, S. John 14. 11. And must it not 1

t

t

1

p

t

1

ti

f

V

2 d

tl

V

T

li

D

then most certainly be so?

It may be not, perhaps fome will fay; we rather think it is quite otherwife; and have reason to do so for what fell from CHRIST's own Mouth, S. John 17. 21. That they all may be one, as Thou FATHER art in me, and I in Thee; that they also may be one in w. Now, may Objectors fay, it does not follow from hence, that all the LORD spake of, were either essentially one themselves; or that they were so one with the FATHER and the SON. And therefore when He faid, I and the FATHER are one; and I am in the FATHER, and the FATHER in me: this needs not imply that they two are one in Efsence neither. I answer. Our REDEEMER in the words cited, prays that all Believers in Communion with his FATHER and him, may be one; that is in Faith and Doctrine, in Peace and Love, and in Christian Unity and Agreement; as His FATHER and He are one in perpetual heavenly Accord. But what's

An Antidote against Arianism. 173 what's this as to hindring those Expressions in S. John the 10th, from fignifying the FA-THER's and SON's Effential Union? Especially when this remarkable Circumstance authenticates those Expressions, and makes them clearer Proofs still of that their Union: namely, that they were our LORD's direct and explicit answer to the Jews, when they came round about him, and importun'd him to hold them no longer in suspence, but to tell them plainly if he were the CHRIST; $. 70h. 10. 24; The Jews came round about him, and faid unto him, how long dost Thou make us to doubt? If Thou be the CHRIST, tell us plainly. Then it was, and in answer to this their Request, that he voucht himself to be Chaff by faying presently, I and my FA-THER are one. Which was equivalent to telling them he was GOD's SON in the And therefore for speaking frictest sense. those words to them he owns at the 36th verse, I said, I am the SON of GOD. (which as we find in S. Mat. 26.63. the Jews understood CHRIST should be.) And then to clinch the thing, he did not only affirm, the FATHER is in me, and I in Him: but that they might know and own as much, he advis'd them to credit his Miracles, which would be fure Testimonies of that grand Truth, and help to establish them in the belief of it. Tho' ye believe not me, believe the works; that ye may know and believe that

in-

ent the

th.

gu-

me

we

T's

all

w. ow of,

or,

ER

id,

his

Es-

ers m,

ne,

He

t's

the FATHER is in me, and I in bim,

Now can any be so weak as to phanfy, that the SON of GOD wrought Miracles to make us believe there is an amicable Union between his FATHER and Him? As if GOD and his SON were at fuch distance and enmity, that Miracles only could perswade us they agree; and that He appeal'd to them for the proof of that. Yet they who would not be fo filly and fenfeless, must think he wrought them to induce Men to believe their Effential Unity: or at least due consideration of them might afcertain the thing to them. And that indeed being more difficult to be believ'd, Miracles might there be more reasonably us d to help our Faith. And then I may note, that those Miracles which S. John reports in the Chapters of his Gospel preceeding this Tenth, may be very corroborative of our Faith in reference to that Article. For he gives account of CHRIST's turning Water into Wine. Of his telling the Samaritan Woman all things that ever she did. Of his healing the impotent Man diseased eight and thirty Years. Ot his feeding five thousand with five Loaves and two Small Fishes; of which after they had eaten as much as they would, there remained twelve Baskets full of Fragments. And of his restoring a Man to sight who was born Blind. Now these Miracles (besides numbers of others) being wrought by his Power;

Po aff of spe ser

W po mi

in

pe

FA do por tru

abl he beis

PE

The the pro

the be

(c)

Power; they that saw them might be well assured, that when he said he was the SON of GOD, and one with the FATHER; he spake the truth in the strictest and highest sense. For who but such an one, by his proper Might could have done those Glorious Wonders? Tho what Men of sense can possibly imagine, that so many and such mighty Wonders should be done, to convince us that GOD and his only SON live in love, and peace, and unity together?

0

n

15

10 ot

ir

1-lt

re

bn

d-

ve

10

er

0il-

ty

ve

er

re

as

es

is

1:

And indeed when he declard, I and my FATHER are one: those two words, & lower, we are one; do not only intimate, but plainly fignify their Oneness: not in Concord but in Nature, and Effence. For as the truly imports that they are two distinctly as PERSONS: so one, implies their natural Unity as strongly in ESSENCE. How agreeable then are (c) Athenagoras's words, where he speaks of the FATHER's and the SON's being one; and of the SON's being in the FA-THER, and the FATHER in the SON, by the Unity and Power of the SPIRIT? Most properly exprest. For the FATHER and the 80N, Two VITALITIES in the DEITY, being both in that Infinite SPIRIT, which is the Substance or Essence of it; they must needs be one by virtue of its Unity: One, that is,

⁽c) Legat. pro Christian. 'Evos ovt o TE HATPOS & TE TIOT: (vr o Se TE TIOT en HATPI, HATPOS ev TIO, evotates de Jusques Desquato.

Substantially, or Essentially, as they are in one and the same Substance or Essence.

To Athenagoras's Words, I shall add Tertullian's, which may pass for a Comment on this short Text; I and my FATHER are one. In reference to which he fpeaks thus to Praxen. (f) But here now fools will make a stand yea, and the blind who can't fee first, I and mp factoER fignifies two. Secondly, that are signifies not a single person, as being a plu. ral word. And then moreover, that we are one [that is one thing] not we are one [that is one person] For if He had said we are one [as to person] He might have further'd their Opinion. For une, of the fingular Number land masculine Gender] signifies a single [perfon. T Yet when he affirms two of the Mascu. line Gender, to be one by aneutral word, that belongs not to fingularity [of person] but to Unity [of Esfence.] And by and by, by faying, I and my FATHER are one, he shews they are two, which he makes equal and joins together. By which Writers we may plainly fee what early Antiquity thought of the SON

L

th

E

2.

CF

be nft

ioj

Equ

An

mul

elfe

And

rob

WOF

to t

must end

thou

o bi

for |

et to e a r

prig

nit it.

ellen vere l

bhor

o his

⁽f) Hic ergo jam gradum volunt figere stulti, imò cœi qui non videant, primo, ego & pater duorum esse significationem. Dehinc in novissimo, sumus, non ex unius esse persona, quod pluraliter dictum est. Tum, quod unum sumus, non unus sumus. Si enim dixisset quod unus sumus, potuisset adjuvare sententiam illorum. Unus enim singularis numeri significatio videtur. Adhuc cum duo masculini generis, unum dicit neutrali verbo, quod non pertinet ad singularitatem, sed ad Unitatem.

of GOD. I mean, how they believ'd his Divinity, and argu d for it by His Unity with the FATHER. I proceed to n

in

e.

x-

d.

nd

at lu-

ite

at one

eir

nd

er-

hat

t to

ay-

ews

ins nly

NC

cœci icati-

per-

mus,

s nu-

neris,

arita-

of

A Twelfth Proof of it, which may be, his Equality with GOD. We find it in Phil. 2, 6. Where the HOLY GHOST affirms of CHRIST, that He thought it not Robbery to he equal with GOD. And if he thought it no usurpation or incroachment upon GOD, no injury to, or detraction from him, to be his Equal: it must be because he really is so. And if he be fo truly and compleatly, he must be GOD as much as GOD Himself is: elle he can't have perfect Equality with Him. and if he has not, to claim it would be to ob him of his Right. So that construe the words fairly, and that will bring the point to this issue. Either that CHRIST JESUS must be equal with the FATHER in Nature and Dignity; or else he must entertain a hought infinitely arrogant as to himself, and b his FATHER as derogatory and affronting. for be a Creature never so incomparable, et to think himself Equal with GOD, must ea most grievous and intolerable presumpion: a Sin fo dreadful that any common pright Christian would tremble to commit it. And then supposing CHRIST in Exellency above all other Men (as he must be were he but a Man;). His aversion from, and phorrence of it, must needs be answerable his furpassing Goodness; and so what could could ever tempt him to it ?... When there. fore he thought himself equal with GOD, He must certainly be so. Were it demanded how the PERSONS in the GODHEAD are Equal: I would answer, in PERFECTION. For every of them being truly and naturally GOD, they must all be infinitely Perfect, and then how can one Infinite Surpass another unless it be in relative Order ? For the the Three are all infinitely Perfect; yet the infi nitely Perfect FATHER must have the pro eminence of the infinitely Perfect SON, b reason of his Begetting Him: and the infi nitely Perfect FATHER and SON, must b before the infinitely Perfect SPIRIT, by vir the of their Spiration of Him. And thus much our LORD Himself fignifies, S. Joh. 14. 28 My FATHER & Dreater than I. Implyin there is were resolve, a Grandeur, Magnifi cence, or Nability in the first, upon accoun of Paternity; which is not in the Second And therefore (a) Origen pronounces th SON, Umodelazon, inferior to the FATHER meaning in Order only. For at the fam time he declares him se iquefore on, not from ger than He. And what Origen intimates o the SON's Inferiority, Tertullian fuggelts th fame, and also notes the HOLY GHOST gradual Subordination to them both. S Exposit. of Artic. 18th.

the

dea

with ding And

dou

AT

be fa

earn

be F um

AT

e tel

J.tl

the

To

onfid

ere,

ope,

tru

onte

therre

(2) M

(i) Nec

(1) E,

⁽a) Cont. Cel. li. 8. p. 388, 0.

le

yin

OST . S.

Th

The words are very observable also which wher in them last spoken to; who being in the Form of GOD And from these I might haw faither Evidence for CHRIST's Equality with the FATHER. For (g) Form, according ly ming to Phavorinus, is properly the Effence. and by learned Expositors is made synonyner dous with (b) Nature. And so again to the the ATHER he must be equal, as being of infi be fame Nature with him; which he retained then he was lowest. For as that holy and be seemed Author says, (i) he did not so take infinite Form of a Servant, as that he should to se the lam of GOD, wherein he was equal to the vir MATHER. And if we'll believe Damascene, nucle tells us (in his Magoge, chap. 1.) soia is . 28 कार में पाइट्को सवनवे नहेंद्र वंशाहद सवनहेंद्वड, नवणने that Effence, Nature, and Form, according min the boly Fathers, are but the same thing.

oun To prove that Form is Nature, we may cond pulider; that when of CHRIST tis faid ER but, it was not meant that he affum'd the fam lope, or Appearance of a Servant only ; but from true Nature, or Quality. Indeed in the tes context, he's faid to be made (k) in the its the littles of Men; and to be found in (1) fashion

⁽⁶⁾ Mogod zugiws n soia.

⁽¹⁾ Mogod zveiws n esia. (1) Disse. (1) Neg; sie accepit formam Servi, ut amitteret formam 1, in qua érat aqualis PATRI. S. August. De TRINIT. 1. cap. 7.

⁽ Evouore uati. (1) Er muati.

figure only, as fome have phanfy'd: but yet at the same time he was a perfett Man in all respects. And therefore he is called this Man Act. 13.38; and again, Heb. 10.12; and the Man CHRIST JESUS, I Tim. 2.5: as being so far even of our Order. And if his taking the form of a Servant, signifies his taking a Servant's Nature, as well as his Condition; which he truly did: why should no his being in the form of GOD, as well significant his being GOD naturally and essentially?

Beza therefore rightly afferts, That tisth magnificent MAJESTY and GLORY of the DEITT, which (m) is the GODHEAD I SELF, that is called the FORM of GOD And then adds, (n) that all the Ancients well Greek as Latin, by the FTRY OF DEI have with perfect and perpetual Confent, under flood the DEITY of the SOID to be meant and by the form of a Servant, the humane Mature assumed by the WORD.

As a Thirteenth Argument for CHRIST DIVINITY, I offer his Eternal Empire or D minion. And that His is indefeifibly such, ware affur'd from Heaven: Thy Throne, OGOL is for ever, and ever, Pfal. 45. 6. And the

GI

H

E

WE

im

Wi

it

GC

effe

but

mu

F

in S hav

and ged

cant

oper

Part

an A

fide

Bu

NIT

mini

wini

that

and to be sta

the F

Thron

pire I

being

⁽m) Forma DEI dicitur augusta illa DEITATIS Majell ac Gloria, quæ est ipsamer DEITAS. Annot. larg. in loc.

⁽n) Veteres omnes tam Graci, tam Latini fummo perpetuo confeniu, per formam DEI, Deitatem FILII; per forma fervi, humanam naturam a VERBO fumptam intellexerut Id. ib.

CHRIST is GOD here meant, is clear from Heb. 1. 8. But unto the SDID he faith. The Thone, O GOD, is for ever, and ever: As we read in I Tim. I. 17. The Wing eterna! immortal, is part of the Title of the only Wife. Who is the only True GOD. And tho' it be compatible to none but GOD, yet GOD Himself here gives it to CHRIST in effect; for what is GOD inthron'd for ever, but the King Eternal, and Immortal? And nif must not CHRIST be GOD then?

Had CHRIST been no where stil'd GOD in Scripture, what an Objection would that f the have been against us who hold his DEITY? I and how vehemently should it have been urged? But then the only Wife GOD who cannot err, having thus declar'd him GOD openly, and expressly given him such a Partnership in his own Title; must not this be an Argument as strong and conclusive on our fide ?

10

yet Te-

lan

th

be

f bi tak

ndi

no

5 ets à

DI

ant

Da

IST

r D

1, W 300

loc. petuo

orma

xerut

RIST

But Here's farther Evidence of his DIVI-NITY still. For as to the Throne, or Dominion of his Messiabship; the Spiritual Administration, or Government of his Church ; that shall fail, or have an end: it shall cease th and terminate with this World. For then hajes be shall deliver up the Kingdom to GOD even the FATHER, I Cor. 15. 24. And fo his Throne for ever and ever, must mean his Emire Divine, as he is truly GOD; the other being but temporary.

And N 3

Ib

Anall

the

fo 1

DOI

ho

COT

pre fail

wil

pre

bei

tob

if h

gen

Ome

GO

Atti

Ales

int

free

(fai

Ball

Pra

who

Yet

CH

tha

ny 1

And to ascertain that his Dominion is ever lasting, as far as proper Words need fairly make it; His Throne is faid by the Pfalmil to be (o) Olam vaedh, for ever and ever Whereby Eternity is as well exprest, as by (p) Natsach, Kedhem, or any other word us'd by the Hebremon And when a thing i utter'd by the properest Terms a Language has what can be expected or defired more? Ye fo fully is CHRIST's Regality fee forth to be everlasting by the words mention'd; that ven GOD the FATHER's is express'd by the very fame, Pfel. 10, 16. the LORD's King, Olam vaedh, for ever and ever. I dismit this Text therefore with what (q) Justin Mar tyr fays of it, and of some others cited by him in the same Paragraph, relating to CHRIST DIVINITY. That he is to be worshipt, and is GOD, these very words expresh tigmfy.

The Fourteenth Argument for CHRIST DEITY, shall be His Ubiquity. It is a common saying amongst the Jews, that where in sit and have between them the words of the Lanthe Shechinath, or Divine Presence is between them likewise. An high Privilege; but up on his Proselytes our LORD has settl'd the very same, where-ever they meet and join his Worship. For where two or three are gether'd together in my name, says he, there mi

DIT A

⁽a) 'Ori yev z) Agoszúvnt & isi z) OEOS--- ci hiy tai Siafind nu snuaives i. Dialog. cum Teyfh.

ers!

ir!v

rift, ver!

s by

ord

g is

Ye

o be at e

the the

is fmil

Mar

hin

IST

and

p.

IST

COL

re tw

Lan

wee

t up

d th

oini

re ga

e wil

i λόγ

Ibe in the midft of them, S. Mat. 18. 20. And as he thus ingag'd to be with them at all times, and in all places, to affift and blefs them in proper ways, and futable measures: to the ingagement he will make good. now supposing him a meer Man, how he hould apply to us all at once will be hard to conceive, and impossible to be done. Really present to all he must be, else his Promise fails; and as folemn as his Word feems, it will be false and deceitful. And if he be present really, he must be so corporally, or piritually. Corporally present he can't be, it leing inconsistent with the Nature of a Body tobe but in two distant places at once. And if he be prefent Spiritually, in a manner fo general and extensive, it must be by virtue of Omnipresence. And that being compatible to 60D only, in case it be one of CHRIST's Attributes, be must be GOD too.

And that he certainly is so, will appear in the next place; from his Hearing and Anforming Prayers. OThou that hearest Prayers staid the King of Israel to GOD) unto Thee shall all stess come, Psal. 65.2. And to hear Prayers may well be GOD's sole Prerogative; when to answer them is only in his Power. Yet this Prerogative peculiar to GOD, CHRIST challenges to Himself. For to all that are His he declares; What soever ye shall whim my Name, that will I do: if you ask any thing in my Name, I will do it, S. Joh. 14.

N 4

13, 14. And however some conjecture, that the latter verse is but a redundancy crept out of the Margent into the Text; we may rather conclude it is an elegant and useful Anadiplosis, or repeated Assertion confirming the Truth that our LORD spake, and affuring us he has power to do what he promisd. And to this (r) Grotius assents.

But then I must demand, what meer Man. in the highest pitch of elevation that his Nature is capable of, can be able to attend at once to the various Petitions of Myriads of Supplicants? Especially when they are in fo many and distant Places, and under so many and different Wants, and Preffures Which is the true Case. Here to succour Numberless Numbers that are Sick, there to relieve as many that are Indigent, and elle where to release as many that are Oppresid in a word, to be present with, and affishand to fuch as are in Studies, Labours, Troubles Terrors, Dangers, Pains, Prisons, Perseco tions, and other Miseries innumerable; and fo present with, and assistant to the Sufferers as to bless and sanctify their Hardships to them, till they be rescu'd from the same Who but GOD can do this, or any thing like And therefore CHRIST having under taken it, he can be no less.

d

r

3

e

et

B

ti

fo

h

al

0

W

b

11 6 fh

to

L

01

be wi

A

fu

of

⁽r) Repetit hoc ut magis spem corum confirmet, quod ip adeo ipsis notus omnia effecta dandi sit habiturus potestaten in loc.

at

ut

ra-

na-

he

ing

sd.

an.

his

end

are

r fo

res ?

cou

re to elle

ftani

bles

fecu

and

erers

os to ame

g like

and ip

estaten

And

.7.1

And here I must add, that as Prayers are directed to CHRIST, so are Doxologies, or Forms of Praise as well. Thus in Heb. 13. Thro' JESUS CHRIST, to whom be Glory for ever and ever, amen. And in 2 S. Pet. 2. 18. Our LORD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, to whom be Glory both now and for ever. Amen. And in Rev. 5. 13. we find every Creature in Heaven, and on the Earth, and under the Earth, and in the Sea, giving Bleffing, Honour, Glory, and Power unto him that sitteth on the Throne, and to the LAMB for ever and ever. And when all Creatures in the Universe conspire or unite in the highest general Adoration they can yield; and direct it as much to the LAMB, or SON of GOD; as to the FATHER Himfelf: what does this Equality of Worship done to both alike fignify, but that their Nature is the same? Especially when the HOLY GHOST has so expresly recorded it; which thews it equally grateful, and fo equally Due to Both the PERSONS; as well to the LAMB, as to Him upon the Throne.

Another Proof of CHRIST's DEITY, shall be his Dispensing Divine Favours in concert with the other PERSONS of the HOLY TRI-AD. And therefore when St. Paul pray d for such Favours to Christians; he apply'd to those Sacred THREE for them. The Grace of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, and the Love of GOD, and the Communion of the HOLY

GHOST,

GHOST, be with you all. Amen. 2 Cor. 13. ult. Where it is obvious to note, that in token the Three VITALITIES or living Hypoftafes who join in conferring Divine Favours upon us are all Equal in their Perfections: S. Paul mentions the SON First, by his other Titles. And when from the Order in which the HOLY THREE here frand I argue them all to be equally Divine . I do but imitate the great S. Ferome: For upon that Text his Comment is this. Contra Arianos, qui ideo PATREM majorem effe contendunt : quis plerung; primus nominatur in ordine. This lies against the Arians, who maintain the FA-THER to be the greater; because He's most commonly nam'd first in order.

And I may well note another thing here, very observable. That CHRIST did not only Difpense high Favours to his Church, but even the HOLY SPIRIT Himself. I will send the SPIRIT of Truth from the FATHER, S. John. 15. 26. And I will fend Him unto you. chap. 16. 7. Thus our LORD promifed. And that he did actually fend him, the glorious effects of his Mission recorded in the Sacred Book, are ample Testimonies. But then does not this thew that CHRIST was GOD? For is it at all decent or tolerable, that a meer Man tho never so advanced, should command the HOLY SPIRIT of GOD? that he should fend him when and where, and how, and to whom he thinks fit?

Ĺ

ti

fi

V

k

h

C

fo

ft

Sa

de

by

ar

A

d

fit? This would no way comport with the exceeding tenuity of the meanest rational Creature that ever the great GOD made and the Divinest SPIRIT's infinite Dignity, and Perfection.

Again, (to use another Argument) CHRIST's DIVINITY is evident, from his averring it to the Jewish High-priest. I mean, in S. Mat. 26. 64. 7ESUS faith unto him, Thou haft fait. The High Priest being desirous to know whether he were the true Messiah, who he knew was to be GOD's SON; and finding him backward to discover Himself: he put (1) the Oath of execuation upon him, faying, ladjure thee by the living GOD, that thou tell us whether thou be CHRIST the SON of GOD. And thus our LORD was necessitated to speak the truth, as much as an Oath obliges us Christians to do it. And he being under this force, tho' before he was filent, now he speaks plainly and to the purpose; for he faith unto him, thou haft faid: or fo I am. And that this he own'd politively, is recorded more than once. For when he was ask'd by the High-priest, in the 14th of St. Mark, art thou CHRIST the SON of THE BLES-SED? JESUS answered and said, 3 am. And when the Elders of the People, and the chief Priests, and the Scribes demanded of him, art thou the SON of GOD? He said un-

h

n

ia

e, n-

ut

d

to O-

m,

in 25.

a-

d, ot

nd ks

t?

שביעה תאלה (נ)

And so we have the authentick Testimony of CHRIST Himself, who is Truth it self to confirm his own DIVINITY. And thus the point is brought to this Head in short. If CHRIST when adjur'd by the High-priest to speak the truth, did in that circumstance affirm he was the SON of GOD (as 'tis manifest he did) he must really be so, or else must be a perjur'd wretch; which what Christian does not abborr to think?

And when the folemn Question, art thon the SON of GOD? was askt; we need not doubt but it was meant of his being GOD's SON in the bigbest Sense. For when CHRIST answer'd it on the Affirmative (because they did not believe it) (t) the Highpriest rent his Clothes, and cry'd out of Blasphemy, and all condemn'd him to be guilty of Death. Now had the Question been whether he were GOD's adoptive SON? besides impertinence in proposing it, as the Scruting would not have been so strict, so the answer given could not have met with such deep and hot resentments; for he at worst then could have been but an Hipocrite, at the discovery of which, as the High-priest could not have cry'd out of Blasphemy, so he would not have rent his clothes neither, (which should he have done as oft as he discerned Peoples Hypocrify, I fear he must have gone very

ea

be

th

did

to

⁽t) S. Mark 14. 63, 64.

much in Raggs.) Evident it is therefore that the enquiry went upon his being GOD's SON truly and naturally. Only they not thinking he was so, made them take the Answer so hainously, tho' it was true.

0

0 ft

ın

ot

o

e-

b-ıf-

of

er

n-

ny

er

nd

ve

of

ve

ve

he les

ry

ch

But then the Question being so put, it will be needful to look a little narrowly if not micely into the Answer; the better to clear up the weighty Problem. Here therefore we must consider, that the Answerour LORD neturn'd, must be either direct, or indirect.

have great reason to believe; then when CHRIST reply'd to the High-priest, thou hast said, whose Question had respect to his being GOD's Proper SON: without more adoe he must be so in the stratest manner. I mean, by eternal Generation, and so as much, or more than any Man can be the Son of an earthly Father. And then the Dispute is sairly at an end.

If his Answer were Indirect; then as it was unworthy of him, so it cannot be defended.

For 1st, the Enquirers sought to know and be satisfied touching his natural Divine Subjections. A Query of the highest Importance, as being of eternal Consequence. And therefore if he gave an Answer to it (as he did immediately) who can think it should be indirect? Especially when he came into the World to teach the great Truths of GOD:

GOD; and to suffer for Men's Happiness and Salvation.

fo oblig'd to speak directly and clearly; and so he did. And so indeed any good Christian, or honest Man must have done in the like case.

aly. If he were not GOD's only SON in the sublimest way and quality, when he pretended to be fo; he must have been guilty of an horrid Capital Sin, deserving death from the very Jews. For if a false Prophet was to die, Dent. 18. 20. then how much more a Counterfeit Messiah? Which had be been, the Jews complained justly to Pilate, me have a Law, and by our Law he ought to die, because he made himself the SON of GOD, S. John 19. 7. But pray what SON of GOD then could he mean he was, or could the fews think he meant but his eternal SON? For had he been his regenerate SON only, neither could be bave deserved Death, por could the Jews have fought his Life for faying that by any Law.

fusser a cruel and bitter Death, and he knew as much. And could any good Man think that a juncture to dissemble and lye in, and notoriously to Blaspheme? So that had CHRIST been but a Mortal of common Probity, he durst not have said he was GOD's SON in the Jews Sense. But he being the

SON

SO

Ca

lv

th

fire

no

im

do

Ar

to

DU

fta bu

ter

ly wi

fro

Rr

TY

FIC

W

ftle

ЭE

SON of GOD in the highest Notion and Capacity (as I have proved) and he plainly and publickly declaring even at that time that so he was: we have reason enough firmly to believe that so he is. Else He did not, nor He could not answer directly to the important Interrogatory: Which yet He must do. For

d

e

n ÿ

h

et

h

d.

bt

of

N

10

7-

te

d

is

to

W ik id

o. O's

ne

N

Lastly, We know what the Sacred infallible Word says concerning him: Who did no Sin, neither was guild found in his Mouth. And therefore when so plain and momentons a Question was put to him by the High-priest of the Jewish Nation in the Circumstances he was in then; we need not doubt but he answer'd it sincerely, according to the tenour and true scape of it. He must certainly do so, he could not possibly do otherwise; all fraud and collusion being as far from his Words, as Sin it self was from his Rractice.

The last Argument for our LORD's DEI-TY, shall be hamane Testimonies, or Authonities cited out of some Primitive Fathers who flourisht in the first three Centuries.

The first I bring in shall be out of the Writings of S. Ignatius. He begins his Episse to them at Smyrna thus. (u) I glorifie JESUS CHRIST ODD that made you so wise.

⁽¹⁾ Δοξάζω ΙΗΣΟΥΝ ΧΡΙΣΤΟΝ τον ΘΕΟΝ τον έτως τημές συφίζαντα.

11

11

in

NS

cla

DA

aft

11

pre

Fle

fpe.

GO

ver

CHI

hen

elf l

WOI

Sours

κάρθ

Speec

be b litt

LONDY

otten

(9) (0

acias.

(d) 1

(f) 'A

(g) E

even

And presently speaking of our LORD, he pronounces him (w) to be truly of the linage of David according to the Flesh, and the Dill of DDD according to the Will and Power of GOD. Where truly, reaches to both Natures and Relations equally; and shews him to be as truly GOD in respect of the one, as he is truly Flesh in regard of the other. And when he calls CHRIST GOD, and glorises him as GOD; are not these good tokens that he own'd his DIVINITY? I might also note, that in the same Epistle he affirms him to be some to the FATHER: and indeed so joined to him, as to (x) be one with him.

And in his Epistle to Polycarp, towards the end of it he has this Expression: (y) I pray in our GOO JESUS CHRIST.

In his Epistle to the Ephesians he speaks thus of Him. (2) There is one Physician cannal and spiritual, begotten and unbegotten, made in the Flesh, GOD in true immortal Life; both of Mary and of GOD. And in another Paragraph of the same Epistle, of him he says, (a) Nothing is hid from the LORD, but

⁽w) 'Αλιθώς όντα έκ γένες Λαβίδ κατά σάςκα, νέτ ΘΕΟΥ κατά θέλημα κ δύναμιν ΘΕΟΥ. (x) ήνωμένο. (γ) Έν ΘΕΩ ήμων ΙΗΣΟΥ ΧΡΙΣΤΩ ευχομαι.

⁽z) Eis lareos es in sagrinos te i, w eupatino:, yentik i, ayener@, en sagri yeroperor. ΘΕΟΣ en abandto ζαι αλαθιτη i, en Magias i en ΘΕΟΥ.

⁽a) 'Ουδέν λανθάνει τον κύριον, άλλα ε τά κρυπα ήμον λγρύς άυτα ες ιν. Πάντα εν ποιωμέν ώς Αυτε εν ύμιν καί. οικεντ Θ, ενα ώμεν 'Αυτε ναὸι, κ' Αυτο: ή εν ήμεν ΘΕΟ Σήμων.

therefore do all things are near him: let us therefore do all things as having him dwelling in us, that we may be his Temples, and he in us may be our GOD, And by and by he declares, that (b) JESUS CHRIST our GOD was carry d in the Womb of Mary. And soon after, that he was (c) GOD manifested like a Man. Little different from S. Paul's expression, (d) GOD was manifested in the Flesh. And in the same Epistle Ignatius speaks of our (e) receiving the knowledge of GOD, who is JESUS CHRIST. And in the very beginning of it he calls the Blood of CHRIST, (f) the Blood of GOD.

e

2

of 1.

m

as

ld

es

ns

1 ns

n-

de

I

aks ar-

en,

her he

but

vo.

POTE

Zui

ที่นอง

Kaj.

nous

In his Epistle to the Magnesians he tells hem that (g) the one GOD manifested himlest by JESOS CHRIST his SON, who is his WORD. Or parties, not a word spoken, and sould not, but an essential one: & raight is not the voice of articulate speech; and every that be begotten being of a Divine Energy. And little before he calls him, Aor, OEOS, worry vinc vide; GOD the WORD, the only besteen SON. And soon after exhorts to

⁽b) Ο ΘΕΟΣ ήμων ΙΗΣΟΥΣ ΧΡΊΣΤΟΣ ἐκυοφορήθη ὑπό αριας. (c) ΘΕΟΣ ἀνθρωπίνως φαιερέμενΘ.

⁽d) 1 Tim. 3. 16. (e) Λαζόντές ΘΕΟΥ γνῶσι", δ ες λη ΙΗΣΟΥΣ ΧΡΙΣΤΟΣ.

⁽f) 'Αναζωπυρήσαντες εν Ζιματι ΘΕΟΤ.
(g) Εἶς ΘΕΟΣ ἔςιν ὁ φανερώσας ἐαυτὸν διὰ ΙΗΣΟΥ ΡΙΣΤΟΥ τεὐκ 'Αυτε, ὄς ἐςιν 'Αυτε ΛΟΓΟΣ ἀἶδιΘ.

faith in CHRIST JESUS. And if the SON were not GOD as well as the FATHER, why should he be made as much the object of Christian Faith, as he is? Tho' (by the way) what is more urged in the Gospel than he lieving in CHRIST? A sure sign he must be GOD; when he is cursed that trusteth in Man, Jer. 17.5.

In the close of his Epistle to the Philade phians, he wishes the LORD JESUS CHRIS might honour them; in (h) whom they have with Flesh, Soul, Faith, Charity, Concor And who is, or ever was, or ever can be the Object, the lawful Object of such an Ho but the true GOD?

In his Epistle to the Trallians he min them, that (i) by believing in the Death CHRIST JESUS they might avoid dyin And he there gives substantial reason fort Virtue of such a Faith, and for the savin Estimate of his Death: namely, that he (k) the SON of the FATHER; and so he Merit and Sufferings procure Pardon a Happiness for Sinners. Whereas (1) with out him, as the Father says, we have not life.

(1) 'Οῦ χωρίς τὸ αληθινόν ζην κα έχομεν.

the

be

00

NI'

Igna

7ES

Wb

dran

bem

bou

ch.

acco

ome

Of t

efen

our'

ome

bese

we e liv'

ons

estin

Y. V

an A

(m) E EOT pa

(n) Ex

(P) Au (9) Prio

⁽h) Εἰς δν ἐλπίζεσιν σαςκὶ, ψυχῦ, πίςει, ἀγάπη, όμως (i) Ἰνα πιςεύσαντες ἐις τὸν θάνατον Αυτε τὸ ἀποθα ἐκούγητε. (k) Ὑιος το ΠΑΤΡΟΣ.

Lastly, in his Epistle to the Romans, he thus expresseth himself. (m) Suffer me to be an imitator of the Passion of CHRISI my 60D. Meaning, in Dying for the Truth.

y

be

del

IS

hor

cor

Hop

, SILOTE

a Total

Laft

These Passages thew our LORD's DIVI-NITY in the Epistles of S. Ignatius. Of that Ignatius who (n) owns he saw the LOBD JESUS in the Flesh after his Resurrection. Who lived familiarly with the Apostles, and drank of the Spiritual Streams which flowed from bem, fays (o) St. Chryfostom. hought worthy of the Bishoprick of Antithe th, and was promoted to it by great Peter, according to (p) Theodoret) who by S. Jeome is call'd (q) the Prince of the Apostles. ning of that Ignatius who laid down his Life in the efence of the Christian Faith, being dedyin our'd by Lions: and as he was going to ome to be martyr'd there, wrote some of ort avit hese Epistles in his Passage thither. So that he we think seriously who he was, and when so leliv'd, and how he died; these Consideran at ons must add weight and strength to the mil estimonies he gives of CHRIST's DIVINI-not Y. Which being recorded by him, so ear-Y. Which being recorded by him, so earan Author, fo good a Man, fo found a ⁽m) Entres Late por minitive a at Tales XPISTOY To EOT US.

^{(&}quot;) Eyo yas i peta the avasaste er sagni autir olda. ad Smyrn. (o) Hom. in S. Ignat.

⁽¹⁾ Διά τε μεγάλε Πέτρε δεξιάς. Dialog. 1.

⁴⁾ Princeps Apostolorum. Catal. No. 1.

Christian, so great a Bishop, so eminent a Saint, and just going to be a glorious Martyr; what fingle humane Evidence can be expected or defired, more ancient, more clear, and fo more cogent than bis for our LORD's DEITY? For he calls him GOD expresly, and calls him fo frequently, no fewer than ten times as has been noted, in his Seven short Epistles. And good reason when a Prophet call'd him to, The might GOD, Ifai. 9. 6. And an Evangelist call him fo. GOD with us, S. Mat. 1. 23. An an Apostle call'd him so, My LORD, and my GOD, S. Joh. 20. 28. And which i more than all, GOD Himself call'd him so Thy Throne, OGOD, Heb. 1.8.

To oppose to all this, that Moses wa made a GOD to Pharanh; and so the CHRIST was called GOD, he may be fo n more than He: would be a vain Objection For that great Man was faid to be a GOI with manifest restriction; to one Person, that is, the King of Egypt; in one case, to hun ble and destroy him; and for one End, o Purpose, to deliver Israel out of Bondage And therefore Onkelos renders Elohim, GOD there, 27 a Grandee, or Prince, or Potenta to Pharaoh, to plague or punish him. An Jonathan interprets it the fear or dread Phareah, as he was to denounce dreading Judgments against him, and to doom him dismal Severities. But did any Jew, or Chri fian

Ai

to cla

El

dir

of

CH

45.

wh

Th

min

the

ish A

H

anci

ras. Chori

as to

UNI

that this.

that there

end t Arista

beir

(1) 7

TION IN

zzovoa

fian, or Egyptian either; ever think Moses to be the more a GOD, for what was so declar'd concerning him? Indeed the Name Elohim given absolutely to any one, points directly at GOD Himself, and can be so used of no other. And therefore being used of CHRIST without limitation, as it is in Pfal. 45.6; it signifies he is perfect GOD. But where was Moses call'd GOD but once ? Tho' CHRIST has been all along fo denominated, both by Inspir'd Writers, and other Christian ones in General. But no fewand if Authors, no, not one of them ever durst h i do great Moses that honour.

n for Having done with St. Ignatius, the next incient Writer I mention shall be Athenagoas. And the out of him I shall take but one hort Excerption, yet so pregnant will it be, as to attest the Being of the TRINITY in William UNITY, with the same force and clearness, that it does our SAVIOUR'S DEITY. It is that this. (r) Who would not be concern'd to hear that they should be call'd Atheists, that so hold d, o there is GOD the FATHER, GOD the SON, dage and the HOLY GHOST; as to explain the hold frishness of their Unity, and the Distinction of

beir Order? ental

it a lar

be

Ore

ou OD

no , it for ght

all An

wa

tho

An ad o

adfu imt

Chri Rian

The

⁽i) Τίς ἔν ἐκ ἀν ἀπορήσαι, λέγοντας ΘΕΟΝ ΠΑΤΕΡΑ κ) ΠΟΝ ΘΕΟΝ κ ΤΙΝΕΥΜΑ "ΑΓΙΟΝ, δεικνύντας αυτών κ την έν τη ένωσει δύναμιν, κό την έν τη τάξει διαίζετιν, πούσας άθεις καλεμένες; Legac, pro Christ.

The Third Author of great and high worth thall be Justin Martyr. Who making mention (s) of the LOGOS formed and made Man, and called JESUS; thus expresseth himself. (t) And besides the common Generation, we say, he was peculiarly begorten of GOD, the LOGOS of GOD. And tho' by and by he declares, that (u) the LOGOS is the SON according to the FATHER and LORD GOD of the Universe; yet he adds, being incarnate be was made Man. And (w) elsewhere he affirms, that be is both GOD, and the Messenger sent from the FATHER. And foon after, (x) CHRIST the LORD and GOD is the SON of GOD. And again (to add no more Testimonies of his, tho' very many might be alledg'd) he declares, that he (1) is GOD to be adored, and CHRIST. Tatianus also his Contemporary, speaking of the HOLY GHOST, call him Ton Diazoron To The ποιθότ . ΘΕΟΥ: the Minister of ODD who fuster'd, meaning CHRIST.

(t) Καὶ ἰδίως παρά την κοινήν γένεσιν γεγηθαι αυτονία ΘΕΟΥ λέγομεν, ΛΟΓΟΝ ΘΕΟΥ. Ιb.

(w) 'Aυτός ων & ΘΕΟΣ, & "Αγγελ Φ παςα τε ΠΑ ΤΡΟΣ πεπεμμέν Φ. Dialog. cum Tryph

(y) Перотичностья у ΘΕΟΣ, у XPISTOS.

of t

and mea

GO.

in t

the .

not

was

He

only

afie GO to l

He

Min

thin

and

Cha

(z ПАП

(0

OTT

(b)

(0

(0

7078

in G

dovo

⁽⁵⁾ To AOTOT μος φωθέντ Φ κ ανθεώπε γενεμένε, ι IHEOT XPIETOT κληθέντ Φ. Apol. 2.

⁽u) Μετά Πατέςα πάντων η Δεσπότην ΘΕΟΝ ΥΙΟΣ ΛΟΓΟΣ 251. 1b.

⁽x) ΚΥΡΙΟΣ ὁ ΧΡΙΣΤΟΣ, κ) ΘΕΟΣ, ΘΕΟΥ ΤΙΟΣ υπάρχου.

gh

ng

de

th

ne-

1 of

ind

the

RD

in-

lie-

and

And

OD.

no

tang

(y)

the 76

who ys, x

ròs in 102

E IIA

7102

The

The next famous Writer a good Witness. of this great Truth, shall be Clement of Alexandria. He tells us that our Schoolmaster. meaning CHRIST, is not only the SON of GOD, and like his FATHER, (2) but GOD in the likeness of Man, the LOGOS GOD in the FATHER, and GOD with a Figure. He notes also (a) that CHRIST being GOD, it was not agreeable he should learn any thing. He pronounces (b) JESUS also to be the one only true, good, righteous SON of the FATHER after his Image and Similitude, the WORD of GOD. And in the same Chapter owns him to be (c) the GOD and Maker of all things. He says likewise, (d) that the SON of GOD does not go from place to place, but is always wery where, and is contained no where, all Mind, all paternal Light, all Eye, feeth all things, heareth all things, knoweth all things, and by Power searcheth the Powers: Divine Characters.

⁽τ) ΘΕΟΣ ἐν ἀνθρώπε χήματι, ΛΟΓΟΣ ΘΕΟΣ ἐν τώ ΠΑΤΡΙ, σύν τὸ τις χήματι ΘΕΟΣ. Pædag. li 1. cap. 2. (a) 'Αλλά προσμαθείν μέν Αυτον είκος τολέ ἐν, ΘΕΟΝ ίντα. Ib. cap. 6.

⁽b) Είναι ε΄ α μόνον αληθινόν, αγαθόν, δίκαιον, κατ' εκό. τα κ' ὁμοίωσιν τε ΠΑΤΡΟΣ ΥΙΟΝ ΙΗΣΟΥΝ, Τ ΔΟΓΟΝ τῦ ΘΕΟΥ. 1b. cap. 11.

⁽c) ΘΕΟΣ & Sumise Soc.

⁽d) Ου μεταβάιιων εκ τόπε εἰς τόπον, πάντη δε ἀν παντοτε, κὶ μεδαμή περιεχόμεν , ὅλ Ο νῶς, ὅλ Ο ρῶς πατρώον, ἱλ Ο ἐφθαλμὸς, πάντα ὁρῶν, πάντα ἀκεῶν ἐιδῶς πάντα, δυνάμη τὰς δυνάμης ἐρευνῶν. Strom. li. 7.

J

0 d

Sa

th fu

B

th

UE

th

in

So

mo

be fep.

nit

hin

of (

wit S. C

The Last I cite shall be Origen, Disciple to the aforesaid Clement. Touching CHRIST he fays thus; (e) of whose DICIIIITO there are so many Witnesses. And after that. (f) but if the Soul of JESUS he faid to be united to the so great SON of GOD, by the highest Communion, never to be separated from him, it is no wonder. Where he plainly hints two Natures in CHR!ST, the Great SON of GOD, and the Soul of JESUS. Nor does he only intimate this, but clearly and confidently teach and recommend it, infifting upon it as if he would inculcate it. For (as he goes on) Things that by Nature are two, according to what Scripture fays, are well known to be one, and are so reputed. And then instances in Husband and Wife, who being joined together are one Flesh; and in the Perfect Man, who being joined to the LORD is one Spirit. And from thence he infers; (g) But if he that is joined to the LORD is one SPIRIT how much more the Soul of FESUS when joined to the LORD, to the LOGOS it

(e) Ou f Omornt & uderuges as rosauras. Cont. Cel.

(f) Εί δε τω τηλικέτω Υιώ τε ΘΕΟΥ ήνω Δαι φάσκοντες τη άκρα μετοχή εκώιε την ΙΗΣΟΥ Τυχήν, εκ ετι χωρίζο μενην απ εκώνε αυτήν εδεν θαυμασόν. Ιδ. li. 6.

⁽g) Εὶ δὲ ὁ κολλώμεν Θ τως ΚΥΡΙΩ ἐ Π ἔυμα ἐςἰ, τίς μαλλον τ ΙΗΣΟΥ ψυχῆς ἡ καν παραπλησίω κεκολληται τῷ ΚΥΡΙΩ, τω ἀντολόχω, κὰ ἀντοσοφία, κὰ ἀντοαληταί τῷ ΚΥΡΙΩ, τω ἀντολόχω, κὰ ἀντοσοφία, κὰ ἀντοσοκικαιοσύνη; "Όπες εἰ ἐτως ἔχει, ἐκ ἀντονο ἡ ψυχὴ τὰς ΙΗΣΟΥ πρὸς τ πάση: κτίσεως προτότοιο ΘΕΟΝ ΛΟΓΟΝ.

felf, to Wisdom it self, to Truth it self, to Righteousness it self? And so the Soul of FE-SUS, and GOD the LOGOS the First-born of all the Creatures, are not two; as being made one by closest Union.

0

t.

be

b:

m

ly

eat

10

nd

ift-

10

are ell

nd be-

the RD

TS;

US.

Sit

Cell.

10976

we1 0-

i, 715

AHTEL

c AS יוס אנדד

felf,

Then he fets down this deep Thought, or divine Notion well worthy of himself. We say, from the authority of sacred Scripture, that to the Body of CHRIST which is the Church, the SON of GOD is a SOUL; but the Members of that whole Body are the Faithful. For as the Soul enlivens and moves the Body, which of it self has no living motion, so the LOGOS by a wonderful energy exciting his Body to things that ought to be done, moves every Member of the Church at once, doing nothing without reason. And then he closes up the Point thus. This therefore as I think, being not contemptible, what hinders that the Soul of JESUS, and JESUS in the whole by a most high and incomparable communion should be so join'd to the LOGOS it self; as not to be separated from the only Begotten and Firstborn of every Creature, nor to he another Different from him? So said this Man of infinite Learning, as Archbishop Tillotson terms him. Let the wife note it.

To the Five Greek Fathers Testimonies, of CHRIST's DIVINITY, I take in the concurrent Evidence but of Two Latin ones, with all Brevity. They are Tertullian, and S. Cyprian. With their joint Suffrages they fairly fairly come up to, and confirm the same High Article in their Writings, upon one and the same occasion or account. (b) GOD alone could teach how he would be pray'd to. fays the one; commending the Prayer composed by our LORD. (i) Let us pray as GOD our Master has taught us, says the other. And fo Both agree in confirming CHRIST's DEITY, and found their Arguments upon the same Instance.

But the CHRIST be truly GOD, yet because I advance not so far into the Creed as to take notice of it where that mentions it; let me here insert, that he is as truly Man too. And so this Creed in the sequel of it rightly informs us, where it fays, that our LORD JESUS CHRIST, the SON of GOD, is GOD and Man. Perfect GOD, and Perfect Man. A Man as absolute, and compleat in all respects of Nature, as any SON of Adam. In proof of it, we need but confult and transiently consider what occurs in 1 Theff. 5. 23. Where Heaven gives us a kind of Standard by which to measure Humanity. For there it makes δλόκληςον ημών, the whole of us, or entire Man, to consist of SPIRIT, SOUL, and BODY. And was it not just so with our LORD? That he had a Body is cer.

co

W

SC

GI

aff

STI

CHR

hac i

⁽b) DEUS folus docere potuit, ut se vellet orari. Tertu'. lib. de Orar.

⁽i) Oremus ficut Magister DEUS docuit. S. Cipt. de Orat, Domin, tain's elfe how could he be born, be betrav'd, and feiz'd on as He was? and fo basely and cruelly abus'd and crucify'd? And that He had Juxin, an Animal, or Sensitive Soul; is as manifest from his Motion, Hunger, Thirst, Weariness, and the like. And then that he had Ilveuna, a Rational, Immortal Spirit; is as evident. I mean, from his last Words; FATHER, into Thy Hands I commend my Spirit. How notoriously weak therefore and shallow must they be. who phanfy'd our LORD's Body was animated by the DIVINITY? Yet this was the Error of Apollinarists, and Arians, according to (k) S. Austin. And it lies cross to several Texts of Scripture. For then how could his Soul be exceeding forrowful unto death. S. Mar. 14. 34? Or how could he give up the CDDSU, S. Mar. 15. 37; when he had none? Or how could he have committed his Spirit to his FATHER's care. when had it been the DIVINITY, it could not have needed it?

S

it

ur

d

in

m.

n-23.

ard

ere

or JL.

rith

cer.

ertu'.

Cypi.

ain;

Having thus shewed the DEITY of the SON, I am next to prove that of the HOLY GHOST; who in this Article is as positively affirmed to be GOD, as either of the other-

Divine PERSONS there mention'd. that he really is so will appear these five ways.

His Names, or Titles. His Properties, or Attributes. The Worship paid to him.

From His Dispensing Supernatural Gifts. The Punishment of such as Sin against him.

First, from his Names. For He is called GOD. And if not directly and explicitly, yet by implication and necessary Confequence. And therefore when Ananias lyed to the HOLY GHOST, S. Peter told him very plainly, thou hast not lyed unto Men, but unto GOD, Ad. 5. 4. Which, had not the HOLY GHOST been truly and naturally GOD, he could not have fo pronounc'd Him.

And that he is certainly GGD, we have another good Proof in I Cor. 6. 19. Your Body is the Temple of the HOLY GHOST which is in you. But were not the HOLY GHOST GOD, as He could have no Right to a Temple; fo neither could his inhabitation in Christians convert them into Temples for himself. Yet his gracious Presence being attended with such a Consecrative Power, as can turn the Bodies of Good Men into facred Temples; must He not be GOD?

Besides; (as was above noted) he is said to be the SPIRIT of GOD and that in Scripture is his common Appellative. And the

SPI-

t

1

to

de

(1

cr ai

DI

kn

and

W

the

(4

SPIRIT which is of GOD, I Cor. 2. 12. And the SPIRIT which proceedeth from the FATHER, S. John 15. 26. (k) Proceedeth out of him, as an Emanation or Efflux from himself: and for that very reason he must be connatural with Him, and so as truly GOD as the FATHER is. Which will be apparent, Secondly, from his Properties. And having noted Two of them already, his Eternity, and Almightiness; I shall go upon but Two more, His Omniscience, and Omnipresence.

1st, his Omniscience. This is evident from 1 Cor. 2. 11. the SPIRIT fearcheth all things, yea, the Deep things of GOD. And he that not only views all things without, but fearches them within, and so pierces into them as to look entirely thro' them all; must needs be Omniscient. Especially when he penetrates into the Deep things of GOD, and understands them throughly. For his descrying (1) the Profundities of GOD; that is, his Counsels, Decrees, and most Mysterious Secrets: this shews his Omniscience to Perfedion, and that Perfection demonstrates his DEITY. For no one but GOD can ever know the things of GOD. The Apostle owns and illustrates as much in the next verse. What Man knoweth the things of a Man, Save the Spirit of a Man which is in him? Even so

n

7

15 id

p.

⁽A) Extogeveras.

⁽¹⁾ Ta Ba'3n.

the things of GOD knoweth none but the SPI. RIT of GOD. And truly what but an infinite SPIRIT who is GOD, could fearch and fee thro' the infinite Abysses of GOD?

1

t

al

u

tl

th

fi

di

71

A

fhi

bo

2ly, His Omnipresence is manifest from 1 Cor. 3. 16. Ye are the Temple of GOD, and the SPIRIT of GOD dwelleth in you. And he whose Presence is so expansive as to dwell in all good Christians, it may as well be immense or boundless; and so spred thro Infinite Space, which alone can contain an Infinite SPIRIT. And that Passage in the 139th Psalm, Whither shall I go from Thy SPIRIT? implies as much.

Thirdly, That the HOLY CHOST is truly GOD, may be strongly argu'd, from the Worship paid to him. For divine Worship perform'd to any by heaven's Authority or Approbation, thews that Perfon to be Divine. Yet Holy Prayer an eminent piece of that Worship, was long since directed to the HOLY GHOST; and that by S. Paul himfelf a great Apostle inspir'd from above. Witness the concluding verse of his second Epistle to the Corinthians: The Grace of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, and the Love of GOD, and the Communion of the HOLY GHOST be with you all. Amen. Where it is remarkable to my purpose, that as the HOLY GHOST is rankt with the FATHER and the SON, and thereby made equal to both; fo he is equally worshipp'd by being alike invocated. And then then which shews their personal Distinction, they are devoutly apply'd to for three Different Bleffings, as being fo many distinct Donours, or Fountains of them, as it were. Tho' confidering this folemn Petition of the Apostle's, it may be somewhat surprizing to think, that any learned Divines should queftion whether Prayers were ever made to the HOLY SPIRIT, in the three first Centuries after CHRIST. But if the Question goes upon publick Prayer to Him (as it does) then that omission was the more culpable, for this Warrant here given for this Duty, and its being thus exemplify'd by St. Paul. Tho' that He was betimes highly ador'd we learn from the Nicene Creed. Who with the Father and the Son together is worshipped and glorify'd.

And that he was worshipt by the Primitive Church is plainly witness'd by Justin Martin. Who as he calls him (m) The Divine SPIRIT; so he declares in his (n) Second Apology; The Prophetick Spirit we worship and adore, honouring him with reason and truth. And how he was then honour'd and worshipt, we learn from Polycarp, who being bound to the Stake and ready to be burned for CHRIST, did piously thus express him-

(т) Оног Пуециа.

10

of 10

n-

e.

ıd

ur

D, be le T

al-

nd en

or sent a color a me

⁽η) Πνεύμα τε το Προφήτικον σεβόμεθα κ προσκυνώμεν, λόγφ κ αληθώς τιπώντε:.

felf. (o) I will glorifie thee, (O GOD) thro' the Eternal High Priest JESUS CHRIST thy beloved SON, thro' whom to thee, with him, and the HOLYGHOST, be Glory now and World without end. Clemens of Alexandria also informs us of as much, where he earnestly exhorts, that we would (p) Night and Day give thanks and praise; and that praising we would give Thanks. But to whom? It follows, to the one FATHER, and to the SON, together with the HOLYGHOST. And what is Thanksgiving but a branch of Prayer? to which I raise is Worship equally Divine.

CI

DO

10

W

Wa

ly

bid

ber

lov

ope

our

join

GO

how

F

GHC

erna

Difp

ous G wond indeed

IY;

He

And

And to this practice of the Primitive, that of our excellent Church is agreable. For besides that she prays to GOD so solemnly, and to every PERSON in the GODHEAD so distinctly, in the Beginning of her incomparable Litany: so how sutably does she praise and honour them in that admirable Doxology; Glory be to the FATHER, and to the SON, and to the HOLY GHOST; as it was in the Beginning, is now, and ever shall be, World without end, Amen: Which is so constantly, and frequently used in her daily Service? So that in our publick Service we

(P) Νύκτως μεθ' ἡμέςαν— ευχαρισενται αίνειν, αίνει τας ευγαρισείν, τω μόνω ΠΑΤΡΙ, κ' ΥΙΩ, σύν τω ΑΤΙΩ ΠΝΕΥΜΑΤΙ. Padagog. li.3. Sub. Fin.

⁽ο) Σὲ δοξάζω διὰ τὰ ἀιωνία Αρχιερέως ΙΗΣΟΥ ΧΡΙΣ-ΤΟΥ τὰ αγαπετὰ σὰ Παίδ Φ δὶ δ σδι σύν 'Αυτῷ, τὸ ΠΝΕΥΜΑΤΙ ΑΓΙΩ δόξα, τὸ νῦν, τὸ κὶς τὰς μέλλοντας ἀιῶνας. 'Αμὴν. Ευβερ. li. 4. cap. 15.

set & sofa To 925, 3 waler, 3 To after reveyed epit. Fal Smirnocomm Safa Banks xuplor repor Inser Xprov Si & sor & to Sta & Dovapies sir to reveyed agree. vi until comiter Ignahi in achi ein martyri 1.60 8.61 come not short of the ancient Christians. For as they had (according to Justin Martyr) (a) common Prayers, so have we an unparallel'd Volume, or compleat System of common Devotions. O that they were but as laudably us'd, as they are wifely and pioufly compos'd. But here is our great and never enough to be lamented fault; that we do not duly frequent the Divine Service, and join in it with meet reverence and zeal. What, have we forgot the time when it was violently fnatcht from us; and not only the publick but private use of it was forbidden under Penalties? Or if we remember those Sacrilegious Times, are we so in love with them as to wish their Return and open a way for it? Yet when we despise our peerless Liturgy by careless neglecting to oin in it; what do we less than provoke 60D to renew that fad Calamity? and how justly and speedily may he do it?

Fourthly, The DEITY of the HOLY GHOST may be evinc'd, from his Dispensing Supernatural GIFTS to Men. An Account of this Dispensation, and a Catalogue of those Glorious Gifts, we have in 1 Cor. 12. But of all the wonderfull Gifts, there mention'd, which indeed demonstrate the SPIRIT's DIVINITY; for brevity's sake I insist but on Two.

He impower'd Men to work Miracles.

And he inabl'd them to Prophefy.

P

De

V,

at

to

at

or y,

D

mhe

ble

nd

it

fo

ily

WC

PIZ-

, 4

VTES

1787-

TID

ome

vivyla

⁽⁹⁾ Kowas 'Euxas.

or

fro

Tt

flu

mu

the

freq

of i

that led,

ber

or ict :

ranf

he

Dead

Dæm

r pr

ents.

div

ore t

land

em.

OLI

fficie

To

restion

at w

ory,

dous.

Ist. He impower'd them to work Miracles. We are well affur'd from Heaven, that perfons of ordinary rank, and mean Capacity did Wonders. Even forry Fisher-men on a fudden, and without the least previous Teaching; could speak in Tongues which they never heard, and interpret Languages which they never learnt. Such Languages as those of choicest Parts could not foon be Masters of, tho' they had best helps and advantages for it, and studied them with diligence and application. The like, or fame Persons also by a quick and unsought Sagacity, could at first view discover the Spirits or Dispositions of People. The could see whether their Tempers or Princi ples were good, and know how they stood inclin'd perhaps, better than themselves They could likewise cure the Blind, heal th Sick, raise the Dead, and cast out Devils. And all this they could do by easiest means, and as I may fay, by flight methods. As by Word of their Mouths, Touches of their Hands, of by Kerchiefs, or Aprons sent to the Disease or Possessed. Or (which is less in the All and wondrous in the Efficacy) by their pa fant Shadows glancing upon them as the walked by.

Now when such surprizing Works wer done by Men outwardly contemptible, an Agents so weak and seemingly incompetent whence can we derive their miraculous Ad or the Force by which they did them, but from pure Omnipotence? But then their Thaumaturgick power being all from the influence of the HOLY GHOST how furely must He be Almighty, and so truly GOD?

s, 1.

ty

us

ch

ges ges

be ad-

ili

ame

ght

the

hey inci

000

lves

1 th

wet

20

As to the Miracles noted, and many others, 'tis certain they were done not only frequently but very publickly in the presence of numerous Spectators. And as fure it is, that between the external visible Causes noed, and those mighty Effects; there was neiher due Connexion, nor just Proportion. for how could a bare Word, or light Conansmitted from one to another; restore he Blind, recover the Sick, revive the lead, or drive wicked Spirits out of poor Demoniacks? There is no suitable fitness the proper Analogy between the extrinsick A-Angents, and Operations, to make the one efand dive of the other. Grant we must thereord ore that they were wrought by an higher s, o and than any that were seen concerned in ease em. And whose could that be but the A& OLY SPIRIT's, who is the recorded chief ir pa ficient of them? the

To invalidate this Argument, should any ustion whether there ever were Such Miracles: at would impeach the Truth of Sacred Himy, and render the Objectors too difingeetent nous. I mean, in that they justly credit io, Tacitus, Suctonius, and the like Historians

Ale

to wl

Sta

do

25 fan

per

tha

the

con

the

con

and

nov

fee,

tha

as 5

Wro

GH

thei

Gift

we

nipo

ted.

mee

Dod

and geth

then

nial

P

rians (tho' less eminent;) and should they not do it, would be ready to count their not believing them, a piece of groundless and wretched Scepticism: and at the same time doubt of the infallible Truths deliver'd in the Gospel, and of the momentous Accounts there register'd. Yet let them but believe the Nem Testament, as they do the reports of Civil Historiographers; and they must own the Miracles to be actually done which are there related. Tho' for not believing them they must be guilty of unreasonable Suspension of Faith, or which is worfe, of vile and dangerous Incredulity. Whereas would they as firmly believe the Sacred Writings, as they do those of Prophane Authors mention'd the issue in likelihood might be this. Faith would then with GOD's Bleffing foin fluence their Minds, and govern their Lives as to make them Pious here, and Bleffed for And what good account can be given why rational Creatures should be backward to affent, to what's most conducive to their endless Blis?

Should any again in way of Cavil or Subterfuge, ascribe these Miracles to Nature, and suppose them done by a secret unknown force of hers: with them I might justly expostulate thus. Why then are not like Miracles done now as were sommerty? And why are they not wrought with as much ease and frequency as they were by CHRIST's Apostiles? ley

ot

ind

ubt

ere

Ven

ivil

Mi-

nere

hey

20 lan-

y as

hey

i'd heir

oin

ves

for ven

vard

heir

Sub-

ture

OWI

ex-

Sira-

why

ana

Apo

les?

files? Mens personal Abilities seem equal to theirs; and as to Nature, the continues what the was in that Age. She's in the fame State, of the same Strength, and as able to do Miracles now, or affift in working them. as ever she was then. The Earth retains the fame Constitution, the Air the same Temperature, the Heavens the same Influence, that they had in CHRIST's Time. Again therefore I demand, why are not Miracles as common now as ever? Did Nature work them, so they would and must be: for all second Causes are extant now that were then, and every whit as operative that way. Yet now with us Miracles are ceased, we neither fee, nor hear of any. This makes it evident that they were not Effects of Nature; but as Scripture gives us to understand, were wrought by the Power of the HOLY GHOST. And then the true reason of their Cessation is this. GOD suspends the Gift of working them amongst us, because we need them not. And it is not fit that Omnipotence should be exerted in superfluous Acts.

When the holy Gospel was first promulgated, they that publish it wanted Miracles as meet Credentials to recommend it: but the Doctrines of CHRIST being now received, and withal recorded in the Holy Books, together with the Miracles which confirm'd them; we need no other Seals or Testimonials to authenticate and establish them.

P 3

But

But here then I must drop this melancholy Note. How deplorable and amazing is it, that profess'd Christians should believe and value Treatises of Heathers of little moment, and some of them perhaps of dubious Credit; and at the same time despise and oppose divine Truths of highest importance! Truths deliver'd by the SON of GOD, or his inspir'd Emissaries; and also attested with Miracles wrought by the HOLY SPIRIT; and design'd to make them virtuous and happy.

nic

rig

mu

ing

do

tur

HO

GC

terr

the

to :

Fut

DE

falt

Wo

may and

So .

Sor

Pra

Col

19.

eft .

hav

and

1921 his

2ly, The HOLY GHOST inabled Men to Prophely. To foretell future Events long before they happen'd, and that in Cases and Matters of purest Contingency. Yet they have fully answer'd their various Predictions in the minutest circumstances of exact completion. And must not the HOLY GHOST be GOD then, whose knowledge is so valt as to see things to come as if they were pre-Sent ?

The Power of Prophecy springs up from unerring Prascience, as that does from infinite Intelligence; and so it can be in none but GOD. And therefore it is observable, that GOD challenges False DEITIES at this to prove themselves True, Isai. 41. 23. Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that ye are GODS. Intimating that Prerogative is his peculiar; so inherent in, and proper to Himself, as not to be communicable nicable to any other. Could any Beings rightly claim this Privilege as theirs, they must be GODS, as fully answering or coming up to the DIVINE TEST above laid down. Natural Præscience therefore of Fumie Contingencies being most plainly in the HOLY GHOST (as appears by his dispenfing the Gift of Prophecy) he must be 60D; that being according to divine Determination good authentick Proof of a DEI-TY, or a certain infallible Note of it. And therefore in the Nicene Creed we are taught to believe that it was we who fpake by the Prophets.

0-

ve

0-

us

nd

e!

10

red

PIous

to

be-

ind

ney

ons

om-ST valt pre-

om nite

but

hat

to

the may hat

tin.

mu-

able

And truly punctual predicting contingent Futurities, may so far be a surer Proof of a DEITY, than Miracles; as it is a more fatisfellory one. For Scripture tells us of Lying Wonders, 2 Thef. 2. 9. And false Wonders may prompt us to suspect those that are true, and bring them into Question and Contempt. & Moses s genuine Miracles were clouded or eclips'd by the counterfeit ones of Egyptian forcerers. But in perspicuous or explicit Prophecy, there's no room for Imposture or Collusion. And therefore it is said, Apoc. 19. 10. that the Testimony of JESUS is the SPIBIC of Prophecy. One of the chiefof Arguments, and brightest Evidences we have for CHRIST's being the SON of GOD, and the true Messiah; was the Dower of Drophecp, which by the SPIRIT he gave to his Proselytes. And

And well may it be allow'd to exceed ther Miracles in force of Testimony. For be fides that 'tis fo choice a Miracle it felf, it carries with it openest Proof of its being so. as it is freer from grounds or occasions of Cavil than other Miracles. Thus, when by a Word, or a Touch, the Sick, or the Dying the Lame, or the Dumb; the Blind, orthe Deaf were cured: the Body of Man being for dark and impenetrable, that no Eye can le into it to discern its Habit or Constitution it might be pretended in case of such Cures that the Parties affected had then a fecret dil position in them to do well of themselves a that very Juncture; but this being unper ceiv'd by all about them, tho' they recovered naturally of their respective Maladies; thro mistake it might be thought they were heald miraculoufly. And thus what's done by di vine Influence, by the humorous may be imputed to Nature's Efficiency. But Prophecy is so plain and barefac'd a Miracle, as not to be thus eluded or turn'd off. For that have ing relation to future time, and distan things; when it is fairly accomplishe it is I nam fully justifi'd. So justifi'd that there will be Answe no clapping false Imputations upon it. For and co then it thines out with fuch glorious Bright (1) ness as shews it to be truly wonderful; and overcon firikes the Mind with fuch firong Convicti coming ons, as leave no room to doubt of its Mira culousness. In the 20 level double security Nor

(r) Ai DITT

N

that :

For v

ture.

foot

jectur phetic

fulted turn'd

doub

ver'd Dy Co

purpo

may,

of the the N

fav'd

fo he

Truth

fcreen

he ma

his D

End b

Inft

Nor does it at all weaken this Argument that the Devil pretends to power of Prediction. For whatever he has deliver'd of that Nature, even by his very Oracles; was always fo obscure or ambiguous; as to be only conjectural, or fallacions; and so far from Prophetick. Infomuch that when they were confulted as to future Events, the Answers return'd were dark and cloudy, wrapt up in doubtfulness and much incertainty, as cover'd with the Evafion of a double Sense. A By Contrivance, but rarely fitted to Satan's purpose. For then the iffue happening either may, it must fall in with the one, or other of the Two, as being equally futed to both the Meanings. And by this Artifice as he favd himself from the Scandal of Lying; so he seem'd to be capable of foretelling the Truth. And by this trick as he subtilly fcreen'd himself from shameful Censure; so he made a shift to keep up his Credit amongst his Devotoes, and effectually ferv'd the chief End he aim'd at.

Instances of this are notorious in History; I name but Three. The First shall be that he Answer to the King of Epirus, full of Crast and conning Delufion.

14

Jor

the of I say that you Eacides the Romans shall and overcome. But instead of Pyrrhus's overchi coming the Romans, as he understood it; ⁽r) Aio te Aacida Romanos vincere posse.

They conquer'd bim. The Words were so adapted to both, as to fall in with either's Success.

And that to another Prince.

(s) Thou shalt go shalt return never shalt perish by war. Who taking the Words as kindly meant to himself, found to his cost that he misinterpreted, and misappli'd them. Yet into such a Form were they cast, that had the Event prov'd quite contrary, it would have hit it as exactly.

And lastly, that to the Grecian Monarch.

(t) Cræsus passing Halys shall destroy abundance of Wealth. But having got his Army over the River, he soon perceiv'd that he greatly mistook the meaning of the verse; and that his own not the Persian Wealth was to be wasted. Tho' it was so artiscially worded, that had the like Missortune besallen Cyrus it would have pointed as directly at That.

From these xenshera, or Oracular Responses, (cited to prove the Truth I assert) this much appears. That when the Prince of Darkness most solemnly foretold things to come; his Predictions were answerable to his Character: Dark, that is, thro' ambiguity; and so full of Deceit and Equivocative Guile, as to have nothing of certain mean-

(s) Ibis redibis nunquam per bella peribis.

foug pend com tool and on i false And to b or e B upor faid. ceive lutel there from Source of its and foreprefe think true And ly : 1 close tho' of the tentia

⁽t) Crafus Halyn penetrans, magnam pervertet opum Viming

ing in them. And therefore they who fought for Knowledge from them, and depended most upon their Direction; were commonly disappointed. For when they took what was told them to be very true, and thought they might safely proceed upon it as to happy Issues: they found that by salfe Guides they were wretchedly misled: And so their Undertakings which they took to be hopefull, prov'd fatal to their Persons, or else to their Projects, if not to both.

But true Prophecy did never thus impose That always meant whatever it upon Men. faid. It disappoints none, nor does it deceive any; but in all that it speaks is absolutely free from Failure and Fallacy. And therefore in that Being where it dwells, and from whence it flows as from its proper Source ; it must needs be a Mark or Character of its DIVINITY. For Ability to Prophefie. and to capacitate others to do it; implies fore-knowledge not only of what is not at present; but also of what shall be; tho' we think it may or may not come to pass: the true Case (as to us) of things contingent. And to foresee this, and predict it unerringly; supposes a thorow penetration into the closest and most occult Secrets that can be. tho' never fo remote.

As (to speak plainly) into all the Causes of things, and the most latent Seeds, or Potentialities of those Causes. As likewise into their natural Force, and accidental Energy; and the particular Connexions and Dependencies which those have amongst themselves, and whereby they influence one another. And moreover into all the hidden Windings, and possible Turnings, which in a long and variable Process any one or more of them might run into; and by which Excursions (tho' never so few, and never so little) the Chain of Causes might be interrupted and carried off from the foretold Esfects.

Now when so vast and piercing a knowledge as must run thro' such a Train of distant and contingent Intricacies, is needful to Prophecy, in that Being which is the Fountain of it: This proves that Being wherein the Power of Prophecy originally dwells, to be of Divine Capacity, and boundless Comprehension: that is, to be GOD. And confequently as fure as we are that that Power has been in the World, and that by the HO-LY GHOST it was imparted to poor Mortals; fo fure we may be, that the HOLY GHOST is a DIVINE PERSON in the GOD HEAD; because he could communicate that fo Divine and Glorious a Gift. none wonder that Justin Martyr (to-name no more of the Primitive Writers) should stile him to often the Prophetick SPIRIT. For Prophecy being a Power fo High and Venerable, and HE the Centre and Source of it; on L the . well ly f ofi alln give HO. No (wh by 1 ope forgi CH rifes fon whe (by is o

of n

of S

to si clud than GOI qual

The too, touc

An Antidote against Arianism. 221
it; the Epithet was an honourable Insinuati-on of his DEITY.

Lastly, That the HOLY GHOST is GOD, the Punishment of such as sin against Him, does well assure us. It is very high, and extremely fevere, according to our LORD's account ofit, S. Mat. 12. 31. I say unto you, that all manner of Sin and Blasphemy shall be forgiven unto Men, but the Blasphemy against the HOLY GHOST shall not be forgiven unto Men. Now if the Sin against the HOLY GHOST (which is imputing the Miracles he wrought by his own immediate Power to the Devil's operation;) be as hard, and harder to be forgiven, than all other Sin against GOD and CHRIST: this evidently proves him to be of no lower Nature than They. For the guilt of Sin, and so the punishment of that Guilt, rifes in proportion to the Dignity of that Perfon against whom it is committed. And then where the highest Punishment in the World (by Him that shall be the Eternal Judge of it) is openly declar'd to be due to all that dare to fin against this Person; we may well conclude that in the World there's none higher than he. And thus no less than the SON of GOD proves the HOLY GHOST to be Equal to the FATHER, and Himself, and as truly GOD as either of them. Tho' that They are all Divine and Distinct PERSONS too, is as manifest from Scripture; and that touching the HOLY GHOST, as well as the FA-

FATHER and the SON. For as in the 16th of S. John at the 13th v. he is said to be the SPIRIT of Truth (for good reasons, particularly as he was to lead Christians into all Truth:) so in the 14th v. our LORD says of Him, He shall take of mine, and shall shew it unto you. Now he that is the SPIRIT of Truth, and can receive the Truth of GOD deliver'd to him by CHRIST; and can shew and communicate it to his Proselytes: He is plainly discover'd to be a PERSON, or a Living understanding Agent, by his vital rational Acts, and the Power he has to do them.

And now to finish this Article (as 'tis high time) Tho' the FATHER is GOD (as it fays) and the SON is GOD, and the HOLY GHOST is GOD: yet to prevent all suspiclon of Tritheism, and to shut that Phansy out of Christians Minds; they are so far from being own'd for Three GODS here, that they are affirm'd to be but One expresly, and very truly: for fo faid CHRIST, there is one GOD, and there is none other but he. S. Mar. 12. 32. And S. Paul afferts the same thing. I Tim. 2. 5. for there is one GOD. Testimonies sufficient to confirm that Truth. And that the same was receiv'd amongst the Ancients, Tertullian witnesseth. For writing against Praxeas he has this Expression. (1) Which

Three

Three

as it

Dun

fame

phile

of Su

One,

tain

that prov ny Pr

let m

is mo

they

wher

a Sup

Conti

If th

must

and f

Equa

on or

and I flame

And

petu

(m)

Substan

⁽u) Qui tres unum sunt, non unus; quomodo dictum est, Ego & PATER unum sumus; ad Substantiz Unitatem, non ad numeri Singularitatem:

Three are One [thing] not one [PERSON:] as it is said, I and my FATHER are One; as to Unity of Effence, not as to Singularity of Rumber. And in another place of the same Tract; (w) so also One may be All, while All are of One, that is to say, by Unity of Substance, and so far the Three LIFES are

One, as they are in one Essence.

And that there is but One GOD, is as certain from Scripture, as 'tis clear from thence that there is One. And tho' to go about to prove that, might feem impertinent, fo many Proofs of it being very obvious: yet this let me add, That the Unity of the GODHEAD is most clear from Reason. For were there Two GODS, they must either be alike, or they must be different. If alike, why Two? when one of them must be superfluous. And a Superstuous GOD must be one of the rankest Contradictions, or Impossibilities imaginable. If they be different in their Natures, they must be the same in their Wills, and Tempers; and so in their Interests. And then both being Equal as to Power in themselves, and Dominion over the Creatures; their proper Enmities and Discords would soon affect, that is, inflame and divide their Subjects of all forts: And then they and their Parties being perpetually up, and exceeding outragious against one another; by furious Strifes they would fill the World with endless Confusions. Conclude therefore we may that there is but One GOD, according to the tenour of this Article; and that there can be no more.

⁽w) Sic quoq; unus fit omnia, dum ex uno omnia, per Substantiz scilicet unitatem.

And here Plato falls in fairly with us Christians. And as he is said, by his just (x) Admirers, to affirm there are Three Supertemporals and Eternals; the GOOD, the MIND, and the SOUL of the Universe; yet still as there is but One GOD, so according to Jamlichus's Phrase, He is axivnt, immoveable, immoveable, who movement in a second so the continuing in the Solitariness of his own Unity. Tho as the cited Father declares, the Platonick GOOD, MIND, and SC. L; with us, are the FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST.

And as Justin Martyr perswaded the (1) Greeks to read the Prophecies of Holy Men from which they might learn, Eva is missing OEON: that there is but one GOD only; which he calls a newton yrwenta, the first Document of true Piety: so he advised them to obey Orpheus and others, who wrote the same things, Teel Evos OEON, touching one single GOD.

Sc

LOI

HO

LOF

Th

forme

GOD The le

phrafe

the LC

the Co

to leffe

rather forth t

none n

gant N

but On One LC SONS.

The

 ⁽x) Τεία ὑπέρχεονα κὰ ἀἰδια τ' ἀγαθὸν, κὰ νῶν, κὰ παντὸς τὴν ἡυχὴν. Vid. Theodoret. lib. de Princip.
 (y) Cohortat.

ARTICLE XII.

So likewise the FATHER is LORD, the SON LORD, and the HOLY GHOST LORD.

And yet they are not Three LORDS, but One LORD.

EXPOSITION.

This Article differs very little from the former, only in the variation of one Title 3 GOD there, being here turned into LORD. The less therefore may serve in way of Paraphrase upon it.

Writings is often stiled the LORD GOD, and the LORD our GOD, and the LORD our GOD, and the like. And that the Composer of this Creed might not seem to lessen any PERSON in the TRIAD; but rather to honour them in sulless Measures by all the great Titles given to them, setting forth their Sovereign Dominion: he here calls every one of them LORD. But then that none might mistake them for Three Different LORDS, he puts them past that extravagant Notion, by afferting positively they are but One LORD. Meaning They were but One LORD in Essence; tho Three in PERSONS. And so this Article may go perhaps for a fuller Proof, or somewhat more emphatical a Confirmation of the TRINITY. But here I shall only add, that such of the Learned as shall think sit to peruse Plato's Timeus, his Second Epistle to Dionysus; his Sixth to Hermias, Erastus, and Coriscus, &c. In the Opinion of the very Learned, they may there find the Doctrine of the Christian TRINITY fairly pointed at. Not that the Divine Philosopher had that Knowledge by Inspiration neither. So far was he from that that Theodoret affirms (and with all probability) in Alexander of the spirits in from the Hebrews Philosophy and Divinity.

-BIRAnd that I mention Plato's afferting TRINITY more than once ; "let none won der at it. It is butto notify, that the best and most eminent of Pagan Philosophers, could not but so admire that Glorious Afticle of ou Religion, as to embrace it Himfelf, and reach it to others: while Numbers of CHRI STIANS (and many of them bearned) fhame fully despife, reject, and oppose it; tho to othem in great Favour GOD more clearly to weal'd, and most kindly recommended i Open, open their Eyes, Omost compassio mate JESUS our GOD, that so they may se and acknowledge Thee to be at last, wha Thou really art, and also the Two other ado rable and infinite PERSONS.

701

As if y Divi

o.Bt

LOI

OVO

CHR

she I

6:43

S. M.

T

LOR

or of

Texts

is call

meant

adver

Fo

the C

every

GOD

ick R

GOD

So

Bu

But that the Two Titles, GOD, and LORD, are Equivalent; we learn from two incomparable Teachers, Moses, and CHRIST. For as Moses says, Hear, O Israel, the LORD our GOD is one LORD, Deut. 6.4. so CHRIST speaking of the True GOD, & Mat. 12129 does the same.

The use I make of the Article is but this. LORD, and GOD, being Titles equivocous, or of the same signification; from many Texts in the New Testament where CHRIST is called LORD; we may safely inferr he is meant to be GOD. And so intelligent and advertent Readers may observe.

ARTICIE XIII.

For like as we are compelled by the Christian Verity to acknowledge every PERSON by Himself to be GOD and LORD:

So are we forbidden by the Cathoick Religion, to say there be Three GODS, or Three LORDS.

EXPOSITION.

do

As if he had faid; Tho' I pronounce every Divine PERSON to be GOD and LORD; and declare withal that they are not Three O 2 GODS.

GODS, or Three LORDS: yet I do not this of my own Judgment. For what I fav as to Both Points, the Personal DIVINI. TY, and Effential UNITY, of the HOLY THREE; is not only founded upon Christian Verity, or the Evangelick Doctrine taught by CHRIST; but moreover is built upon the Catholick Religion and confirm'd by that; particularly by the Nicene Creed containing the Substance of it. In which Creed all true Catholicks profess first, We believe in one GOD. (x) And it goes on recommending the Three PERSONS in the GODHEAD by name, as worthy Objects of our Faith. That is to fay, the FATHER Almighty maker of Heaven and Earth. The one LORD JESUS CHRIST the only begotten SON of GOD. And the HOLD GHOST, &c. And the Three PERSONS there being thus fignifi'd to be One GOD the Catholick Religion does as much prohibi our owning Three GODS, and Three LORDS; as the Christian Verity constrains to acknowledge each PERSON to be GOL and LORD.

34

-ofc

100

100 neit

CE

sade.

A A

Made

when there

ing a

than was t

and t

Him(

of Ar

T

lone,

Bego

Th

PERS exists

⁽x) Hisevouse sis eva OEON, where the Greek Copy has Comma, this the English has none; for want of which some might be the more ready captiously to infer, that the FATHER alone is the One GOD there meant.

ARTICLE XIV.

The FATHER is made of none, neither Created, nor Begotten.

EXPOSITION.

And how could the FATHER possibly be Made, be Created, or Begotten of any; when He Himself was before All? And therefore he challenges the Primity of Being as his peculiar Right and Privilege more than once; I AM THE FIRST. Nay, he it was that made all things before they were, and to them præexisted eternally; else He Himself could never have been. See Exposit. of Artic. 6.

ARTICLE XV.

The SON is of the FATHER alone, not Made, nor Created, but Begotten.

EXPOSITION.

Tho' the FATHER, the first LIFE, or PERSON in the GODHEAD, naturally exists of and from Himself, and ever did so:

Q 3 Yet

Yet the SON, the Second PERSON or LIFE, had his Subfiftence from the FATHER fole. ly. But then as he did not Create Him out of nothing, so neither did he make him out of any thing extant. This was rightly and wifely remarks by Athenagoras, who affirms the SON to be the natural (y) first-born Off. spring of the FATHER, but not as made, Nor indeed could he be Made. For I ask: can GOD make one Creature to be another at the fame time? Can he make a Mitem be an Elephant? or a Fleato be a Lion? A Beaft to be a Food ? or a Food to be a Fift? How much less then could be make a Creature to be GOD in the same respect & Which yet he must have done had he made his SON. For then the was naturally GOD (ashas been prov d) the must have been a Creating too, as he was made; tho' he was truly GOD as begotten by the FATHER. But I speak of the SON fingly, not of CHRIST a complex Being.

But here then the Great Question will be, HOW was he begotten? I answer directly, in way of Divine Propagation. For the Bleffed THREE being LIFES, as Scripture informs us, why should not Two of Them rise so? One thing confider'd (which I have (z) elsewhere suggested) nothing can be more Probable

8 9

bable fee (

Prop.

like b

ly it felf,

And

Itian

Philo

did P

פעסעמו that S

begat

But t bove.

Sho

was H

from

FATE

where beginn not m

felf ;

SON. duc'd

becaul a very

plainl

Produ

(4) 1 (b) E

⁽y) sarov yev ma evas no HATPI, uz os yevomen.

Teg. pro Christianis:

(z) See Essay upon the HOLY TRIMIT. Part 2.

bable, or rather more Certain. For when we fee (as all do) Common Life fo generally Propagated upon Earth; why should not the like be done by Infinite Life in Heaven? Only it must be done in a way agreeable to it felf, that is, most infinitely GLORIOUS. And that this SON was begotten, what Chrihian should ever doubt, when an Ethnick Philosopher believ'd and taught it? Yet so did Plato. For he speaks of To TE 'Azabs άρουου. Ο Ταραθύν εγένητεν αναλαρον έαυτε. that SON of THE GOOD, whom THE GOOD begat resembling Himself De Repub. 11.6. But then generated he was in a way far above what we can utter or conceive.

Should it be enquir'd farther, WHEN was He Begotten? I must answer positively. from Eternity. And therefore the learned FATHER and Philosopher speaks truly, where he fays he was (a) Begotten without beginning. For the Adorable FATHER does not more naturally and necessarily exist Himfelf; than he does from Eternity beget His SON. And truly were he begotten and produc'd in time he could never be really GOD. because he could not be so naturally. I find a very great Man was of my Mind; for he plainly afferts; (b) That Nature which is Producible is not Divinc.

^{(4) &#}x27;Avaexos yevouse . Clem. Alexandr. Strom, li. 7.
(b) Bishop Pearlon on the Creed.

Besides; were the Glorious SON begotten in time, before his Generation he must have been GOD contingent. A goodly Title for Him to bear before-hand; and as fine a Circumstance of congruity to him. For then he might be, or not be, as the Original LIFE in the GODHEAD pleased. And being to become GOD at his Will, it was at his Choice whether he should ever be so, as it was in his Power never to beget him. And thus if his Being was not Casual, it was certainly arbitrary and precarious. And are not these pretty Notions to six upon Him who is truly GOD?

But another Question may here be put. If the SON be GOD at fuch a rate, HOW can be be Worshipp'd? For GOD from Heaven expresly reproves such as did Service to them which by Mature are no GODS, Gal. 4.8. By which we learn, that if the SON of GOD, be not GOD naturally, he can be no meet Object of Religious Adoration. The Eternal GOD, indeed being to by Nature, has just and clear Right to our Service, and we pay him it upon that account. And as to Him we pay it for that good reason; so we can do it to none of a lower Nature, or meaner Quality than Himself, without being Idolatrous. And therefore it is remarkable, that S. Paul's Charge against Idolaters, Rom. 1. 25. was, that they served and worshipped the Creature, rather than the Creator Bleffed for

for We ato SO that he be ing Ble ren tha goi His

for 243 been tutions So not

polifen dit

rest whi

For

for ever. Amen. So that for certain, Divine Worship must be given to none but the Creator Bleffed for ever. And therefore had the SON been begotten in time, according to that Text we could not worship Him because he was not from Eternity, and so could not be the Creator ever Bleffed. For his not being fo would degrade him below the ever Bleffed GOD, and that degradation would render him unadorable. Should any alledge, that need not be; for the SON might have the same Nature with the FATHER tho' begotten in time; and indeed if begotten by Him could have no other: I reply. The SON could by no means be Begotten in time for Three Reasons.

"Ift, Because then the DEITY must have been Changeable, and that in the very Conftitution of it. Immutability was ever reckon'd one of GOD's Properties, and so it must be. So far is he from actual Mutation, that he is not obnoxious to any thing like it; nor is it possible that he ever should. For his Esfence being infinite is capable neither of Addition nor Substraction: and where is no Augmentation or Diminution in any respect: there can be no Alteration neither. Account of GOD's Unchangeableness. rests upon the Basis of his own PERFECTION. which being most absolute, is invariable. Fixt and steady, and more immoveable than the Foundations of the Earth, or the Pillars of Heaven, Heaven, or the eternal Law of Nature it self. GOD signifies as much, (c) I am the LORD, I change not. And what was said of CHRIST, is as true of GOD, (d) the same Testerday, to day, and for ever. He ever was what he is, and so he ever will be. But then how impossible was it that the SON of GOD should be Begotten in time, when his coming so into Being would not only have contradicted GOD's veracious Word, by a most extraordinary Change in HIM; but would like wise have been inconsistent with the immittable DELTY?

2ly, The SON could not be Begotten in time, because then till that time the DEITT must have been Imperfect. The GODHEAD. all know, is infinitely Perfect, and always was fo: nor could it be otherwise, infinite Perfection being essential to it. But then how could a new PERSON, a putural SON be begotten in time in the DEITY, when that being infinitely Perfect, and consequently eternally fo; nothing in time could be added to it? And if nothing, then how much less a Natural SON, who (we must remember) was from Eternity necessary, even to constitute the DEITY a Glorious TRINITY? And yet (we must consider too) that could not be done till he was Begotten. And therefore till he was Begotten, and so that Vacuih

T

m

m

133 tim

pro

For

not

wh

the

as 7

60 ter

eter

Peri

dep

Mal

his

For

celfa

plea

Nor

but !

for

(e)

Cont.

⁽c) Malach. 3. 6. (d) Heb. 13.8.

ty in the GODHEAD was filled up by his Accession or Union to it; It must needs have been imperfect; and as for a TRINITY, till then none could have been. No, norther neither, as has been said, without making an unspeakable Change in the DEITY, whose effential Property it is to be immutable, as was now faid.

aly, The SON could not be Begotten in time, because then He (who has been here proved GOD) must have been Imperfect too. For how could he be Perfect as GOD who is not Eternal? And how could he be Eternal who was begotten in time? Were it fo therefore with the SON, I might fay of Him as Tertullian did of the Goodness of Marcion's GOD, (e) That as sometime it was not, so after a while it may not be. So he that was not eternal one way, may not be so the other. The Person made at Will, at best can have but a dependent Being; and as he exists by his Maker's Power, fo he may be annihilated at his Pleasure; which the SON cannot be. For His Generation was natural, and fo neceffary, and confequently he must be compleatly Eternal because his FATHER is so. Nor is the FATHER Himself Eternal only, but all Excellencies in him (his Attributes for instance) are as Eternal too. And can his own and only Begotten SON, so far above them in Nature and Dignity, be inserior to them in Duration? Who can admit of so dull and heavy an incongruity? They that can, may seem to Ethnicize, or lean towards the Heathen in this Case. For their wild and gross Perswasion it was, that there were Superi, and Inseri; Higher, and Lower GODS; and that some of them did beget others.

⁽e) Potest & non effe quandoq; sicut non fuit aliquando. Cont. Marcion. li. 1. cap. 22.

ARTICLE XVI.

The HOLY GHOST is of the FATHER and of the SON, neither Made, nor Created, nor Begotten, but Proceeding.

EXPOSITION.

This Creed having shewed how the SON subsists, it here goes on to account for the Rise of the HOLY GHOST. And in short it averrs it to be not by Formation, Creation, or Generation; but by Procession. And most rightly. For in S. Joh. 15. 26. He is declard to proceed from the FATHER. Yet not from Him alone, nor does it appear that he could do so, but rather the contrary. For He is said to be the (e) SPIRIT of

(g

he

fro

mı

de

int

TH

Fo

bee

Pro he

hac

the two

thu

her

nee

me

tha

PE

para

fron

LY

(f

⁽e) Rom. 8. 9.

An Antidote against Arianism. 237 CHRIST; (f) the SPIRIT of the SON; and (g) the SPIRIT of JESUS; as expressly as he is said to be the SPIRIT of the FATHER. And why, but because he proceeds equally from both, as this Article affirms? and so as much from the one, as from the other.

And for it there is good Reason, and indeed Necessity. Because otherwise instead of intimate Union of the PERSONS in the TRIAD; there would have been an unfeemly disjunction of, or distance between them. For had the HOLY GHOST proceeded from the FATHER alone, how could He have been joined with the SON? And had he Proceeded from the SON only, how should he have been united to the FATHER? Or had the first PERSON begat the other two, there would have been Two SONS, and no HOLY GHOST. Or had those two Proceeded from the first, there must have been two HOLY GHOSTS and no SON. And thus the Procession of the Divine SPIRIT as here accounted for, we see, is indispensibly needfull for the intrinsick Regularity, and meet Oeconomy, or Order of the TRINITY: that there should be a due Connexion of the PERSONS in it, to prevent an indecent Separation of, or Confusion amongst them. from the best and closest Union of the HO-LY THREE, which can confift with their ⁽f) Gal. 4. 6. (e) Phil. 1. 19.

Personal Distinctions; results the Glorious Constitution of the TRIUNE DEITY, exclusive of all rude Chasm, and Disorder.

And this Nexus, or agreeable Knot whereby the DIVINE Three are fo duly conjoin'd; is fo far from being a New Notior, that I find it is as old as Tertullian. For he speaks of the FATHER's (b) connexion with the SON, and of the SON swith the Paraclete, whereby they fo cleave together, as if the Three were one out of the other. And again. (i) I take not the SPIRIT to be from any other but from the FATHER by the SON. Athenageras alfo fairly hints the Procession of the HOLY GHOST, where he calls him an (k) Effluvium, or Emanation of GOD. ad the first PERSON were the other two efficit cohærentes alterum ex altero. Contr. Prax.

(i) SPIRITUM non aliunde puto, quam a Patte per Filium. Ib.

bacac conted for, we fee, is indiffecultible needfull for the intrinsek Regularity, and the cr Occonomy, or Order of the TRINITY: that I de frould be a due Connexion of the PENCINS in it, to provent on indepent Sc-resident f. or Confesion among & them. For 71.5

on the belt and closed Union of the HO--RALLE, which can confid with their -199

W

Th

Th

no

7199 the Athé .

of

TH

nor 801

Beg

mest but

SO TH

Yet 16 WE

fabi by !

HO

Bot

and are in c

foi Acc

⁽b) Ita connexus Patris in Filio, & Filii in Paracleto tres ^{(4) &#}x27;Ambrestav zi OEOT. Legat, pro Christian.

ARTICLE XVII.

of Colingrams Generation and Proces.

Three FATHERS; One SON, not Three SONS; One HOLY GHOST, not Three HOLY GHOSTS.

EXPOSITION.

adiA molf natural and necessary Consequence of what has been premis'd. For the FA-THER being made of none, neither created, nor begotten, but Self-subsistent; and the son being neither made, nor created, but Begoiren; and the HOLY GHOST being weither made; nor created, nor begotten, but Proceeding of the FATHER and the SON: how can there be more than one FA-THER, one SON, and one HOLY GHOST? Yet that all those must be, and bow they are is realy to apprehend. For the FATHER Subfilting eternally of Himself; and the SON by His eternal Generation of Him; and the HOLY GHOST by eternal Procession from Both: the ways of Sublifting proper to each and incommunicable to the other; shew they are actually Three PERSONS (tho they be in one ESSENCE) and how they came to be foin a general way. Tho' to give in a clear Account of the Modes of those several divine Ads.

Acts, Self subsistence, Generation, and Procesfion; as it is beyond the Power of any Men, fo it may be above the Capacity of all Angels, Yet still the PERSONS of a VITAL TRINI-TY are and will be most intelligible. So very plain and easy to be understood, that as not to apprehend them would shew heavy dullness in the Mind; so not to prefer a VITAL to the Modal TRINITY, might feem to indicate a Flaw in the Understanding; or else to imply intellectual Perverseness in the Inapprensive, or somewhat of Stupidity; the Speculation being so clear and regular.

But does the old Hypothesis of the TRI-NITY make the Rife of the PERSONS in it thus intelligible? Alas! instead of that, it involves and hampers it with inextricable Difficulties; and thuts it up in darkness and confusion, as has been shewed. And therefore as many as go upon that, will be in no danger of believing three FATHERS, three SONS, and three HOLY GHOSTS, (which this Article with excessive Tenderness cantions against:) but will find it impossible to make out to Satisfaction, that there is one FATHER, one SON, and one HOLY GHOST in the DEITY, truly and distinctly.

for , or

are

the TR

fhip

T vera GOI comm VIT

Perfe as in none Good ledge and could

of the

ARTICLE XVIII.

And in this TRINITY none is afore, or after other; none is greater, or less than another:

But the whole three PERSONS are coeternal together and coequal.

So that in all things, as is aforefaid, the UNITY in TRINITY, and the TRINITY in UNITY is to be Worfhipped.

EXPOSITION.

Tho' in the HOLY TRIAD there are several PERSONS, yet all of them being truly GOD, they must be alike both in Being and common Persedions. In Being because All are VITALITIES, and Coeffential. In common Persedions, because they are Coequal. For as in Duration they are Eternal; and so none could be afore, or after other: so in Goodness, Mercy, Truth, Wisdom, Knowledge, Justice, Power, Glory, Expansion, and the like General Persections; none could be greater or less than another, every of them in such Attributes being Insinite.

R

It is said indeed by our Blessed LORD, My FATHER is greater than I, S. Joh. 14. 28. But then (as tis usually said) he spake in reference to his Humanity. And that he certainly did so, is manifest from the foregoing Words in the same verse; where he declares, I go away, and come again to you. And I go unto my FATHER. Which how could he do but in his humane Capacity? And his Manhood being here so plainly pointed at, the Comparison made in all likelihood must be betwist GOD's Divine Nature, and CHRIST's Humane one: but not at all between their two Divine PERSONS, from whence their Inequality might be argu'd or inferr'd.

Yet still (without shifting or any hesitation) we may, and we must allow some kind of Subordination in the TRINITY. For the the Learned Origen says most rightly, (1) the GOD and FATHER of all things is not great alone, for he communicated his Greatness to the ONLY BEGOTTEN: yet we must consider that all the Greatness and Glory he has, and even his very PERSON too, being imparted to Him by GOD the FATHER; the Giver must be greater than the Receiver. The then again we must think withal, that the Greatness or Majesty GOD gave to CHRIST, being every way equal to his own,

all

the

Di

or

the FAT

fting

gott GH(

the

Oecon

did 1

is ab

GHO the St

FAT

the T

Churc

fpeaks

Difti

Greate

is he

While

(m) S

Prax. ca (n) Dat tit, & al

No

⁽¹⁾ Οὐ μόν Φ δὲ μέγας ες το, ὁ τῶν ὅλων ΘΕΟΣ τὰ ΠΑ ΤΗΡ, μετέδωκε γὰς Εαυτέ τὰ τῆς μεγαλειότητ Φ ΜΟΝΟ ΓΕΝΕΙ. Contr. Cel. li. δ.

own, bating that it was deriv'd from him: all the Difference it makes between Him, and His SON (and also between Them and the HOLY GHOST) is in orderly Rank, or Disposition; not in diminishing Inferiority, or Degradation.

is

And as this Subordination springs up from the very Constitution of the TRIAD; the FATHER being the First PERSON, substitution of Himself; the SON the Second, Begotten of Him; and the Third, the HOLY GHOST, Proceeding from them Two: so the same is evident, very evident by the Oeconomical, or Regular Carriage amongst the Sacred PERSONS. For the the SON did never send the FATHER, because he is above, or before Him; nor the HOLY GHOST the SON, for the same Reason: yet the SON sends the HOLY GHOST, and the FATHER has sent them Both.

Nor was this Doctrine of Subordination in the TRINITY unknown or untaught in the Church of old. For touching it Tertullian speaks thus. So the FATHER is another [Distinct] from the SON, (m) while he is Greater than the SON. And how, or wherein is he Greater? He tells us, in This; (n) While one Begets, and the other is Begotten;

(n) Dam alius generat, & alius generatur; dum alius mitnit, & alius mittitur. Ib.

while

⁽m) Sic Pater alius a Filio, dum Filio majer. Contr. Prax. cap. 9.

while one Sends, and the other is Sent. And foon after he notes the Paraclete to be ano. ther different from the SON, as the SON is from the FATHER. And as the SON stands in the Second Degree of Order, so the Paraclete is in the Third. And accordingly at the end of his Treatise against Praxeas, he calls the HOLY SPIRIT, the Third Power of the DIVINITY, and the (o) Third Title of the MAJESIY So that the in the TRI-NITY none is afore or after other (all being infinitely, and so equally perfect:) yet amongst them there is, and must be a decent Order, and regular Subordination; and both naturally and immutably fettl'd. For elfe how could one PERSON be always the First? another, the Second? and another, the Third? Or how could the First PER-SON fend the Second? I will fend my Beloved SON, S. Lu. 20.13. Or how, could the Second send the Third? I will send unto you from the FATHER, the SPIRIT of Truth, S. Joh. 15.26: Especially when these Acts are not reciprocal. For where do we find that the SPIRIT ever Sent the SON? or the SON the FATHER? Good evidence of Divine Subordination in the TRIAD, fixt and inalterable.

And

has

mo

to don

this let i

Dut

louf all

mea

ons

F

mu

N

well

to C

is Ho

of C ted i

Institute In R

of th wha

⁽¹⁾ Tertium nomen Divinitatis, & tertium gradum Majeflatis. Ib. cap. 30.

And when the Bleffed TRIAD is such as has been describ'd (only much Greater and more Glorious;) what now remains for us to do? or what's more needfull by us to be done; than most duly to worship the same, as this Article piously directs? Olet this then, let this be our chief care, as it is our great Duty. Let us fervently Love, and as zealously Serve the Adorable TRINITY with all constant Fidelity, in the best ways and measures we are able in our respective Stations and Capacities.

ARTICLE XIX.

He therefore that will be faved, must thus think of the TRINITY.

EXPOSITION.

d

1-

of

e

3 je-

nd

No rash or extravagant, but a mise and well meigh'd Expression. For the only way to Christian Proselytism (as we are taught) is Holy Baptism. And by that Ordinance of CHRIST's own appointing, we are grafted into his Mystical BODY. And as by that Institution we are admitted into His Heavenly Religion; so at the same time we are Baptiz'd in the Name of the FATHER, and of the SON, and of the HOLY GHOST. And what is that less than to be dedicated to the R 2 Belief Belief and Acknowledgment; and devoted. or given up to the Adoration and Obedience of the Bleffed TRINITY ? Whence it follows unavoidably, that it is as reasonable and necessary we should own and worship This TRINITY in UNITY; as it is that we should perform our Baptismal Vow. then as far as keeping that Vow is necessary to Salvation, so far it will be necessary for that Christian who would be faved, to think rightly of the Holy TRINITY, that fo he may rightly worship it. And then so far as this Creed Speaks rightly of That, we must believe it to be as that represents it (which is the grand Object of our Faith) if we would take the right course to be faved.

Eternal Salvation (which too many make light of) with good Christians is of all things the most valuable. And in order to gaining it, 'tis indispensably needful they should serve GOD duly. But then to qualify them for that, what can be more requifite than a true Idea of his Nature? And as that can be gather'd only from the Scripture, which alone can warrant it for genuine and authentick: fo I can't but fav, that the Description of the TRINITY (GOD One in Efsence, and Three in Persons) contain'd in that part of this Creed hitherto consider'd; is very fairly drawn or taken out of those facred Writings, Infomuch that where it calls the DIVINE THREE PERSONS, had it but ftil'd I kn ctiv part tura was as ti yiel vela grea drin which is then or he fence Who make

Essential Essent

Throas a Li

disti

fil'd them LIFES, or Affai PERSONS; I know not where it would have been defedive. It would rather have been the most particular and clear, the most proper and natural account of the TRINITY that ever was, or perhaps that ever can be given. For as the Inspir d Books, I'm apt to think, can yield no better; so we expect no farther Revelations than they afford.

e Il o yy - i. s sidd - f at e d

And now let me here declare, that the great and unfufferable Error, in the usual Dodrine of the TRINITY; seems to have been making the Estence to constitute the Persons; or the Persons to consist of the Essence: neither of which can ever he. For if the Essence confilts of them, or they confilt of that; either way the One must actually be the Other: and then how can both subsist distinctly at once? or how can the Three Persons in that Esfence be really distinct amongst themselves? Whereas the VITAL Hypothesis clears up and banishes these Difficulties. For so the Essence is as distinct from the Persons, as infinite Spiritual Substance is from infinitely perfest Life: and the Persons are as different from the Essence as the Principle illivening. is from the Spirit illivened. And then the Three Persons are as distinct from one another, as a Life Self subsistent, a Life Begotten, and a Life Proceeding from Them two; can be distinct amongst themselves. And what need They? or how could they be more Distin-R 4 guisht.

guisht, and be Essentially one? But then according to the common Hypothesis, we may as well make the Number One, to be the Number Three (which the Great GOD Himfelf cannot do;) as shew bow the One Di. vine Essence, can be Three distinct Persons. Did any yet ever make it out in so laudable a way, and to the general Approbation of the Intelligent; as that they had no just Ex. ceptions against it? Or did they ever fo throly explain the Doctrine of it, as to render it familiar to ordinary Christians as above hinted, and as every fundamental Article of their Faith, especially this grand one, ought to be? Alas instead of this, the Pens that have attempted to explain the Doctrine of it, have been miserably puzzl'd in striving to effect it. So plung'd and puzzl'd, that they have either made the three PERSONS in the TRIAD, to be Three GODS; or three Dramatick Persons instead of proper and real ones; or else have lasht out into some wretched Harely: and when they have been pursu'd by smart Objectors against their faulty Affertions, have been fain to take Sanctuary in pretended Mystery, where there is none; the Constitution of the TRINITY being as intelligible, or more easy to be underflood than our own. So that in short, how the Glorious GOD thould be THREE in ONE, unless we allow the PERSON; in his ESSEN E to be LIFES; I never yet could appre-

ap fh: go

ha plo No ma otl

that bot wh

9

ho

ed, fho out And wel Div mol opo coni dear the

Coroll it is e be g:

apprehend; and am apt to think I never shall: tho' I should be glad to learn of any good Teacher.

In the mean time tho' it be extremely unhappy, yet we need not wonder to see People so much at a loss as they are, for a right Notion of the Blessed TRINITY. Some, we may observe Doubt of it, others Deny it, and others entertain wild Opinions concerning it. Yet this, I say, need not seem mighty strange, considering the current Dostrine of it. For that being so very gross and absurd, as to be both unreasonable, and unintelligible at once; what else can we expect should issue from, or be the natural Consequents thereof?

How necessary therefore, and again, I say, how necessary is it that the Good and Learned, who have true Piety and Zeal for GOD; should bend their Studies towards finding out, and clearing up this important Point. And for their encouragement they may be well assured, that the Subject is so Noble, Divine, and infinitely excellent; as to be most worthy of the best Painsthey can bestow upon it. And to discountenance this where conscientiously done; would be next to endeavouring to stifle the Truth; and to keep the Christian World in ignorance as to the chief Article of their holy Religion.

I now conclude this Exposition with one Corollary, or additional Remark. Which as it is eminently contained in, so it may easily be gather'd out of the same.

V

in

6.

It is this. As the TRIPITION in AIR? TP is the most Adorable, so it is the most reasonable Being, or the most agreeable to reason that can be. So we may partly learn from the enfuing Paragraphs.

For 1st. How reasonable is it that GOD the Creator of all Worlds, should monderfully excell all His Creatures? And accordingly He does it two ways; both in the Substance, and in the Constitution of his Nature. In his Substance. For as that is the DIVINEST SPI-RIT that ever was, or can exist; so in Expansion it is infinite: neither of which Excellencies any Creature can pretend to. And then He excells as much in his Constitution. For He confifts of Three PERSONS in One ESSENCE. Which what Creature ever did. or can do ?

2ly. And then those PERSONS (as in reason They ought) do actually excell as much in high Quality for their part; as the Substance, or Essence does, in which they are. For as they are all LIFE, so every one of them is a LIFE infinitely Perfect. And what can excell such LIFE in Dignity or Useful-Yet how reasonable is it that every LIFE, which is GOD, should be fuch? and that we should believe they are all LIFES, when Scripture gives Them that Denomination? And so in afferting they are LIFES! recommend no false or groundless Notions touching the TRINITY, when the Scripture

tl

an

00

an

in

Ar

 E_{f}

are

mu

be ing

[ub]

be :

fo.

nev

wh

Ete

ten

thof

beca

Seco

proc

LIFE

Y

ture favours, or rather teaches the fame; that the PERSONS are LIFES. And when in all high Points of Religion we ought to keep as much as we can to Scripture language; then more especially in this, the most sublime of all.

than that these PERSONS which are really and distinctly Three, should Essentially be One GOD. For they all spring up naturally and eternally in that Essence, and will be the infinite GLORIES of it for ever and ever. And where Three have but one and the same Essence, how distinct soever They otherwise are; in Reason, and in Nature too, They must be an essential Unit, or One GOD.

4ly. That the First of those LIFES should be Self subsistent, is most rational. For it being absolutely and infinitely Perfect; Self-subsistence, a most excellent Perfection, must be included in it. And truly had it not been so, according to all Reason that LIFE could never have existed; and then all things which now are, must have been nothing to Eternity, as has been faid.

Yet that the Second LIFE should be Begotten by the First; and the Third Breathed by those Imo; is as rational likewise. Not only because Scripture calls the First a Father, the Second His Son, and declares that the Third proceeds as a Spirit from Both: but because LIFE, we see, is every where propagative of it felf on Earth; and why then may it notbe the same in Heaven, in a sutable way?

And then that the Third PERSON should Proceed from the other Two, rather than be any way derived from the Second only, as He was from the First; there is good Rea-Son also: because so the Union of the Three becomes close and intimate amongst Them All, which otherwise it could not have been. For thus They are all knit together by Per-Sonal, as well as Effential Unity. Whereas had the HOLY GHOST proceeded from the FATHER only, there could have been no Connexion between HIM and the SON: and had He proceeded from the SON alone. there could have been no Conjunction between Him and the FATHER. But by His proceeding equally from Both, They are all mutually and ftrictly conjoined. And I may fafely fay, that here is so Divine a Fellowship, and such a Vital Consociation; as never was, nor ever shall be in the World befides: as being compatible to the DIVINITY folely.

there is great Reason for respective Subordination. For when the Second is begotten by the First; and the Third is Breathed by Them Both: and where Betting is imparted, as They that give it may justly claim Preference; so They that receive it are obliged to yield it.

ar

no R

O

T

th

W

th

T

co

ou

co

TI

th

ber

W

the

Di

to Re

COI

be

Hi

COL

He

amongst the Glorious Three; there can be nothing of Inequality; and for this High Reason. Because They are All infinite LIFES, and infinitely Perfect ones, and every one of Them GOD. But could any one of Them in his Nature be less than the other; that diminution would imply imperfection, which would inevitably sink him below the Rank of them DIVINE; and so undeify Him.

7ly. As the adorable PERSONS constitute the TRINITY, fo for very great Reason They must consist of LIFE. Even because there is nothing else in the DEITY, which could multiply it felf into PERSONS, withoutmultiplying the GODHEAD. For That consists only of a Spiritual Essence, and the Three LIFE'S or PERSONS in it. But should that one Essence multiply it self into three, to become fo many feveral PERSONS: there would presently be Three GODS, because there would be three Divine Essences really Distinct. And therefore there is (or at least to me at present there seems to be) as much Reason that the Glorious PERSONS should confift of LIFE, as there is that GOD should be Three in One, when He has fo proclaim'd Himself. Which yet did not the PERSONS confift of LIFE, it would be hard to fay how He could do fo. For what is there else in the DE-

ut

DEITY, which They might intelligibly be constituted of? I say intelligibly. TRINITY in UNITY being the chief Article in, as well as Object of the Christians Faith: how could the infinitely Good and Wife GOD have recommended it to our Be. lief, had it been a Mystery not to be under. stood? Yet as such a Mystery it all along was, so the same in likelihood it will continue to be; unless we allow the Bleffed PER. SONS to be LIFES. Tho' that that Article in our Religion which is most fundamental. and necessary to be believed, should be most obscure, and impossible to be explained; may well feem improbable to the prudent, and indeed incredible too. Could we be bound to affent to what we can't understand. the most nonsensical Doctrines might be Articles of Faith; and even Transubstantiation amongst other Points might commence Orthodox. Nothing therefore ought to be impos'd as necessary to be believ'd, but what in the main is competently intelligible. Tho' here we must bar the Modes of things, into which no humane Sagacity can penetrate. But where therefore are we oblig'd to Believe them till we understand them?

8ly. Farther yet; It is most Reasonable that the VITALITIES, or PERSONS in the GODHEAD should be but Three. For in those Three the Principle of Divine LIFE (the

fub-

ful

wa

cap

to caf

on

Fo

no

nit

wh

Fo

Spen

it v tio

lific

DE

was

tha

Din

mo

TR

one

be !

Me Hig

ded Orc

1 Per

be,

fing

sublimest, and noblest active Thing that ever was, or can be) is so far spent, as not to be capable of farther increase. So exhausted as to be unable to yield one LIFE more. In case it were not, it must in reason have gone on Multiplying still into a bigger Number. For where LIFE is Necessary as GOD's is, as nothing could hinder its existing from Eternity; so where it is Almighty, as His is too; what could bound or stop its Multiplicative Force? And therefore had not that been frent by Efflorescence into Three PERSONS: it would have proceeded to farther Fœtification. So that the true Reason why the prolifick Energy of the Vital Principle in the DEITY terminated in the Third PERSON: was its Being fo Emptied in raising the Three, that it could not yield a Fourth. As a Fourth Dimension can't be added to Quantity; no more can a Fourth LIFE be added to the TRINITY, of like Perfection. And as to one deficient, or short of the rest, it would be but a meer Nullity. For by reason of Meanness it could never come into their High Rank, but must stand Eternally excluded from their Sovereign, and most Sacred Order.

9ly. But the thefe Divine LIFES are all Perfect, and all Equal; yet as they ought to be, They are Rationally and sufficiently Diffinguish. For besides that the one is the First:

First; the other the Second; and the other the Third: They differ in Title, or Relation; and by their various Origins. Ift, in Title, or Relation. So the first is a FA. THER; the second, a SON; and the third. an HOLY GHOST. 2ly, in their different Origins. So the FATHER role by and from Himself; the SON, by Generation, from the FATHER; and the HOLY GHOST by Procession from the FATHER and the SON. And therefore the They are all of one Nature or Quality, namely LIFE; yet They are really and evidently distinguisht. So throly and manifestly Distinct, that the SON can no more be the FATHER; than He can beget Him, by whom He was begotten. And the HOLY GHOST can no more be the FA-THER, or the SON; than They both can Proceed from Him, who iffued from Them.

real PERSONS, we have Reason enough to conclude from their Personal Acts, both Inward, and Outward. From their Internal Acts performed in the GODHEAD, as Begetting the SON, and Breathing the HOLY GHOST. And from External ones done in the World, too many to be enumerated.

Tho' we are not to think that bare abstraded LIFE is, or can be a Divine PERSON. For LIFE alone is but a most excellent Power, and Principle in the DEITY; and never

fub-

1

C

do

di

tw

20 ye

all

13

we

the

may

LIF

the

LY

mak

tive.

Tho

very

nor

Yet ble to low PER

and

ING.

subfilts separately from, but is always actually in the Divine Effence, and is Personated. or becomes a PERSON by Conjunction with it. And as the First LIFE in Union with it constitutes the FATHER; so the Second does the SON; and the Third, the HOLY GHOST. Which still is very agreeable to Reason. For one LIFE does not so fill the divine Essence, as to render it incapable of two more. Tho' That may receive Them. and They may animate or quicken That, in very different ways; which Modes to us are all unknown.

0

0

n.

al

Y

in

ra-N.

per.

vet ubYet that there are Three LIFES in GOD. we have the more Reason to believe, because there are as many in every Man. And we may think it the less strange, that the first LIFE in the DEITY should be a FATHER; the second, a SON; and the third, an HO-LY GHOST when the first Life in Man makes him a Rational, the second, a Sensitive, and the third, a Vegetative Creature. Tho' why our Lifes are not Persons, there is very great Reason, they being not Divine, nor infinitely Perfect, as those above are. Yet the Lifes which are in us may be as futal ble to our mean Nature, and as equal to our low Capacity; as those Divine Living RERSONS in the DEITY, are congruous and adequate to that infinitely Perfect BE-ING.

S

Itily. In all Reason there must be vast Difference between the Vital TRINITY in UNITY; and the Modal one. For in that confilting of Modes, the Divine Effence is the Three PERSONS; and each of those PERSONS is that whole Essence. an unbeard of, and impossible Constitution, and fuch as destroys, necessarily destroys the very Being of a TRINITY. For to constitute That, there must be an Essence really distinct from the PERSONS; and the Three PER. SONS must be really distinct from one another. But where the Essence is those PER. SONS, and those PERSONS are that Effence; both the aforesaid needfull Distinctions are actually excluded, and a TRINITY as effectually put by, and utterly prevented. But then in the Vital TRINITY, tho' the LIFES be those PERSONS, and are in that Estence; yet they are as distinct from one another, as a Second LIFE begotten, can be distinct from the First which begat it : and as a Third LIFE which Proceeds from those Two, can be distinct from both Them from whom it iffu'd. And thus the Three distinct LIFES, in conjunction with the One Spirit, or Essence, (which they all actuate) do truly and rationally constitute a proper, and most perfect TRINITY in U-NITY De se son Rome et or ensuper ni.vill

But

di

th

lef

E

ev

the

wh

SO

wh

Th Th

PE

Th

F

PE

ditt

not

Age

the

a fei

SPIE

3 (a)

fona e

But this in the Modal one can never be done without bringing in Three GODS. For every of the PERSONS there being the whole Essence, admitting there are Three diffinct PERSONS, as there must be; there will be Three Divine Infinite Effences, and confequently as many GODS. And methinks a learned Writer feems to own little less, where he thus delivers himfelf. (4) Every PERSON is the whole Effence, and in every PERSON there is the whole Esfence of the DEITY .- And every PERSON is the whole and perfect GOD. Now if every PER-SON be the whole Essence of GOD, and the whole and perfect GOD; and there be Three PERSONS in the DEITY: if those Three be distinct (as they must be to be PERSONS) how can They be less than Three perfect GODS?

Besides; in the Modal TRINITY, the PERSONS are but nominal, titular, and siditions; whereas in the Vital one They are not only real Living, but infinitely Glorious Agents. And so the Vital is as different from the Modal TRIAD; as a natural can be from a seign d or artissicial One: or as an infinite SPIRIT in which are Three infinite Di-

it

C

d

fe

m

i-

ne

ua U-

But

⁽a) Qualibet Persona est tota Essentia, & in qualiber Persona est tota Deitaris Essentia. Persona qualiber est Deus totus & persectus. Polan. Syntag. Theo!. 1. 3. cap. 2.

wine LIFES, differs from as many empty Relative Titles given to that SPIRIT. And therefore as the Modal One is cloudy, oh. foure, and fo confus'd as to be inexplicable: the Vital One is Rational in all respects, and instead of being deeply Mysterious; is very intelligible, and easy to be understood, so far as 'tis necessary we should apprehend it. Tho' if we know not so fully as we would. how the Three LIFES are in GOD; that should not hinder our believing that they there exist; when we know better (as has been shew'd) how they exist in the DEITY. than how our own do in our felves. So that according to the Vital Hypothesis, the TRI-NITY can no longer be a profound Mystery; as indeed the most Learned Writers of it have ever accounted it. Nay, the truth is, by their painful Studies they made it fo; For while they labourd to clear it up, they did but darken it, and by endeavouring to explicate it, made it more obscure.

But then from these Speciminal Instances (to which more might be added;) all that have any intellectual Eye-fight, may fee the Reasonableness of this Dodrine of the Holy TRINITY, beyond the other and also the landable Congruity of that pypothefis whereon it is founded. By virtue of which, as the Milts of Ignorance which obscur'd the TRI-AD, are competently dispell'd; so the Intri-2011

cacies

cac

ple

its

wh

ger

an-

in lv

Eff

ani

the 37 bee

fall

true rab

mig adn

to g mac

fho

or

hav

to l

and

top

Glo

Thi

Iw

Grie

plex it, are fairly folved, or fet aside; and its native Beauties and adorable Glories which can't be comprehended, are more plainly discover'd. So that now it is no longer unsearchable and obscure; but rather an open bare-fac'd, all glorious Being, Three in One, without a Mystery. Three infinitely Perfect LIFES in One infinite Spiritual Essence. And as those LIFES spring up there, united to it, and respectively actuate it;

they are the Three PERSONS in it.

Now therefore let us cease to do, as it has been done: that is, to invent mean and false Notions, and then to fix them on the true GOD. To make meer Relations adorable PERSONS, and imaginary Modes, Almighty Powers; when at best they were but admir'd Nothings. Surely it is time, high time to grow wifer now. Should the Learned have made Angels, Men, or Children, to be Modes; should they have made Eagles, Elephants, or Whales to be Modes; nay, should they have made but Worms, and Flies, and Fleas to be Modes: that would have been wild and mad enough of conscience. But for the top, or flower of the Learned, to make the Glorious PERSONS in the GODHEAD but Three Modes; what shall I say to it? Truly I will only fay this with Seriousness and Grief. From hence let us every one learn, to beg earnestly of GOD to lead us into his heavenly Truth, and always to keep us in the same. If He does not, be our Learning never so great, we here see by sad Examples, how worully we may plunge into Error, and how very deep we may sink in it, and how long it may be before we rise out of it, if we ever do.

ê

C

The Summ of All.

Jelon't In the infinite and eternal Eslence of the GODHEAD there are Three Infinite Eternal LIFES. The First of which eternally aduates and illivens that Essence, and so becoming the First PERSON in it, as the FATHER there eternally Begat the SON. The Second, eternally actuates and illivens, that Effence, and fo becoming the Second PERSON in it, is the SON there Begotten of the FA-THER. The Third eternally actuates and illivens it, and so becoming the Third PER-SON is the HOLY GHOST there eternally Proceeding from those Two. So that in short, here is a true, clear, triperfonal TRINITY. And then these Three LIVING PERSONS being in that One Essence, and all actually illivening the fame; there is as true and clear an Effential UNITY. And if this be not a most Glorious TRINITY in UNITY, what is? And if it is not easy to be understood, what can be? 6 JU 62

200

Let

Scl

dro

OU

mi

En

ain

rab

I a

An

tio

bib

unt

N

Let me but add. I am inclinable to think, that these were the very Notions which the School Doctors, and others more learned drove at, and propos'd to themselves to find out; could they have hit upon them. But mistaking right measures they miss'd of their End, and fell short of the high Mark they aim'd at.

Now that important Doctrine of the Adorable TRIAD which they were at a loss for, I am almost willing to hope is found out. And as the First Part of my Essay was introdustive to it; and the Second Part explicative of it: this Exposition more plainly exhibits and consirms it. In case it be so, not unto us, O LORD, not unto us, but to Thy NAME give the GLORY.

FINIS.

S

t

or but a macriff bor is mit

Fer wellons, the Police Hong

BOOKS printed and sold by H. and G. Mortlock, at the Phanix in St. Paul's Church Yard.

A N Essay towards shewing the Reasona. bleness of the Doctrine of the Holy and Undivided Trinity; or at least the great Reasonableness of Believing it. In Two Parts. Being a Letter occasionally written by Erasmus Warren, Rector of Worlington in Suffolk, to his Son.

The Duty of absolute Submission to the Will of GOD. The Nature and Benefit of Afflictions. The General Uncertainty and Shortness of Humane Life; and the final Doom of impenitent Sinners; manifested in Four Discourses. Suitable to the present times, and recommended to Christians of all Perswasions. By Robert Warren, A. M. Rector of Charlton in Kent.

nd St.

oly eat wo ten

the of and inal fred fent f all